RAINEY STANDS FIRM AGAINST TAX INCREASES

Democratic Chiefs Fail to Agree on Program at Conference.

GARNER'S ATTITUDE MEETING OPPOSITION

Leaders Reach Accord Only on Beer in Planning for Roosevelt Parley.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Following a gathering of Democratic congressional chieftains at which no agreement was reached on the program they should advocate at their conference with President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, in New York tomorrow night, Representative Henry T. Rainey, Democratic floor leader in the House and prospective Speaker of the next House, last night repeated previous declarations against any move to increase the existing heavy burden of Federal taxation.

Although his formal public statement did not say so, it is known Mr. Rainey is not in agreement with other Democratic leaders who have fallen into line behind the drumming of those who preach immediate balancing of the Federal budget by whatever means are necessary, whether ruthless slashing of governmental activities or imposition of additional taxes on anything else which can be found to tax.

Failure of the Democratic leaders, who are to foregather with Mr. Roosevelt to discuss the general legislative situation, to agree on a detailed program was set forth in a formal statement given to newspaper reporters by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, party leader in the Senate.

Parley Agrees on Beer.

Those attending the conference, Senator Robinson said, had come to agreement on only one subject, the advisability of enacting the bill to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer. The beer bill already has been passed by the House and there has been much lip service about prompt action on it in the Senate, but it still is ensconced in the dry judiciary committee, despite protestation of dry senators that they want quick action.

The sales tax again came up for discussion in the conference of House and Senate Democratic leaders, but it was agreed that no effort should be made to commit those attending to a definite stand on the proposal. That, of course, means that the divergence of views was such that they could not be reconciled.

Speaker Garner is fighting for a program which shall, at least on the surface, balance the budget. Having committed himself to that program he is sticking to it, but he is finding himself confronted by the views of others who believe that it is not sound government to impose additional taxes in a period of depression merely for the sake of saying the Democrats balanced the budget this year. Those who disagee with the Speaker point out that thousands on thousands of homes and farms now are being sold because of inability of the owners to pay taxes and to impose additional taxes would not be sound economy in view of the ability of the Government to finance its operations through short term securities at the lowest interest rates.

Representative Rainey is not alone in his views on the subject. Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennes-

2-Gun Man Causes Capitol Hill Stir

Disappears After Entering Offices of 2 Members; Was Seeking Sale.

Efforts of an apparently intoxicated and shabbily dressed man to peddle a pistol yesterday caused a flurry of excitement in the House Office Building and started a search by local police for the weapon salesman.

Described as about 40 years old and mild mannered, the man entered the offices of both Representatives Andresen, of Minnesota, and Montague, of Virginia. Neither member was reported in when the man appeared, but attaches immediately summoned Capitol police after refusing his proffer.

Employes of both offices declared the man had one gun he was offering for sale and another in his pocket.

The man, obviously under the influence of liquor, was said to have had streaks of blood on his soiled collar.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Edward Maloney, 36, the doorman sought following the night club slaying of Larry Fay, walked up to a Greenwich Village traffic policeman tonight and surrendered.

Maloney was taken to the homicide bureau where high police officials, including Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, gathered quickly to question him.

Police said they had learned Maloney conferred with an attorney and

ADM. BYRD ANSWERS ATTACK IN CONGRESS

Says He Will Give Up Navy Status if Legion Asks Cut in Pensions.

Boston, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd tonight said he would give up his status in the Navy if the American Legion would favor before Congress the repeal of the law "which grants pensions to veterans of all wars who received no injury or disability from war service."

The statement was given in answer to criticism made in both the House and Senate at Washington today because the admiral was receiving $4,200 annual retirement pay from the Government while acting for the National Economy League, of which he is chairman.

The admiral's statement says:

"I have noted the headlines in the afternoon papers to the effect that Senator Robinson, of Indiana, has demanded on the floor of the Senate that I return my pension to the Government. First I want to make this clear. I do not now, nor have I at any other time, drawn a pension from the Government. I am of the regular naval establishment subject to the call of duty in an emergency.

"Let me also make this clear: The purpose of this National Economy League, which the senator attacks, is

Milwaukee Depot Is Looted of Mail

Seven Take Part in Armed Robbery; Total of Loss Not Yet Known.

Minneapolis, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—A mail robbery, in which seven men are believed to have participated, resulted in loss of three pouches of registered mail from the Milwaukee Railroad Depot here tonight. The value of the contents was not ascertained immediately.

The raid was accomplished with such rapidity and exact timing that few persons saw what happened. One man, armed with a sawed-off shotgun, was seen beside the office of the transfer clerk, George A. Lonquist, at the rear of the depot. The guard warned the few who saw him to get back, and a few moments later two automobiles, one carrying five men and the other one, sped away from the scene.

Depot employes discovered the door in the transfer clerk's office open, the glass window smashed. At the time of the robbery Lonquist was away from his office loading mail on an outgoing train.

Hoover Gives Press New Year Greetings

(Associated Press.)

Holding his first press conference at the White House in more than three and a half months, President Hoover yesterday wished newspaper correspondents a "Happy New Year," and added he believed they would have one.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that you will find plenty of news in the next 12 months, and that is the main object in your lives."

HOOVER SCORES CONGRESS FOES OF REGROUPING

Capitol Hill Goes On to Ban Bureau Mergers Despite Blast.

DEMOCRATS AWAIT ROOSEVELT'S REIGN

President Labels Delay Step Backward and Calls for "Hands Off."

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

A resolute blast from the White House in defense of Government regroupings proposed by the President yesterday failed to shake House and Senate Democrats in their determination to reserve for Franklin D. Roosevelt the privilege of reorganizing the Federal structure.

The President's statement, advising Congress it must keep "hands off" his proposals or give the incoming President more authority if there is to be any reorganization, was food for informal discussion at a lengthy caucus of Democratic leaders.

Afterward House Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns said he would continue to oppose the 58 Hoover bureau mergers and transfers until the President can point to specific economies and efficiencies from his plan.

Abolish Useless Bureaus.

Senator James F. Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, earlier laid before the Senate economy committee his amendment giving the incoming President broad powers not only to reorganize but to abolish useless bureaus.

Despite Mr. Hoover's opposition to "congressional veto" feature of the present law's provisions, Byrnes said he will insist on concurrent congressional approval of regroupings carried out under the Roosevelt authorization.

Meantime Representative John J. Cochran (Democrat), Missouri, went ahead with plans to block the Hoover reorganization proposals at a meeting of his House expenditures committee, probably tomorrow. Cochran will ask the committee to report out his resolution disapproving all of the Hoover regroupings.

Called Backward Step.

"My reason for desiring to nullify the executive orders," he said, "are: First, because a new President is about to assume control; second, because some of his suggestions are not sound and he has gone beyond the power vested in him; and, third, because he has not pointed out specifically where the economy will result, but merely a rearrangement of present activities."

Assailing as a "backward step" the movement to sidetrack the White House reorganization orders, President Hoover told newspapermen that the same opposition has defeated every effort at reorganization for the past 25 years. When and if reorganization

Mrs. Roosevelt to Pen Book Before March 4

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has been one of the most active women in the country since her husband was elected President, is going to write a 40,000-word book between now and the March inauguration.

Frederick A. Stokes Co., publishers, announced tonight that the title will be "It's Up to the Women;" that the subject matter "deals with the American woman of today, her position in the Nation and what she can do in a practical way to bring about better conditions;" and that "there will be no collaborator; every word will be written by Mrs. Roosevelt herself."

South Bend Bank Loses $12,000 to Holdup Trio

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The Western State Bank of South Bend was held up today by three men and robbed of between $12,000 and $15,000.

Henry Niemic, cashier, said two men entered the bank with drawn guns and forced him and Miss Irene Schlebowski, teller, to lie on the floor while they scooped up the money in the tills. The third man, apparently the lookout, entered the bank later, but the victims could not see him. A young man who entered the building during the holdup was slugged in the face with the butt of a gun.

Jobs List

"We Want All Coming to Us," Says Long as Senate Passes Resolution.

(Associated Press.)

A resolution which Senator Long (Democrat), Louisiana, said he hoped would "give some of our deserving Democrats a job" was passed yesterday by the Senate.

Offered by Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, it directed the Civil Service Commission to list for the Senate all positions not under civil service rules, together with the amount of their salaries.

Appointments to these posts, running into thousands, will be at the disposal of the incoming administration.

The resolution went through in a few moments and with no real opposition.

Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, asked McKellar "for what purpose" he proposed the resolution. The Tennessean started to reply by saying "there is going to be just a slight change in the administration next March 4," but Senator Long broke in and asked to answer the question.

"We want whatever jobs are coming to us," he told Vandenberg.

2 PARK POLICE SAW LELLI MURDER CAR

First Tangible Clew Found; Progress Being Made, Authorities Feel.

With a description of the murder car which carried Guilio Lelli's bullet-torn body to the lonely spot in North Chevy Chase, where it was found, as their first tangible clew, homicide squad detectives last night declared they were "making progress" toward solution of the case.

In addition to the description of the automobile, detectives also have a partial description of its occupants who were seen as they drove to and from the roadside spot, where the young Italian was dragged out and left.

This information came to authorities from two United States Park policemen, who curiously watched a car, which police now believe to be that used in transporting the slain man, early Sunday.

In fact, the park policemen believe they saw the dead man, for they observed that one of the five occupants had his face covered with a newspaper. This might have been done to cover the wound which Lelli had in his throat.

The park policemen were parked in a scout car on Beach drive near where it meets the East-West highway in Maryland about 4 a. m Sunday. They observed a large car parked near them and saw that one of five men in it had a paper around his head.

As they were about to investigate the car was driven away. They

FARM-AID PLAN WINS APPROVAL OF HOUSE BODY

Agriculture Group Is for Domestic Allotment Program.

SPECIAL RULE IS AIM FOR SPEEDING ACTION

Plan for Raising Prices May Be Broadened; Roosevelt Orders Fast Work.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

The House committee on agriculture voted 14 to 8 yesterday to report the domestic allotment plan of emergency farm relief and to press for immediate passage under a special rule limiting debate to eight hours.

As approved by the committee, the measure undertakes to restore the farm price of wheat, cotton, tobacco and hogs to their prewar exchange values, by means of a general processing tax to be collected by the Treasury Department at the first stage of manufacture.

This tax fund would be distributed, through the Department of Agriculture, among farmers who voluntarily accept drastic acreage reduction quotas, as determined in advance by the Secretary of Agriculture.

To Act on Rule Today.

Under arrangement perfected last night, the House rules committee will assemble at 10 o'clock this morning to act on a special rule giving the bill right of way on the floor this week.

Although debate will be limited under the plan approved by the Democratic leaders in the House, no attempt will be made to prevent amendments from the floor.

Half a dozen important amendments, principally those designed to bring other farm products under the provisions of the bill, have been promised by various members on the Democratic side. One will seek to make the plan applicable to rice, another to apply it to citrus fruits from California and Florida, a third to bring butter fat and all the basic dairy products under the proposed parity scheme.

Step in Roosevelt Plan.

The new project is generally accepted among Democratic members of the House as embodying the first step in the agricultural rehabilitation program of President-elect Roosevelt. Members of the agricultural committee said after yesterday's executive session that the measure had been whipped into shape rather hurriedly in response to "a rush order from Mr. Roosevelt."

Sponsors of the measure expressed the belief that House action on the measure might be completed by next Monday night, at the latest, and perhaps as early as Saturday this week.

Because the Democratic leadership decided to hasten action on the emergency farm program by every possible means, it was not possible to prepare the text of the committee's report for the House yesterday. The report is expected to be available this morning when the rules committee takes up the plan for special procedure on the floor.

The final committee draft of the measure follows closely the general

JAPAN ADMITS JEHOL IS GOAL; U. S. TO HOLD NONRECOGNITION VIEW

Stimson to Insist Agreements Be Respected.

OTHER ACTION IS NOT LIKELY

Views of Roosevelt Advance Hopes of Japanese.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The American policy of nonrecognition of territorial gains by conquest will be enforced as rigorously in the present Japanese military movement as it was during the Shanghai attack last year, it became known here officially yesterday. Secretary Stimson will insist that the various international agreements respecting territorial integrity be respected by the Japanese government.

The Hoover doctrine, which was first given to the world after the absorption by the Japanese military forces of Manchukuo last year may be invoked again to protect the territorial interests of the Chinese government.

However, it was admitted that the sudden blow for an enlarged Manchurian empire under Japanese domination had been shrewdly timed. The latest aggression by the Japanese military leaders seems to be headed for the acquisition of a territory extending far beyond the confines of Manchukuo, the Manchurian territory which at first seemed to be the boundary of their designs.

Extension of Power.

The present advance seems to be aimed at bringing all of inner and outer Mongolia, the ancient capital of China, Peiping, with its international settlement and the rich and populous Tientsin area under the domination of the puppet emperor of the new state, Henry Pu-Yi.

The presence of what is virtually an interregnum in the administration of the United States has very materially fostered the latest adventure of the Japanese. The unswerving attitude of Secretary Stimson in the face of the violations by the Japanese of the nine-power pact, the Kellogg-Briand pact and the Hoover doctrine would assure the prompt protestations of this Government in the face of such a Japanese gesture as the Shanhaikwan offensive. However, the days of the present administration are already numbered and the attitude of President-elect Roosevelt toward the Far East has been of some doubt. In fact, considerable optimism seems to be current in Japanese circles that the incoming administration will be inclined to deal with the Far Eastern problem in a more sympathetic light than has been displayed by the President or his Secretary of State.

Statement Is Recalled.

Japanese magazines and Far Eastern publications hailed the election of the Governor of New York as an augury of more cordial Japanese-American relations. An article which had been written by the President-elect when he was Assistant Secretary of the Navy was reproduced in several Far Eastern publications and great care was taken to refer the reader to the statement of the incoming President made at a time when he was a member of the Little Cabinet.

At that time Mr. Roosevelt expressed himself as scouting the idea that there would ever be war between the United States and Japan and went on to show the folly for both countries of such a conflict. The article also recognized the special in-Order Is Given by Tokyo to Localize Conflict.

MORE TROOPS OFF TO SCENE

Leaders See Danger of Friction With Foreign Units.

Tokyo, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—News that the battle of Shanhaikwan had ended in the complete rout of the Chinese was followed today by a government statement that the Japanese command in the field had been given orders to localize the conflict.

A Japanese war office spokesman said the Shanhaikwan clash was "in nowise connected with the intentions of the Japanese army ultimately to make Jehol unmistakably a part of Manchukuo." Jehol is the province between Manchuria and China proper.

War and foreign office officials agreed at a conference that instructions should be sent to Gens. Nobuyoshi Muto and Kotaro Nakamura to attempt to put an end to the fighting before it spread further.

Victory Is Complete.

From Japanese military headquarters at Tientsin the Rengo (Japanese) News Agency relayed a communique which said that the Shanhaikwan action ended at 2 p. m. today with complete victory for the land, sea and air forces of Japan.

The Chinese retreated in the direction of Lwanchow, 50 miles to the southwest, the dispatch reported, and they left many dead on the battlefield. Japanese losses were put at one lieutenant and one sergeant killed and many soldiers wounded.

At the conference of war and foreign office officials it was reported that representatives of both ministries agreed there was danger of friction with foreign troops stationed in the Shanhaikwan area in accordance with the Boxer protocol of 1901. These include some American units.

Truce Is Proposed.

A war office spokesman, announcing that orders to localize the conflict already had been dispatched, said that much depended on whether Chinese leaders "cooperate sincerely in the efforts to restore peace."

A truce already has been proposed, the spokesman continued, but the Japanese authorities are reinforcing their troops.

"It is not possible, therefore, to say definitely that the fighting will be localized or to predict where it is likely to spread," the spokesman said, "I can say, however, that the clash at Shanhaikwan was entirely unforeseen by our side and was in nowise connected with the intentions of the Japanese army ultimately to make Jehol unmistakably a part of Manchukuo."

Logical Jumping-Off Place.

(Jehol is a province lying between Manchuria and China proper. Shanhaikwan would be a logical jumping off place for the Japanese in the event of a campaign to conquer the province.)

The Japanese version of the origin of the conflict is that it was preceded by numerous skirmishes in the last few weeks on the southern border of Manchuria. Sunday night, the Japa-

COURT DISMISSES CHARGES OF DUKE

Accusation Against Letts, Rover and Orcutt Found Not Substantiated.

Finding that "there was nothing in the record of the case" to substantiate serious charges made by Attorney Jesse C. Duke against Justice F. D. Letts, of the District Supreme Court, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney Harold W. Orcutt, the District Court of Appeals yesterday dismissed Duke's charges in a brief two-paragraph memorandum.

Mr. Duke, who earlier in the day had failed to appear before the Appellate Court to point out specifically what portions of a disputed bill of exceptions were "false," was given until January 23 to file a typewritten brief in the criminal appeal which caused the controversy, and he was notified that arguments on the appeal would be heard February 6.

It was in the perfecting of this appeal, which involved the jailing of a score of convicted rum ring conspirators, that Mr. Duke engaged in a verbal tilt with Justice Letts, then with Mr. Rover, and finally with Capt. Orcutt. He charged they had sent to the Court of Appeals a false and deleted bill of exceptions.

The hearing in February will be on the appeal taken from the convictions in the District Supreme Court. The Court of Appeals has written that it expected to take "disciplinary action" in the event Mr. Duke is unable to prove the charges he placed against the trial justice and the two prosecuting attorneys.

Young Kidnaper Caught in Toledo

Shot and Captured After Chase as Policeman Defies Threat.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—A 20-year-old gunman attempted to abduct two men in downtown Toledo today, but was shot and captured by a patrolman after a dogged chase through heavy traffic. The youth, wounded slightly in the cheek and a hand, gave his name as Stanley Harding, of Minneapolis. Both of his intended victims defied his gun.

The gunman first leaped into the automobile of Henry G. King, 63, of near Toledo, who had parked on a downtown street, and ordered King toward the Cleveland road.

The man, disregarding the gun the youth flourished, shouted for help at the next intersection, where Patrolman Albert D. Carper was directing traffic. The gunman ordered Carper into the machine, but when the officer instead drew his revolver and fired, the youth jumped from the car. He was later captured.

Main Navy Battle Force To "Battle" Tomorrow

San Pedro, Calif., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The main battle strength of the American Navy was at sea off the southern California coast today for three days of secret tactical maneuvers. More than a hundred fighting surface craft were in the units that moved from San Pedro and San Diego bases early today.

The first major problem of the year will be worked out Thursday when the battle fleet and the scouting fleet, each with the screening smoke-belching destroyer and squadrons of aircraft, will engage in a simulated naval battle. The problem will be an attack by the scouting fleet on a fleet of supply ships convoyed by the dreadnaughts.

Halloran Seeks to Void 'Trunk Murders' Charge

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—John H. Halloran, wealthy lumberman, asked the Superior Court today to free him of the charge of being an accessory in the Phoenix "trunk murders" for which Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd is condemned to be hanged February 17.

A continuance until tomorrow on Halloran's motion to quash the indictment against him was granted by Judge Howard at the request of Renz L. Jennings, newly elected county attorney.

Two Arkansas Gunmen Rob Bank of $2,000

Borah Aims to Cut Power Of Dollar as Economic Aid

Tells of Intention in Course of Senate Debate; Feels Plan Would Greatly Help Farmer; Some Believe Inflation Is Near.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Borah is preparing a bill to make the dollar buy less and by its enactment he hopes to help the farmers and improve economic conditions generally.

The Idaho senator's intention was made known yesterday in a brief flurry of debate in which he found he had the backing of several colleagues as the result of a growing demand for currency legislation.

"Thirty-two nations have gone off the gold standard and we are still on it," Borah said. "That has practically destroyed the hope of our farmers to get a real price for their products. How are your going to remedy that until you remedy the money situation?"

Agreeing with Borah that it was a problem which should be settled, Senator Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, replied:

"I want to reduce the purchasing power of the dollar and increase the purchasing power of other nations. My view is that the best way to do that is to increase the value of silver."

Senator Logan (Democrat), Kentucky, interjected that a "sane and sensible" solution of the money question would lead to a settlement of the wheat and cotton problems.

"We need leadership on this money question," Bankhead replied. "If we can get the leadership of the Senate interested in the question I will stay here until the late hours of the night to consider it.

"I recognize the money problem as the paramount question facing the country and the world. I want to see some action here."

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, asserted that the United States must "either go off the gold standard or remonetize silver. Yet we here are afraid to take a position on it."

Borah is sounding out the sentiment of the Senate on his proposal

CHINA TO PROTEST ATTACK TO LEAGUE

Chang Has Been Mobilizing Troops Since Nov. 20, Japanese Say.

Nanking, China, Jan. 3 (U.P.).—The Nationalist government today sent a cablegram to the Chinese delegations at Geneva instructing the delegates to file a formal protest of the Shanhaikwan affair with the League of Nations.

Geneva, Jan. 3 (U.P.).—The Japanese delegation today informed the League of Nations that during the last few days Marshal Chang Hsiao-liang has been mobilizing his troops in the direction of Jehol and that since November 20 he has been constructing trenches between Jehol and Shanhaikwan, scene of the present operations.

The Japanese note does not mention the Shanhaikwan fighting.

Meanwhile, the Chinese delegation, under W. W. Yen, hurriedly prepared a communication charging the Japanese intend to take over the Province of Jehol in the present campaign.

London, Jan. 3 (U.P.).—Quo Tai-Chi, Chinese statesman, who has been active in League of Nations circles, issued a statement today attacking the inactivity of the league in the Sino-Japanese dispute over Manchuria. China, he said, may be forced to change her policy unless the league acts.

"China's faith," he declared, "in the efficacy of the league covenant and the Kellogg pact is fast approaching the vanishing point where a showdown must come. A decision must be reached by the nations whether to maintain or repudiate the system of collective responsibility in the maintenance of peace.

"Our patience has been strained to the breaking point. We will continue to help the league and to help ourselves, but unless reasonable progress is made, we may be forced to review our position in relation to other nations and reorientate our policy in accordance therewith."

Shanghai, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Dr. T. V. Soong, finance minister of the Chinese government, declared today that Japan's attack on Shanhaikwan was "only another step in the carefully laid plans of Japanese militarists" to invade Mongolia and north China.

The finance minister made this statement after he had conferred with Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, chairman of the Nationalist government military affairs commission. Gen. Chiang refused to divulge what took place at the conference. He indicated he was returning to Nanking, the capital, immediately.

Winnipeg's Parochial Schools Will Reopen

Winnipeg, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Catholic parochial schools in Winnipeg, attended by 2,500 pupils, will remain open for the present at least, it was announced today by the Rev. R. A. Neary, secretary to Archbishop Sinnott. Classes will be resumed Wednesday.

This decision was announced following receipt by the archbishop of petitions bearing thousands of names urging that the ten schools be kept open, promising on behalf of the signatories to make any sacrifice to that end. It had been decided previously to close the schools owing to the heavy financial burden, and the Winnipeg school board preparing to absorb Catholic pupils into the public schools.

that the lawyer advised Maloney to surrender before he was captured.

It was an argument between Maloney and the night club boss over $40 pay cut, police said, that led to the slaying New Year's night. Four of five slugs from a pistol took effect and Fay died immediately while a score of startled diners swarmed into the restaurant foyer, where the shooting took place. Maloney, a former State trooper and prohibition agent, had been the object of an extensive hunt since then.

Meanwhile a grand jury today heard the testimony of seven witnesses in connection with the killing and its findings were expected to be handed up in court tomorrow.

P. Francis Marro, assistant district attorney, had said he would seek a murder indictment against Maloney, whom he described as a war veteran who had been shell-shocked.

Witnesses who testified today were reported to have told police the night of the shooting that Maloney apparently had been drinking when he entered the restaurant, the Casa Blanca, to discuss his pay with Fay.

BORAH PLANS BILL ON MONEY QUESTION

with a view to offering it as an amendment to the Glass bank reform bill, which come up tomorrow, if there is sufficient support. He declined to reveal the terms of his bill.

Party leaders in the Senate refused yesterday to discuss the currency question for publication, but many of them have indicated privately within the past few days a belief that something along the line of inflation is on the way.

One of the most astute observers in the Senate made the prediction privately yesterday that if it does not come at this session it will at the next.

Some of the more conservative members, recognizing the growing demand, are preparing to meet it with all the strength at their command, fearing the result of what they call "tinkering with the currency."

Borah has taken the view that unless the currency problem is met at the World Economic Conference, it must be tackled by the United States alone. He holds no hope for solution of the situation at the conference and so is prepared to go ahead with legislation in Congress.

Last session the Senate turned back the currency inflation proposal which the House incorporated in the cash bonus bill, but late in the session approved a limited expansion measure by Borah as a rider to another bill.

JAPAN ADMITS THAT JEHOL IS GOAL; MORE TROOPS SENT

nese said, two bombs were found in a Japanese sentry box, and thereupon troops in Shanhaikwan suburb were dispatched to the city to protect Japanese nationals. Battle ensued.

Press dispatches said the fighting in the coastal district south and west of Shanhaikwan was severe, with the Japanese destroyers Fuyo and Agaosa, as well as numerous army airplanes, participating.

The war office spokesman, however, said official reports indicated that only the Ninth Brigade of Chinese troops and five companies of Japanese were involved in the action.

Occupation Conceded.

Peiping, China, Wednesday, Jan. 4 (U.P.).—With an entire Chinese battalion of 500 men annihilated in street fighting last night, Chinese officials early today conceded Japanese occupation of Shanhaikwan, strategically important border town, is complete.

An official communique told of the heavy Chinese casualties and of three terrific Japanese assaults against the ancient walled city, where fighting had been in progress since Sunday night. The attacks were preceded, the announcement said, by an intense aerial and artillery bombardment.

The forces of Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang are reforming their lines at Shiho in an effort to resist any further Japanese advance, it was said.

Shanhaikwan, a city of approximately 80,000 population, was described as "a smoking ruin" as a result of the heavy Japanese attack.

Numerous buildings are burning within the city's walls, the communique said, and civilian casualties, as a result of the intensive bombardment, have been extremely heavy.

Fearing outbursts of popular indignation especially in Peiping and Tientsin, nearest large cities, police have been ordered to take the utmost precautions.

Japanese occupation of the entire city came after Chinese officials here had received advices that a furious assault yesterday afternoon had been repulsed and that Chinese troops were still in possession of the city. These earlier reports said that more than 100 Chinese had been killed and upward of 500 wounded.

Part of Wall Destroyed.

Japanese field pieces destroyed a portion of the city's southwest wall and Japanese infantry attempted to storm through the breach, the radiogram said. The defending forces, using machine guns, succeeded in stopping the charge and driving the invading force away from the walls.

In some quarters here it was said Japan has no intention, as reported, of driving toward Tientsin and Peiping, with the purpose of wresting control of North China from the young Marshal Chang. Instead, it was said, the Japanese intend to seize Shanhaikwan for the purpose of protecting their forces in a projected campaign for seizure of Jehol.

Streams of refugees were arriving in Peiping and other North China cities today. The Shanhaikwan operations having driven many residents of the trouble zone into panic.

The Japanese consul-general at Tientsin has dispatched 27 consular police to escort Japanese civilians from the danger zone.

terests which Japan might claim in territories adjacent to her shores for reasons of economic and political stability. Such arguments have undoubtedly played a large part in the minds of the Japanese military caste in deciding to make the Manchurian adventure a success at this time.

Different Attitude.

While the Hoover doctrine received prompt support from the legislative leaders in the Senate at the time of its promulgation, there has subsequently come a veering to a slightly different attitude, particularly from several influential Democratic leaders. These leaders, who decline to bring their opinions out in the open until the new President had first sounded the key note, seem to regard the Hoover doctrine as an unnecessary gesture that invites foreign difficulties and further complications. Such an attitude can readily be built up to an official attitude of laissez-faire in the face of the latest Japanese aggression.

The Secretary of State, in view of the declining days of his office, may very well decide to do nothing further about the Manchurian aggression of Japan, in which case there will be additional strength given to the aims of the war lords who are anxious to take over all of Manchuria. As late as October 11 an official spokesman of the Japanese government, Hirosi Saito, charge d'affaires at the embassy here while the ambassador was in Tokyo, gave his interpretation of the delimitations of Manchukuo before Columbia University School of Journalism.

Covers Four Provinces.

He said at that time:

"The territory of the new State of Manchuria, or Manchukuo, which means the "State of Manchuria," covers the four provinces of Fengtien, Kirin, Amur and Jehol. This is a territory of some 400,000 square miles, a little more than twice the size of California."

There are other reasons of tactical expediency which have probably been in the minds of the Japanese general staff. The winter season will enable them to bring up all their motorized military equipment to completely clear up all the territory that lies between the boundaries of the new puppet state and even beyond. During the Shanghai offensive, the Japanese military forces were put at a disadvantage by the Nineteenth Route Army on account of the impracticability of the Chinese mud road for hauling heavily artillery. With the roads in Manchuria frozen over for the next two or three months, the chances of a drastic military sweep to bring the entire territory under Japanese influence seems imminent.

to cut all wasteful governmental costs, local, State and Federal.

"Now I want to submit a proposition to Senator Robinson in answer to his demand that I return my pay to the Government. I will give up my status in the Navy and all that goes with it if the American Legion, which the senator represents, will favor before Congress the repeal of that dangerous, costly law which grants pensions to veterans of all our wars who received no injury or disability from war service."

(Associated Press.)

Because Rear Admiral Byrd draws $4,200 annual retirement pay from the Government and at the same time is associated with the National Economy League, which is working for a big reduction in payments to veterans, the famed aerial explorer received some stern criticism yesterday in both House and Senate.

Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, outspoken foe of decreasing the $1,000,000,000 annual bill for veterans' relief, asserted that "to be entirely sincere" the aviator should return his annuity to the Treasury.

In the House Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, assailed Byrd and the economy league, and Representative Kvale (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, also took a shot at the league, which he called a group "working selfishly" in the interests of lowered taxes on big taxpayers.

Defenders were prompt to arise in each branch, Senator Swanson (Democrat), Virginia, of Byrd's home State, telling his colleagues that the explorer's "whole career has been unselfishly, patriotically and indomitably devoted to his country since he entered the Naval Academy in 1908."

Economies Urged.

Representative Hooper (Republican), Michigan, said he did not see why the Economy League should be singled out for criticism because of its recommendations to a joint congressional committee on veterans' legislation that relief costs be cut $450,000,000.

This group resumed hearings yesterday, receiving from the national committee for economy in Government, an organization sponsored by National Association of Manufacturers and representing 80 business organizations, suggestions for curtailments aggregating $411,766,000 annually.

James A. Emery, counsel, and H. A. Giddings, chairman of the group, outlined their stand as against continuation of benefits to soldiers in the World War and Spanish-American War whose ailments and disabilities were not traceable to service duty.

This is the substance of the Economy League's stand, but the two organizations are in no way connected.

Backed by Taxpayers Union.

The Taxpayers Union, through Demarest Lloyd, executive secretary, told the joint committee that organization supported these recommendations "in principle."

Shortly after the hearing was adjourned, Senator Swanson took the floor in the Senate to defend Byrd, who previously had been assailed in statements by members of Congress and others for his work with the Economy League.

Swanson, who remarked he had "known Dick Byrd since he was a boy," added that while "engaged in line of duty aboard a ship," he sustained a foot injury, "as a result of which he must go through life with a nail holding his ankle together."

"To his great disappointment, he was retired," Swanson said, although then a junior lieutenant.

Record Is Described.

Subsequently and at his suggestion, Swanson said, Byrd went into naval aviation, flew over the North and South Poles after a sterling service record, and that he personally felt that Byrd is entitled "to have his own views in regard to the economy program."

Robinson said he thought Byrd's activity with the league while drawing retirement pay was "thoroughly inconsistent."

Patman, in the House, said the league "is an outlaw organization which doesn't comply with the law." He contended it did not report its expenditures to Congress and said, "When we start cutting down on veterans' expenditures we ought to start with Pershing (Gen. John J. Pershing) and Byrd." He told the House Pershing drew $21,000 annual retirement pay.

President Hoover yesterday signed a resolution extending the life of the joint congressional committee investigating veterans' legislation from January 1 to March 3.

The committee was supposed to pass out of existence January 1, but Congress authorized the extension to permit further study. Its report is to be made available to the new Congress.

Legion Post Upholds Attack on Adm. Byrd

Approving the stand of Senator Arthur Robinson (Republican), of Indiana, the Vincent B. Costello Post, No. 15, of the American Legion, last night questioned the sincerity of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and other members of the National Economy League, and demanded their financial remuneration from the Government be returned to American taxpayers.

After a discussion, the post decided to ask these men to express publicly their position on the league's alleged effort to destroy Federal benefits applied to the veterans. All of these leaders, the post said, are recipients of large Government pensions.

Italy Backs Glider Flying.

Rome, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—A national organization to promote glider flying, with headquarters in each of the 90-odd provinces in Italy, has been formed by an agreement between the Young Fascists of Combat and the Royal Aero Club. The Young Fascists are those between the ages of 18 and 21. The air ministry is backing the movement.

HURRICANE SQUALLS LASH BIG STEAMERS

World's Largest Liners Are Far Behind Schedules on North Atlantic.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Some of the world's largest and most powerful ships were caught today in a howling westerly gale in the north Atlantic and were delayed as much as two days.

In addition to the transatlantic liners on their regular runs, several vessels on special New Year's cruises failed to arrive on schedule. The captain of the Mauretania, J. C. Townley, breathed a sigh when his ship docked and said they had passed through "every experience but an earthquake."

It was a phenomenon he had never observed before, Capt. Townley said, when the wind jumped sixteen points, shifting from south-southeast, to north-northwest, and "shooting up as if it had come out of a great gun."

Hurricane Squalls and Snow.

The ship's log noted "high seas, gales, hurricane squalls, fierce squalls, heavy head seas and snow flurries."

The Leviathan, somewhat east of midocean, reported by radio that her normal speed of 23 knots had been cut to 4. Due tomorrow, the Leviathan's commander expected to be in early Friday instead.

The Bremen was having similar difficulties. Due to dock this morning, she reported that Thursday morning would be a probable arriving time.

Freak Calm Is Noted.

The American Banker, due yesterday, was not expected until tomorrow afternoon. The Duchess of Bedford, due tomorrow, was trying to come in only a day late.

The cruise ships which took holiday celebrants into southern waters and were due back this morning were several hours late. Among them were the Rex and the Degrasse, taken off their regular runs for the cruises.

An unusual feature of the passage as reported by the Mauretania was the calm which came at 4 p. m. on New Year's Eve and lasted until 3 a. m. New Year's Day, a break in the storm which the passengers said was highly appreciated by those who wanted to celebrate.

watched it cross the East-West highway and disappear up Jones Mill road. In a few minutes it reappeared and was driven toward Sixteenth street on the East-West highway.

The park officers were suspicious of the car and its occupants but hesitated in attempting to halt it and question the occupants because they were in Montgomery County and consequently beyond the limits of their jurisdiction, Rock Creek Park.

Time Definitely Checks.

The time the car was seen checks definitely with the time the body was found and length of time physicians estimated Lelli had been dead before he was found.

Believing the car was that used by the slayers in disposing of the body, it was pointed out that apparently the murderers had driven in Rock Creek Park and out Beach Drive looking for a likely spot to drag it out.

It would be only logical that they should drive out Jones Mill road, police declared, because it runs north from the East-West highway at the point where Beach Drive intersects.

Four Men Are Held.

Police last night held four men for investigation in connection with the murder, but admitted they had not yet established definitely the motive for the killing.

Two of the men held and questioned were those who Monday night went to Rockville, Md., and identified the body of their friend. They are Alfred Mori, 25, of Seat Pleasant, Md., and Philip Adams, 42, of 809 Fourteenth street northwest.

Authorities cling to the theory that Lelli was killed because of some shortcoming in connection with a gaming or bootlegging deal, although they can cite no evidence to support their idea.

The other two under arrest are Agitino Restifo, 35, of 2014 P street northwest, and Robert Edward Delay, 35, of 1335 Tenth street northwest.

These two men and Mori are engaged in a retail coal and ice business at 1332 Tenth street northwest, police said. They also do a business in bottling supplies, it was learned.

The name Restifo appears in the police file in connection with bootlegging activities, according to Sergt. George M. Little, of the headquarters liquor squad. The arrest on charges of transportation and possession of liquor took place five years ago, however.

Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, chief of detectives, said last night he was investigating the crime as thoroughly as if he knew that Lelli, whose body was found in North Chevy Chase, Md., was killed in Washington.

At the inquest held yesterday afternoon at Rockville courthouse, a verdict that Lelli died as the result of gunshot wounds at the hands of some unknown person or persons was returned.

The body is still at the undertaking parlors of Warner E. Pumphrey. When Mori identified it, he said he would see to burial. It will be turned over to Mori, States Attorney Stedman A. Prescott said.

Oil-Burning Plane Is Success.

London, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—An oil-burning water-cooled airplane engine, the first British produced motor of this type suitable for aircraft use, has passed a 50-hour air ministry test preliminary to being flown in a torpedo bomber. The motor has 12 cylinders arranged in two banks of six each, and develops 500 horsepower. With starter and accessories it weighs 1,504 pounds.

Brazil Flour Ban Ends Soon.

Rio de Janeiro, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Brazil's 18-month ban on flour imports, established in connection with the Brazilian-American coffee-wheat trade last year, expires at the end of February. Brazilian millers hope to see the prohibition renewed, but the government as yet has given no indication of its plans. Both America and Argentina normally have good flour markets in Brazil.

Marines Going Gratifies Press.

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 3 (A.P.). Today's newspapers expressed gratification at the departure of the United States Marines and there was a feeling of optimism as to the future of the country without their presence. The last detachment of Marines had already embarked for the United States.

Key City of Shanhaikwan Important Site in History

Once Formed First Line of Chinese Defense Against Manchus; Has 80,000 Population and Boasts of Few Native Industries.

Shanhaikwan, captured by Japanese troops, is one of the key cities of the Far East. Situated on a narrow coastal plain where the only "water level" trade route between China and Manchuria pierces the Great Wall of China, Shanhaikwan for centuries has been a place of strategic importance far out of proportion to its 80,000 population and few native industries, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"At Shanhaikwan the Great Wall of China drops down from the mountainous borderland between China proper and Manchuria, and after a short run across the coastal plain tumbles into the sea, or, rather, the Gulf of Liaotung. Here is the best preserved section of the Great Wall, and its celebrated eastern gate, called 'Under Heaven Number One Gate,' or 'The First Gate of the World.'

"Once Shanhaikwan and its part of the Great Wall formed part of the first line of Chinese defense against the natives of Manchuria, the Manchus. For more than 30 years the Manchus were kept at bay in this region. Finally, on May 26, 1644, aided by a furious sandstorm, the forces of the Manchu leader, Wu San Kusi, managed to overcome a vastly superior Chinese army and sealed the Great Wall, pouring into China to become masters of that country until the republic was established in 1912. Shanhaikwan was occupied by allied troops during the Boxer rebellion in 1900. Here the allied forces landed.

"The City of Shanhaikwan, whose name means 'Between Mountain and Sea' (it lies 3 miles from the mountains and an equal distance from the sea), is roughly divided into three parts—the old walled city, surrounded by 3 miles of fortifications 40 feet high; a walled quarter east of the city proper and outside the west gate of the city proper.

"Shanhaikwan owes most of its present importance to the railroad line between Tientsin and Mukden which cuts through the Great Wall at this point. This is the only rail link between China proper and Manchuria, and, with the Chinese Eastern and Trans-Siberian railways, it forms part of a continuous transcontinental line to Europe in normal times.

"The Tientsin-Mukden line was built more than a third of a century ago. Popular sentiment in China at that time would not have permitted a breach in the Great Wall for the line and it would have ended at Shanhaikwan had not a special opening in the wall been at hand. A Chinese princess seeking the body of her husband, who had been killed in the defense of the wall and buried in it, tore down a part of the great structure. Through the gap thus made the railroad was run.

"Few foreigners live in Shanhaikwan, but there are a number of fair hotels and Chinese inns, in addition to the railroad yards and places for the outfitting of caravans to the interior. Shanhaikwan is the nearest city of importance to the Province of Jehol, formerly a part of Inner Mongolia, which is disputed by both Chinese and Japanese forces.

"The chief fortification at Shanhaikwan, known as Shanhaikwan Castle, was built in 1639, under the Ming dynasty. Its stout stone walls would be no match today for artillery or airplane bombs, but once it served as a secure retreat for Manchu rulers, en route from Peiping to ancestral shrines in Mukden, or to hunting preserves along the Sungari River in Manchuria.

"Near Shanhaikwan is a good bathing beach which is one of the summer holiday places of North China residents."

Southern Rivers Near Levee Tops

Two Mississippi Towns Are Under Water; Relief Is in Sight.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The menace of rising Mississippi tributary streams hangs over large sections of the mid-South, but United States engineers say they have the situation in hand.

Water crept into the business sections of two Mississippi towns today, but at Kennett, Mo., where levee breaks have threatened, an air of confidence prevailed. The engineers' office announced late today that the St. Francis River was falling at Fisk, Mo., about 100 miles above Kennett, and should become stationary tomorrow.

The St. Francis lapped at the tops of the levees above and below Kennett, but the engineers say their 100 workmen likely will be able to hold the dikes. Forty thousand sandbags are available to strengthen weak spots.

U. S. Judge in Louisiana Delays I'm Alone Case

Opelousas, La., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Judge Ben C. Dawkins in Federal district court late today ordered continued until May 1 the trial of Dan Hogan, of New York, and a small group of defendants on charges of conspiracy to violate the national tariff and prohibition acts in connection with the schooner I'm Alone case.

The continuance was granted upon the plea of Hogan, alleged ring leader, who was brought here from the Atlanta Penitentiary and who said he has had insufficient time to prepare his defense while incarcerated in Atlanta.

Dakotans Choose Woman Speaker

Banker's Wife Selected in Bismarck as Precedent Is Set by House.

Bismarck, N. Dak., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—A small town banker's wife, interested in music and flowers as well as politics, became the first women speaker of the State House of Representatives today. Mrs. Minnie D. Craig, of Esmond, prominent in State Republican circles and a member of the Legislature ten years, was elected presiding officer as the lawmakers began their biennial session.

Friends of the middle-aged woman given a unanimous ballot after a male Democratic rival received scattered votes, looked about to see whether they might claim for her the honor of being the first or only one of her sex in the Nation to hold such an office.

She was national Republican committeewoman for the State in 1928-32 and in 1928 directed her party's campaign among North Dakota women. At Esmond, a community of 300 persons, her husband left his bank today to come here and see her sworn into office. They have lived at Esmond since their wedding 25 years ago. MERCHANT MARINE'S DEFENSE DUE TODAY

High U. S. Officials Ready to Answer Foreign Attacks on Shipping.

Warm response to the recent hostility by foreign countries against the United States Merchant Marine is expected to be made today at the opening of the sixth national Merchant Marine Conference at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Propaganda is said to have been directed against the United States Merchant Marine because of its increase in business of from less than 10 per cent to nearly 40 per cent in the past ten years.

The issue came into the open recently through a sharp exchange on the subject of ship subsidies between Sir Alan Henderson, British shipping magnate and chairman of the Orient Line, and Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the United States Shipping Board.

Speakers at today's session are expected to give vigorous debate to the subject. They will include Secretary of Commerce Roy D. Chapin, Senator Wallace White, of Maine, coauthor of the Jones-White act, under which the American merchant marine is being developed; Assistant Postmaster General Irving W. Glover, who will speak on mail contracts, one of the factors attacked by Sir Alan.

Homer L. Ferguson, of Newport News, will speak on shipbuilding. Attitude of Congress toward the merchant marine will be discussed by Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, and Representatives Will R. Wood, of Indiana, and S. O. Bland, of Virginia. The legislative situation will be presented by J. Caldwell Jenkins, chairman of the committee on shipping information of the American Steamship Owners Association.

The interest of industry in an adequate merchant marine will be explained by James A. Emery, president of the National Manufacturers Association. Financial phases of the subject will be discussed by Fred L. Kent, vice president of the Bankers' Trust Co., of New York.

Interests of the Middle West will be discussed by Cleveland A. Newton, general counsel of the Mississippi Valley Association, and Malcolm M. Stewart, chairman of the Middle West foreign trade committee. The importance of a strong merchant marine to the Army and Navy will be stressed by Admiral Samuel W. Bryant, U. S. N., and Gen. Pershing.

G. O. P. HEADS PLAN PAYMENT OF DEFICIT

$200,000 Debt Fund to Be Raised; Drive Mapped for Elections.

(Associated Press.)

Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, said in an interview yesterday that, in preparation for a vigorous campaign in the congressional elections two years hence, a group is laying plans to pay off the party's $200,000 deficit as soon as possible.

The program for a political comeback after the overwhelming defeat last November also calls for continuance of Mr. Sanders as chairman, and for maintenance of publicity headquarters in Washington, he said.

The situation was discussed at a recent conference here called by Mr. Sanders primarily to decide upon a program for retiring the deficit. No decision was reached, but the participants agreed to do whatever they could toward raising funds.

Those attending the conference included, in addition to Mr. Sanders, Secretary Mills, Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the national committee; Jeremiah Millbank, Eastern treasurer; Secretary Hurley, Postmaster General Brown and Michael Gallagher, of Cleveland.

They were among those most active in conducting the campaign of President Hoover. The Republicans spent approximately $2,000,000.

While the personnel at publicity headquarters may be somewhat reduced, it is planned to retain a sufficient force to present the Republican views to the country. No decision has been made as yet as to who will be employed. Robert H. Lucas already has resigned, however, as executive director of the national committee.

see, another of the party leaders of the House who has been summoned to the Roosevelt conference, has similarly expressed himself. Mr. Bryns is one of the powerful candidates for Speaker of the next House and is chairman of the appropriations committee.

Whether he is elected Speaker or not, he undoubtedly will be a member of the steering committee which will be formed in the next House to guide the party's legislative program, and his views are considered as of even greater importance, so far as the next House is concirned, than those of Speaker Garner, who leaves the powerful job of Speaker to innocuously preside over the Senate when the next Congress convenes in its expected extra session.

Leaders at Conference.

Asked whether the financial program of his party was contemplated for this session or the expected extra session, Senator Robinson said that no attempt was made at the conference to bind leaders attending to putting through a new revenue measure at this session, aside, of course, from the beer bill.

Those who attended the conference, in addition to Senator Robinson, in whose office it was held, included Senators Harrison, of Mississippi, ranking Democrat on the finance committee and who will be chairman of the committee next Congress; Cordell Hull, of Tennessee; Key Pittman, of Nevada, member of the interstate commerce and foreign relations committees; James Byrnes, of South Carolina, a member of the appropriations committee and commonly reputed to be one of those especially close to the President-elect; Speaker Garner and Representatives Rainey, Byrns, James A. Collier, of Mississippi, chairman of the ways and means committee; John McDuffie, of Alabama, party whip, and Sam Rayburn, of Texas, chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

STIMSON TO RETURN TO PRACTICE OF LAW

Junior Member, Assistant to Secretary, Already Has Reentered Firm.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson will return to the practise of law in his old law firm in New York City after March 4, it became known here yesterday. Col. Stimson was a distinguished corporation counsel before he entered the service of the Government as Governor General of the Philippines.

The name of his law firm was Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts. Soon after he became first member of the Cabinet, his old associates asked him to allow them to continue to include him among the other members of the firm and he granted them this permission.

The junior member of the Stimson firm, Allen T. Klots, was appointed as special assistant to the Secretary. However, yesterday the tenure of office of Mr. Klots expired and he returned to New York, where he will continue his work with the same firm. On his leaving, Secretary Stimson said:

"Mr. Klots has filled the position of Special Assistant to the Secretary of State with the most distinguished success. He has been of the greatest possible help to me and I have reason to believe he has been to the rest of the department. He has acted as the man who helped out the Secretary, multiplying his powers and contacts and in doing that, I can only say he did what I expected of him, because I knew him before. I realize that Mr. Klots came to Washington at quite a sacrifice and I am grateful to him for having done so."

Economy Proposal Nears Committee

Appropriations Group Due to Get Plan Today or Tomorrow.

The full Senate appropriations committee will be called together either late today or tomorrow for consideration of the economy rider to the Treasury-Postoffice appropriations bill, Senator Hale (Republican), Maine, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, announced last night.

Chairman Hiram Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, informed him the economy committee may complete its task by noon today, unless other complications arise. This afternoon the Treasury-Postoffice subcommittee, under Senator Oddie (Republican), Nevada, will meet to mark up its bill.

Hale said the first meeting of the full appropriations committee is contingent on completion of the work of these two groups. What the Senate economy committee will recommend in the way of pay provisions for Government employes has been kept strictly secret, but reports continue that a small additional pay cut over and above the 8 1-3 per cent furlough provisions will be included.

The Langley Field detachment was composed of 29 planes of the second bombardment wing, in command of Maj. Herbert A. Dargue, and 37 pursuit planes commanded by Maj. B. P. Jones.

Senate Bill Seeks Cemetery Removal

Remains at Balls Bluff, Va., Would Be Transferred to Arlington.

(Associated Press.)

Authorization for the War Department to discontinue the National Cemetery at Balls Bluff, Va., and remove the remains of those buried there was asked yesterday in a bill introduced for the department by Chairman Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, of the Senate military affairs committee.

A letter from Secretary Hurley to Reed said the cemetery had received no bodies since its establishment shortly after the Civil War. Situated 2½ miles from Leesburg, it contains the remains of 1 known and 53 unknown soldiers.

Hurley said the cemetery had cost the Government $5,045 in the last ten years and that the remains could be moved to the Arlington National Cemetery. This, he said, would eliminate the expense of maintaining Balls Bluff.

Woman Gets New Trial In Torch Murder Case

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The State Supreme Court today ordered a new trial for Katherine Keller, sentenced nearly two years ago to serve from four to five years' imprisonment as an accessory to Michigan's "torch murders," in which two young couples were slain and their bodies burned in an automobile near Ypsilanti.

The court reversed the decision of Circuit Judge George W. Sample, of Washtenaw County, before whom it was testified that she was an intimate of Fred Smith, one of three men sentenced to life imprisonment for the murders. The court held that the judge's instructions to the jury were impartial, but that the jury was influenced by considerations outside the actual facts at issue.

CURTIS GIVES PRIZES TO 8 STARS OF RADIO

Popularity Poll Winners Are Guests of Press Club at Luncheon.

Following the presentation by Vice President Curtis of gold loving cups to eight radio stars, winners of the first annual radio star popularity poll which was conducted by the United American Bosch Corporation, the stars were entertained at luncheon by the National Press Club. Later in the afternoon they were received by President Hoover at the White House.

The radio stars were Rudy Vallee, most popular orchestra leader; Morton Downey, most popular man singer; Jessica Dragonette, most popular woman singer; John S. Young, most popular announcer; Ed Wynn, most popular comedian, who was not present because of last night's broadcast engagement in Chicago, but who was represented by Earl Benham, a close personal friend; Richard Gordon (Sherlock Holmes), dramatic actor; David Rubinoff, most popular in instrumentalist class, and Harry Horlick, director of the most popular program in the miscellaneous class, the A. & P. Gypsies.

Arthur T. Murray, president of the corporation which conducted the poll, spoke briefly over the radio at the Capitol. He gave the cups to the Vice President, who in turn presented them.

Short speeches were made by each of the radio stars present, as they were introduced in turn by Bascom Timmons, president of the National Press Club, at the conclusion of the luncheon. Several of the stars performed for the Press Club guests. Morton Downey sang two Irish numbers. He was accompanied in his first song by Matt Horn, who played for him when he made his first appearance under the National Press Club banner years ago. Rudy Vallee did an imitation of Fred Allen presenting a revue, and Morton sang again while a violin was being hunted for Rubinoff.

Rubinoff played, to Morton Downey's accompaniment, but was at a loss because the violin was not as mellow as his own. Miss Dragonette made a short speech, but was unable to sing because she did not have an accompanist. Following this there were speeches by several of the officials, including members of the staff of Cecil, Warwick & Cecil, the agency which conducted the contest.

Woman, 54, Badly Hurt When Struck by Train

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Jan. 3.—Mrs. Daisy M. Davis, 54, was scalped when she walked into a Pennsylvania passenger train here at a grade crossing last night accidentally. At a hospital today her condition was regarded as serious, but physicians said she had a chance to recover.

Dazzled by lights from an oncoming car she is believed not to have seen or heard the approaching train which, fortunately, was reducing speed. The skin and her hair were lifted from the head and muscles torn loose by the impact. She also suffered back injuries. That she escaped death is believed due only to the fact that she did not walk directly in front of the engine. She was en route to the postoffice when the accident happened.

Wet-Weather Records At Warrenton Menaced

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Jan. 3.—More water has fallen in this country in the last 30 to 60 days, according to older citizens and farmers, than has ever fallen at this season of the year. Generally the late fall and early winter here are more or less dry.

With the heavy snow of two weeks ago a ten-day intermittent rain has poured water into the ground until the springs and other subterranean currents are well filled and the streams higher than usual. The winter wheat is showing up remarkably well.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

"I'LL try to get you in a party," said Miss Josephine Abdell, guide, Government Printing Office, to Swarmi Fedd after he had registered at the visitors' desk, second floor lobby of the big eight-story structure.

RILEY.

The big book wherein visitors register rested on its pedestal. There were only a few remaining blank lines on the page and Swarmi had difficulty resting his hand in thin air while he wrote. Now to catch up with the party that had gone some minutes before to explore into the vast plant where all of Uncle Sam's official printing is done, except the stamps and money.

Swarmi constituted his own little party for a while, until Miss Abdell finally located the first party and linked the newcomer onto the train. Thereafter at intervals others joined the party likewise here and there, until like Topsy, the party "just growed."

Mrs. M. S. McLeod served as party conductor. "No," she hadn't read The Federal Diary. She had heard of it, but over here on the floor below us was the pressroom where 5,000,000 postal cards are printed daily by three presses and over there on the left on the same floor they are printing, counting and stapling money order blankbooks.

Over here they print some postage;
Over here the one-cent cards,
But for downright-saving Congress
Some stuff they print, ye gods!

Back through a room through which we had passed a few moments before. There was the room where they stored volumes and leaflets in surplus amounts until demand for additional copies should come.

And there was the folding room. "Those machines are almost human," as we like to say about most every piece of equipment in printcraft.

There're books on seeds
And books on flowers
And books on how
To pass your hours.
There're books on leaves
And books on clocks
And books on how
To darn your socks.

The smell of ink permeates the building. And we are told that they make their own ink and rollers right in the building.

There is a periodical published in Washington which carries no advertising, at least not paid advertising—the Congressional Record. The biggest presses in the place, two of them, spill copies of the Record each night after Congress gets through spilling during the day. Its circulation is around 35,000, and, while the Congressional Record is the brunt of many slighting remarks, containing, as it does, the doings of the "pipples" representatives, it nevertheless is a work of reference, a chronicler of the Nation's law making machinery.

The biggest presses do their stuff
Grinding dear old Congress' guff;
Printing "diamonds in the rough"
For old John Public, it is tough.

There could be columns written on the Government Printing Office. Let it be said that much of the printing done there pays its own expenses. Thousands of leaflets on this and that subject are obtainable at small cost, somewhat in excess of expenses and yet low enough to be within reach of all.

If we only could make money
More of that paper kind,
Life 'ud be much sweeter;
Let joy be unrefined!

We're all for printing Records, yes!
But why not keep them clean?
Let's only print blank pages;
Now wouldn't that be mean?

Just now there seems to be activity printing franked envelopes for members of Congress. Who can say but what in the next campaign the folks back home will receive a pet speech, a real vote-getter for the Honorable Senator or Honorable Representative and some of the envelopes may (and will) contain packets of dainty garden seed—and many an election has been won or lost just on garden seed.

Maybe it'll take all winter
To print all those envelopes
For newer Solons—even If nothing else develops.

And here's a confidential tip to the incoming two hundred-odd lawmakers in the next Congress.

SEND THE FOLKS PLENTY OF GARDEN SEED!

If all those frank-free letters
Could but only wheat seed be,
Old Mama Nature sure could sprout
A crop of whiskers. Gee!

"The wind resistance was terrific." We read in our last line of the Swarmi Fedd-Paris note episode. Now advance:

The wind resistance was terrific. So was the prefect's disposition, for Swarmi's benefit as the latter produced his note and in broken sentences asked for an interpreter.

Hardly had the prefect read the first line than his brow began to pucker. He called for smelling salts. There was none, so they gave him bath salts, violet. Regaining his composure, the prefect ordered Swarmi locked up for two days. In his cell, Swarmi sat, and sat, and sat. And if we were to visit Paris today we could still see where Swarmi Fedd sat, and sat, and sat.

For the benefit of those who don't already know it, D. S. Burch, Agriculture, took up chess seriously years ago. They tell the story that even during his university days in Wisconsin he played games by correspondence.

Mr. Burch kept his chess board and chess pieces in a drawer. Receiving by mail his opponent's move, he would open the drawer, study his move with deliberation, move the piece and notify his corresponding opponent that it was his move. The next mail probably would contain the opponent's move, and so it went.

No wonder Charles R. Moser, Far Eastern authority, Commerce, is able to explain that Kiah, in Chinese, is pronounced "hi" and that other words words are pronounced differently from the way they are spelled. Charlie served this country for years in the East. So if this new Japanese-Chinese rumpus stumps you on names and how to spell them, just pronounce them some other way. Then you may be right.

"I appreciated Philip Ebert's interesting story in your column," said Miss Rose Glassman, 4210 Fourteenth street northwest. "It was so different from the general run of yarns and reflects Government clerks' lives and ambitions. It added zest to your already popular column. More power to you and Mr. Ebert's mighty pen."

Mr. Ebert, make your bow.

Commodore Jim Griffith, Coast and Geodetic Survey Fishing Club, let's hope your mislaid fishing rod shows up before the fishing season begins again. Louis B. Diggins, pride toadfish collector of the survey, has called on club members to leave their rods with him so that he can give them their annual coat of varnish.

Casting eyes along the index of Congress' calendar and seeing this entry, "One Goose, Mary, relief," we felt that here was a story. "Everybody wants relief, so why not a goose?" we mused.

Representative Scott Leavitt, Montana, explained that "Mary" is the first name and that "One Goose" is the surname of an Indian woman, leader in Crow Tribe club work, and that she owns land and wishes to dispose of part. Hence, the bill.

F. Stirling Wilson, current inquiry files, Commerce. He has just completed a very busy twelvemonth. He supplied answers to thousands of inquiries on business administration

A TEACHER in the high school tells this story of a friend of hers who taught in the grades here in Washington several years ago. The teacher was new—had just come from Maine—and didn't know her pupils. The first day everything went nicely until one little girl began to cry. When the teacher asked her what the trouble was, she said, "Archie has a snake!"

Archie was summoned to the desk and revealed that he had brought a dead snake to school that morning carefully wrapped up in a stocking.

"Where did you get the stocking?" asked the teacher.

"It's my father's," said the boy.

"Well, Archie," said the teacher, "take the stocking and the snake right home to your father and don't come back until you bring me a note from your father saying you will be a better boy in the future."

In the morning the teacher received a note from Archie's father, thanking her very much for the treatment she had accorded his son, and promising that Archie wuold bring no more dead snakes to school.

The note was signed "Theodore Roosevelt."

LIST to this excerpt from an interview with Henry L. Rainey, majority House leader, by William Hard:

Mr. Hard—"Can the Federal Government, while reducing its own pay roll, do anything during 1933 to expand employment and purchasing power in the country?"

Mr. Rainey—"Reducing a pay roll never expands employment and it always detracts from purchasing power. However, we are compelled to do it in order to meet the psychology of the situation. It is being universally demanded in the country. The principal trouble with us is that the owners of labor-saving machines, to wit, capital, have been absorbing practically all the profits accruing from the use of machines. They have not been dividing with the workers. Workers are being discharged as the machines expand in producing power and whenever a man is discharged he quits being a purchaser, and 12,000,000 men are now unemployed.

"The profits of machines have been reinvested in plant equipment and in foreign plants and many of the plants are idle. We have embarked upon a vicious circle and the reduction of the salaries of Government employes which must be accomplished is just a part of it. The danger is that so many Government employes would be discharged that it may interfere with the functioning of the Government. There are no machines which do the work of Government employes."

Mr. Rainey probably means "there are no machines YET which do the work of Government employes."

Now watch the Patent Office and see if some so-called brainy inventors don't tackle the problem of trying to substitute machines for Government workers.

Even a New Year's holiday failed to keep a lot of Commerce folks away from the building to clear up their work over the old year. P. T. Jones, chief clerk's office, registered at 8 o'clock, among others.

We see Hoyt Barnett, current information, Commerce, is back from a month's payless, painless furlough—painless, because Hoyt connected with a job four weeks while away.

Two Government workers already have qualified in the grand winter championship bridge competition finals to be played in Miami January 16. J. C. Link and W. Rossett, both Navy Department, qualified Monday afternoon at the Kennedy-Warren.

1 Killed, 2 Hurt In Auto Accident

Man Dies, Wife and Kin Injured as Car Hits Underpass.

Creed M. Crumbaugh, 28, of Glen Echo, Md., was pronounced dead yesterday when he was brought to the Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring following an automobile accident Monday night. His wife, Mrs. Ruby Crumbaugh, 22, was cut and bruised on the scalp and forehead and arms, and a cousin, William Dinsted, also of Glen Echo, was treated for minor cuts on the face and head by a nearby physician.

The car, operated by Crumbaugh, crashed into the wall of the underpass under the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks at Dickerson, Md. The party was returning from a visit to friends in Hagerstown, Md. The death of Crumbaugh brought the toll of death for the culvert to five, residents said.

The tracts were distributed among the six magisterial districts of the county as follows: Centerville, 77; Dranesville, 82; Falls Church, 151; Lee, 54; Mount Vernon, 153, and Providence, 209. 2 Buildings Burn In Charlottesville

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 3.—Damage of more than $12,000 was wrought by two early morning fires that swept through the interior of Brown's Novelty Shop and the Southern Markets, adjoining buildings on East Main street. The loss was covered by insurance.

It was estimated that the damage done to the fixtures and contents of the novelty shop was $4,000 and the damage to the building a similar amount. Insurance men said the loss on the Southern Markets building would probably be $3,500, but they could not estimate the value of the ruined stock. The two buildings are owned by J. Emmett Gleason and J. P. Sensibaugh.

J. Nelson Brown is the proprietor of the Brown Novelty Shop. The Wilson Co., contractors, had an office in the back room of the Brown shop. Their loss was slight.

Road Construction Request Refused

Clinton-Piscataway Link Is Delayed for Action of Legislature.

Because the Maryland Legislature may change the administration of road construction at its session starting today, the State roads commission has refused a request to build the rest of the Clinton-Piscataway road with funds advanced to Prince Georges County from the 1933 allotment.

Notice that the county's request had been turned down was contained in a letter sent to the county commissioners yesterday. The commissioners had asked the commission to build the last 1¼ miles of the road and deduct the cost from the amount to be turned over to the county this year. A suggestion that the commission take over all county roads is expected to be acted upon by the Legislature after it convenes today.

The commission yesterday also notified the county board that it would be unable to build the old Powder Factory and the old Colesville roads this year. These two projects were recommended by the commissioners to be built out of its 1932 road funds. They can not be built because the Marlboro-Ritchie road took all available funds, the commissioners were told.

DR. CUNO, FORMER CHANCELLOR, DEAD

German Statesman Expires When About to Take Vacation; Was 56.

Hamburg, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Former Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno, general manager of the Hamburg-American Steamship Line, collapsed on the doorstep of his country home near Hamburg today and died in his wife's arms. They were just about to leave on a vacation ordered by his physician, and their automobile was waiting for them, the motor running.

Dr. Cuno was 56 years old. Death was caused by a heart attack. He had been suffering from a heart ailment for several days, and yesterday his physician informed him that he must take a vacation. His death caused universal regret in official, business and shipping circles. Messages of condolence were received at the home from all parts of the world.

The press, regardless of political color, recalled that the nonpartisan chancellor was one of the most notable figures in Germany's postwar reconstruction period. President von Hindenburg and Chancellor Kurk von Schleicher were among the prominent personages who sent messages of sympathy. Flags of Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd buildings in all ports were ordered at half-staff.

Dr. Cuno was the first German shipping official to attempt to reestablish shipping relations with the United States after the war. He succeeded in completing negotiations with United American lines for a joint transatlantic service.

He became chancellor in November, 1922, and he was the organizer of "passive resistance" against the course of France in the Ruhr valley. Dr. Gustav Stresemann quickly discontinued this policy when he succeeded Dr. Cuno in 1923.

BALL TRIAL DELAY DUE TO BE SOUGHT

Prosecution Is Expected to Ask Continuance Due to Denny's Absence.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

Reports were current around the courthouse last night that a continuance will be sought today by the prosecution in the case of E. Wade Ball, former county treasurer, who stands indicted on charges of failure to turn over county funds said to total $515,959.

The reason for this action, it was learned, was the fact that Collins Denny, jr., assistant attorney general, who will assist Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence Douglas in the case, will not be present.

Speaking at the monthly meeting of the Arlington County Civic Federation at Lyon Park last night Charles F. Kincheloe, member of the county welfare board, outlined the work of the board.

The special committee assisting the Arlington County Welfare Board in its drive to raise $12,000, which starts on January 16, will meet tonight at the courthouse.

The January meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Woodrow Wilson School, Fort Myer Heights, will be held in the school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Women's Club of Lyon Village will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. H. H. McKinney, 155 Oak street, at 8 o'clock.

HIGH PRICES' RETURN IS TERMED UNLIKELY

Present Levels to Continue, Conference of Extension Service Is Told.

Farmers and other persons can not expect a return to prosperity price levels, but must prepare themselves for a continuance of prewar price levels, Dr. Thomas B. Symons, director of the University of Maryland extension service said yesterday.

Dr. Symons addressed members of the extension service at the seventeenth annual conference, which began at the university in College Park yesterday. Standards of living must be maintained by increasing efficiency rather than by heavy expenditures, he pointed out. Dr. Symons also contrasted the two present schools of thought concerning machinery—one that new machines contribute to unemployment, and the other that new machines make new jobs. Commenting on them, he declared that the need for information on economic problems is greater than ever before and is increasing.

Yesterday's session was opened by Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the university, who welcomed the members to the college. Dr. Clyde W. Warburton, director of the extension service of the Federal Department of Agriculture, discussed the farmers' economic situation from the national standpoint.

ARMS AND ECONOMIC PARLEY FUND ASKED

Hoover Requests $300,000 of Congress So Roosevelt May Proceed.

(Associated Press.)

Saying he wished President-elect Roosevelt to have funds available for American participation in the international disarmament and economic parleys, President Hoover yesterday asked Congress for appropriations of $300,000 for these activities.

Acting right after returning from a nine-day vacation yesterday morning, the President sent to Capitol Hill an estimate that a fund of $150,000 would be necessary to carry on the work of American delegates to the Geneva Arms Conference.

At the same time, he dispatched a brief message recommending that a similar sum be appropriated for the expenses of American participation in the World Economic Conference, for which preliminary work is now in progress.

Formal Statement Issued.

No disposition to oppose the appropriations was evidenced in Congress.

Although confirmation was lacking at the White House, there was speculation that Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the arms parley, might have broached these steps to President-elect Roosevelt during a recent conference. Davis has been in touch with Mr. Hoover and may confer with him again before returning to Europe.

The text of the President's message to Congress was not made public at the White House. It was described as merely a routine document, but a formal statement issued there said:

Purpose of Recommendations.

"The purpose of these recommendations is to enable the arms conference to be carried forward together with preparatory work of the economic conference, but more particularly to provide President-elect Roosevelt with necessary resources to carry forward these activities."

The President's action yesterday was his first public step concerning either armaments, world economics or war debts—which he links closely—since the break-off of his telegraphic interchange with Mr. Roosevelt just before starting his Southern vacation.

In one of his messages to the Chief Executive, Mr. Roosevelt spoke of the present administration's disarmament policy as "clear and satisfactory."

Senate Group Will View Gas Merger Plan Friday

The proposed merger of the Georgetown and Washington Gas Light Companies, sponsored by the Public Utilities Commision, will be considered by the Senate District committee at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at its first meeting of the short session.

Testimony for and against the merger will be taken at the hearing, which will be open to the public, Chairman Arthur Capper indicated.

The committee may be called together in executive session this week or next to consider what action may be taken on Investigator Oscar H. Brinkman's report on local rental conditions.

TWO DEATHS MARK MINE WAR FLARE-UP

12 Are Wounded in Shooting Near Taylorville, Ill.; One Woman Is Killed.

Taylorville, Ill., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Bullets splattered through the streets of nearby Kincaid tonight as the central Illinois coal mine wage war, alternately subsiding and flaring since last September, broke out anew.

Two killings, one a woman, and twelve persons wounded were added to the mounting casualty list. Authorities said apparently the woman was struck by a stray bullet. The dead were Vincent Rodems, Springfield, a working miner, and Mrs. Emma Comulato, 51, Taylorville.

Working miners emerging from the No. 7 mine of the Peabody Coal Co., at Kincaid found picket lines confronting them. Some one fired a shot. Others followed. When the melee was over, Rodems and Mrs. Comulato were dead. The others, including a mine guard, were injured.

The Kincaid shooting climaxed weeks of violence in the area. Last week a Wabash passenger train was wrecked at Jacksonville and two lives were lost. The State's attorney there said it was caused by vandals who filed open a switch lock. Previously a railroad bridge was dynamited in Christian County, halting coal shipments several days, and a cache of dynamite was found under a railroad bridge near Litchfield. The sheriff's office at Decatur said railroad bridges had been patroled for weeks as a result of the mine trouble.

W. C. Argust, in charge of Peabody operations in the county, said picketing started at Kincaid today after an official of the newly organized Progressive Miners Union appeared yesterday urging strikers again to adopt such measures. The Peabody concern operates under wage contracts with the older United Mine Workers Union.

1,000 Pounds of Lead Stolen.

Sol Margolis, who operates a junk shop at 1818 Four-and-a-half street southwest, yesterday reported that some one had broken into his shop and made away with 1,000 pounds of new lead, worth $40.

WITNESSES BRAND U.S. IDLE AID VITAL

Growing Unrest Is Described to Senate Group in Urging $500,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

The misery of the Nation's unemployed was pictured by witnessess before a Senate committee yesterday as so extensive and growing that the Federal Government should contribute half a billion dollars to relieve it.

Marking the opening of a new drive for enactment of direct Federal aid for the jobless, welfare directors gave their views at the beginning of hearings on the La Follette-Costigan bill for a $500,000,000 bond issue, the proceeds to be distributed in outright grants by a new Federal board.

A bill calling for a $500,000,000 bond issue for relief was introduced yesterday by Representative Lewis (Democrat), Maryland.

One of the witnesses—Linton B. Swift, of the Family Welfare Association of America, New York City—while expressing approval of the La Follette-Costigan bill, advocated that it be held up until after the present session of Congress. He contended that passage now would place its execution in the hands of an administration which is apparently not in sympahy with the methods the bill proposes.

Sees Special Session.

He urged its passage, instead, of a special session of Congress, which he said was inevitable this spring, soon after the Roosevelt administration takes office. In the meantime, Swift argued, changes can be made in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act to make the present Federal relief loans more nearly meet the needs.

Those testifying included Dr. Jacob Billikopf, executive director of the Jewish Charities of Philadelphia; Frank T. Bane, American Association of Public Welfare Officials, Chicago; Dr. Emma A. Winslow, United States Childrens Bureau, and H. L. Lurie, director of the Bureau of Jewish Social Research, New York.

Senator Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, cosponsor of the bill with Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, asserted that "the most startling development of this Nationwide tragedy has been the failure of a large part of the country's leadership to face the facts, and the failure to combat and conquer the problem."

Says Problems Are Growing.

Billikopf and Bane said the problems of unemployment are growing increasingly greater and that there is no improvement in sight unless direct Federal aid is forthcoming.

Lurie read the committee a summary of a report, which he said had just been completed by a committee of the American Association of Social Workers, covering 44 cities and adjacent areas in 25 States and the District of Columbia.

On the basis of this, he said, "fears are expressed that a mounting unrest may begin to assume violent forms of expression more frequently if constructive and adequate measures for relieving distress arising from unemployment do not materialize in the near future."

Swift said conditions are such that if they existed "in some other nation, such as Russia, we would be horrified by them."

Commissioners Called In D. C. Fund Hearings

The District Commissioners and Maj. Daniel Donovan, District auditor, will appear before the House District appropriations subcommittee at initial hearings today, to testify on local appropriation needs for the next fiscal year.

Chairman Clarence Cannon, who returned yesterday following a holiday trip to Missouri, will preside at the hearing.

The group will pass on all provisions of the District appropriations bill, and in addition will be asked to provide $625,000 additional for local unemployment relief during the last six months of 1933.

100,000 Square Meter Landslide.

Palma, Mallorca, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Reports from the mountain town of Espellencha said today that a landslide with an estimated area of 100,000 square meters was moving slowly toward the sea and menacing the town. There were several loud explosions of gas, it was reported, huge breaches were opened in the mountainside and tons of standing timber were carried along by the slowly moving mass.

Coat May Be Clew In McCoin Search

Nephew Says It Belonged to Missing Attorney; Mountains Combed.

Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Police officials announced today that parties seeking some trace of R. S. McCoin, missing North Carolina attorney, had discovered a piece of blue cloth and an old coat. They said they were unable to determine ownership, but McCoin's nephew, E. B. Linthicum, of Raleigh, was reported to have expressed the belief they belonged to his uncle.

Undaunted by past failure, Linthicum has employed six men and with these he is making a systematic survey of the mountainous country to the west of Hagerstown for his uncle's body. Added to this group are a number of farmers who hope to share in the $1,000 reward offered for discovery of the body. McCoin disappeared December 22 and a letter mailed from Chicago told of his death at the hands of four youths and the subsequent burial near Hagerstown.

Linthicum has announced he plans to cover the entire highway between Hagerstown and Cumberland, Md., approximately 65 miles. He is searching each of the side roads intersecting with the national highway. Washington County officers (Hagerstown) have virtually abandoned the search.

Tax Sales in Iowa Delayed for Bids

Farmers' Passive Campaign Forces Almost General Postponement.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Lack of bidding and passive resistance in many counties today forced almost a general postponement of scheduled tax sales. Following success of farmers and recruits they had obtained among city property owners in bringing about continuation of three county sales yesterday, the idea was seized upon in a dozen other counties.

In Woodbury County (Sioux City), the office of the newly elected Democratic treasurer, F. Price Smith, was crowded but no bids were forthcoming when called for. Mr. Smith postponed the sale until the first Monday in February.

United farmers attended the Boone County tax sale at Boone, and Treasurer Harold Peterson postponed the sale 60 days. At Knoxville, where several hundred farmers gathered to protest the Marion County sale, another 60-day continuation was granted. Lack of bidders in Bedford, Page, Crawford, Jefferson, Winneshiek, Buchanan and Chickasaw Counties forced postponements to future dates, and the same reason led Treasurer Roy Walsh, of Lee County, to hold over the sale there until February 6.

REPEAL VOTE TODAY EXPECTED BY BLAINE

Senate Judiciary Body Hopes to Clear Way for Beer Bill by Saturday.

(Associated Press.)

A Senate judiciary subcomittee will attempt today to complete the draft of a resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

Chairman Blaine called a meeting of the group in an effort to get the repeal measure out of the way before the subcomittee starts work on the House 3.2 per cent beer bill with public hearings Saturday.

With membership of the group nearly agreed upon the phraseology of the resolution, Blaine expressed confidence it could be finished and voted out today.

The tentative draft, framed by the committee before the Christmas recess, provides for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, protection for dry States against liquor importations from adjacent wet territory, and authorization for Congress to legislate against the saloon.

Only the question of method of ratification remains to be settled. Some favor sending the measure to State legislatures, while others want it to go to constitutional conventions.

A six-hour hearing on the constitutional phases of the beer bill has been ordered for Saturday. Several proposals for redrafting the House bill are before the subcommittee but will not be taken up until after the hearings.

Blaine does not expect them to delay consideration of the measure, however. He is hopeful of action on the measure early next week.

Family of 7 Dies As Dwelling Burns

Wife and Five Children Perish in Sleep; Man Expires Later.

Shelby, Ohio, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—A father and mother and their five children were burned to death today in an early morning fire that destroyed their frame dwelling. All but the father died while they slept.

The dead are James Miller, 36; his wife, Beatrice, 27, and their five children, James, jr., 8; Ethel May, 5; Eunice Irene, 4; Evelyn, 2, and Nanna May, 12 days old.

The tragedy resulted from the explosion of a can of kerosene which blazed up as Miller kindled a fire in a stove in the room in which his wife and children slept at 3 a. m. In an instant the three beds were in flames and Miller's night clothing was afire. Unable to save any of the others, Miller ran to a neighbor's home. There, his clothes burned from his body, he told his story and collapsed. He died about four hours later. A pet dog that ran beside his master escaped injury.

Romanoff Treasures Put On Display in New York

$15,000 Jeweled Easter Eggs, 400-Year-Old Icons, Champagne Coolers and Other Pieces Are Part of Hammer Collection.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Treasures from the Romanoff palaces—$15,000 jeweled Easter eggs, a "quill pen" fashioned of gold, diamonds, emeralds and 2,200 pearls, lavish dinner services and icons 400 years old—were placed on exhibit in a Fifth avenue department store today.

They formed a $1,000,000 collection acquired by the three Hammer brothers, Armand, Victor and Harry, during the nine years they operated various concessions under the Soviet government, including a monopoly on pencils and stationery. By selling their American automobile factory in Russia to the Soviets they won permission to take the treasures out of the country.

One of the Easter eggs, presented by Czar Nicholai II to the Czarina Alexandria in 1912, is of blue lapis in an intricate network of gold with a large diamond bearing her monogram in the top. Within it is a silver double-headed imperial eagle set with 2,000 diamonds framing a miniature of Czarevitch Alexis in a sailor suit showing both a front and back view.

Another egg, presented by Czar Nicholai to his mother in 1895, solid gold and rose colored, contains miniatures of eight palaces and two yachts. Easter was the principal Russian holiday.

The pearl pen was presented to Grand Duke George Alexandrovitch by Poland.

There are about 50 pieces of what was a 4,000-piece dinner service, a coronation gift to Czar Nicholai I from Frederick III of Prussia. Each piece is valued at from $50 to $100, one of them being a delicate basket of woven porcelain.

There also are gold snuff boxes and champagne coolers, a column of gold and diamonds supporting a miniature of Czar Nicholai and a bowl fashioned of one large piece of fine jade, mounted in gold and set with rubies and diamonds, a wedding anniversary gift of the czar to his wife.

The collection includes robes, vestments and other fabrics of gold and silver cloth from the imperial chapels, many a century old, which the Hammers saved from being burned by the Soviets for the metal.

Foster and 17 Men Must Stand Trial

10-Year-Old Charges of Alleged Red Meeting Are Revived.

St. Joseph, Mich., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—William Z. Foster and the 17 men who posted $90,000 in Liberty bonds for their freedom here 10 years ago following arrest on charges of criminal syndicalism must return to this country for trial.

The State Supreme Court so ruled today, upholding a decision of the Berrien County Court refusing to dismiss the case that has been in and out of the courts since the arrest of the group in the sand dunes near Bridgman, Mich., in 1923, in what Federal officials charged was a Communist meeting.

Foster, who denied he was a member of the Communist party at the time of the arrest, was tried a few months later. The jury disagreed. A co-defendant, Charles E. Ruthenberg, was tried a year later and found guilty. The State Supreme Court sustained his conviction, but he appealed to the United States Supreme Court, and died while the appeal was pending. The remaining men have continued at liberty, while the $90,000 bond gathered interest.

Store Thieves Get $263.

When Samuel L. Hackermann, manager of an A. & P. grocery store at 811 Fourteenth street northwest, opened up yesterday he found that burglars had ransacked his store during the New Year's holiday, and had stolen $263 which he had hidden in various places in the store.

U. S. ACTS TO HALT NAVY LIBEL ACTION

Virginia Woman Named in Letter Government Is Seeking to Seize.

Baltimore, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—An injunction was filed in Federal court here today asking that a firm of Baltimore attorneys be restrained from using a confidential naval report in prosecution of a libel suit.

The basis of the libel suit is a letter written by Lieut. Comdr. Leon W. McGrath, then chief medical officer at the United States Naval Station at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

It describes alleged differences between Commander McGrath and his wife and Alfred Hart Miles, McGrath's superior officer, and Mrs. Miles.

The Government's injunction pleadsasks that all copies of the letter be seized and destroyed. The request is based on its statement that the confidential paper was obtained without authorization, and adds that publication of the letter or any other part of the report "will result in material injury to the relations of the United States with another government and to the Navy Department and will have a serious effect on the morale of the service."

Mrs. Miles is named in the suit as being a resident of Virginia.

DOMESTIC ALLOTMENT PLAN APPROVED BY HOUSE GROUP

plan outlined by farm organization representatives in conference here during the last two weeks of December. Henry Morgenthau, jr., who is recognized as one of Mr. Roosevelt's principal advisers on agricultural policy, was a leader in these conferences and was influential in shaping the final terms of the legislation as approved yesterday in committee.

Vigorous opposition to the allotment scheme has been voiced in the committee hearings, principally from flour millers, textile operators and packers, all of whom declared that the vast administrative machinery called for in the measure make the project fantastic.

In a brief statement outlining the major purposes of the bill yesterday, Chairman Marvin Jones, of the House agricultural committee, emphasized it was intended merely as a stop-gap measure, to provide emergency relief to farmers until the long-time agricultural policy of the Roosevelt administration can be formulated.

Currency Readjustment.

As a part of his statement, Chairman Jones listed as another element of the prospective new policy, "a readjustment of our currency on a sound basis in such a way that it will be a true measure of values." There was no amplification, however, of this allusion to the possibility of a general measure of currency inflation.

"Conditions are such that it is necessary to apply a temporary remedy until such time as permanent changes and restoration can be effected," Chairman Jones said. "The bill reported by the committee is intended as an emergency measure. In this way the plan can be tested. Temporarily, at least, it will tend to give a better price to the principal products of the farm."

The measure when, as and if enacted would be operative for one year only, with a provision under which it might be continued for another year by presidential proclamation.

Vote in Committee.

In the committee division on the question of reporting the bill yesterday one Democrat voted against the majority and one Republican left the opposition ranks.

The original plan to abolish the Federal Farm Board immediately has been abandoned by the House leadership. The provisions of the new law would be administered by the Treasury and Agriculture Departments, but no action modifying existing farm legislation will be undertaken at this session, Democratic members of the committee said yesterday.

As described by some of its advocates in committee, the new plan would collect approximately one billion dollars from processors of farm products next year and pass the sum along, minus estimated administrative expenses of $25,000,000, to the farmers, through Treasury "adjustment certificates."

The value of the adjustment certificates would be equal to the difference between prevailing farm prices and the average price for the period 1909-14.

Wheat, which now is worth 32 cents a bushel, would be taxed 61 cents a bushel at the flour mill, so as to make each bushel sold for domestic consumption worth 93 cents to the farmer. But no farmer would be privileged to receive adjustment certificates unless he pledged himself to the Secretary of Agriculture to reduce his 1933 acreage by 20 per cent. The plan would not apply to winter-sown wheat already in the ground.

To prevent importation of wheat at the new high price on the domestic market, a special tariff equal to the adjustment certificate value would be added to the regular import levy during the operation of the plan.

Cotton now is selling on the basis of 6 cents a pound for middling staple. The tax in this case would be 7 cents a pound, to bring the new domestic price to approximately 13 cents, the computed prewar average.

Tobacco moves at about 9 cents a pound, against a prewar average of 11 cents.

Hogs are selling at an average price of 4.62 cents a pound, and the "restored price" would be 7.67 cents.

Estimate of Taxes.

As computed by agricultural experts on the basis of average domestic consumption in recent years, the total of these processing taxes for 1933 would be $994,150,000. Theoretically, this sum would be added to the farmers' income next year, plus whatever amount may be derived from similar taxes on other commodities brought into the plan by floor amendments.

No official estimate has been made as to the number of persons who would be required to enforce the allotment plan. Under the terms of the Jones bill the Secretary of Agriculture would fix the national crop quotas and then pass the figures along to State, county and township supervisors to allocate to individual farmers. No grower who cultivated his reduced acreage to any other cash crop would be eligible for the Treasury's adjustment certificates.

Collection of the processing tax would be assigned to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The collections would be made at 4,022 flour mills, 2,700 textile mills and 1,277 packing plants throughout the country. In addition, collection machinery would be provided to gather the taxes at several thousand retail slaughtering establishments and some 1,500 baking plants which make their own flour.

Added Protection on Cotton.

As an added protection to the South's vital cotton industry, the bill provides for a tariff of 5 cents a pound on ordinary short-staple cotton, and a second tariff of 5 cents a pound on all imports of cotton cloth or jute.

Because the United States normally exports approximately two-thirds of its short-staple cotton, this new tariff would apply only to a special grade of Brazilian lint now used exclusively for mercerized yarns. No cotton suitable for this grade of yarn now is produced in the United States.

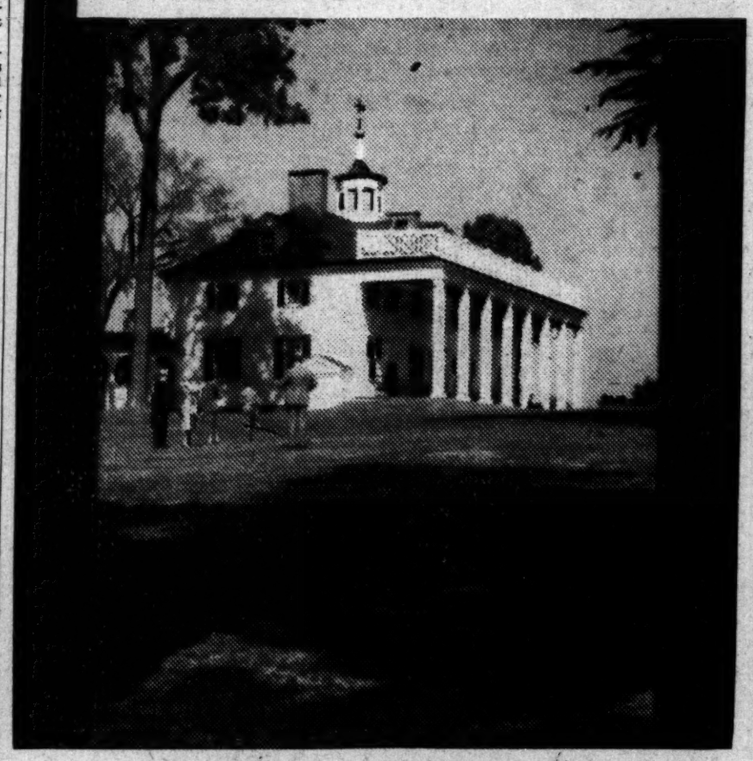

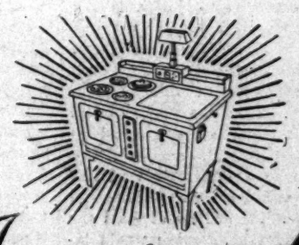

Should the allotment plan pass the House, as appears highly probable, it faces an uncertain destiny in the Senate.

Members on the Democratic side there want Georgia soft-shelled pecans included in the scheme and are prepared to delay the measure until their demands are satisfied.

REORGANIZATION EFFORTS.

President Hoover's criticism of Democratic leaders in Congress for opposition to his reorganization plan brings a smouldering fire out into the open. Leaders in the House of Representatives have not publicly attacked the regrouping of governmental bureaus and commissions ordered by Mr. Hoover, but it seems to have been privately agreed that the reorganization plan would be blocked. The movement to give President-elect Roosevelt extensive authority to rearrange the departments, bureaus and other agencies to suit himself is considered an essential preliminary to the destruction of the Hoover plan. The President fears that any movement against his plan would be a blow to reorganization of any kind.

There has never been a more opportune time for reorganization of the Government service than now. President Hoover has taken the sole responsibility for the grouping of 58 overlapping and loosely connected agencies. Congress can allow this program to take effect simply by following its favorite policy—that of doing nothing. The bureaucrats and special interests who wish to perpetuate incompetence and waste have only the White House to blame. If members of Congress find it necessary to defend the reorganization plan, they have a perfect answer, which is the urgent need for economy. They should welcome this opportunity of letting a retiring President do this disagreeable job, which no one has been able to accomplish for 25 years.

It is inconceivable that President-elect Roosevelt is in favor of upsetting the Hoover reorganization plan. How could any executive who understands the situation wish to take upon himself the full responsibility for reorganizing the Government service at the beginning of his administration? Every Democrat ought to recognize that President Hoover is in a far better position to accomplish this task than Mr. Roosevelt will occupy after March 4. By allowing the President's regrouping plans to become effective the House leaders may relieve themselves and the President-elect of a most difficult problem.

CANCELLATION IN DISGUISE.

Alfred E. Smith lends his prestige to a fallacy that has become prevalent in the discussion of the so-called war debts. Grant the debtor nations a two-year moratorium, he says, during which they would have time to solve the problems of disarmament, tariffs and debts. Then the debtors could resume payments and the world would go merrily on its way.

The objection to a moratorium of two years is that it would make a definite end of the war debts. Regardless of what the circumstances might be, Europe would interpret a moratorium as cancellation with a face-saving gesture for the government granting it. Instead of adjusting conditions so that resumption of payments would be less burdensome, the debtor nations would use the two-year moratorium to fabricate a blanket of propaganda to throw over the corpse of the war debts.

Apparently Mr. Smith anticipates reduction of the American tariff to allow the debtor countries larger markets in the United States. In that event the United States would be in danger of sacrificing both the debt payments and tariff protection for its workers. Tariff reductions would become effective upon action by Congress and the President, but payment of the debt installments would still be contingent upon the caprice of foreign electorates that are under the influence of high-pressure propaganda machines.

RETAIL BILLIONS.

Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, finds the retail outlook for 1933 decidedly encouraging. Stocks on hand aggregate in value 23 per cent less than they did a year ago. Most merchants have put their stores in order by curtailing expenses and, forced by necessity, have learned much about buying and selling the kinds of merchandise the American public demands.

In spite of the lower level of sales, which declined 37 per cent, Dr. Klein says the past year saw only a 5 per cent decrease in the number of store employes as compared with last year, and but 19 per cent less than three years ago. There are still employed in the retail stores of the country about 4,500,000 persons.

The revised estimate of the total retail business for 1932, made by John Guernsey, retail expert of the Census Bureau, places the amount at $31,500,000,000. This is a decline of $6,000,000,000 from last year and twice that amount from the year before. Last year's figures, however, show that the American people are still spending well over half a billion every week for retail purchases. That business can hardly be considered at a standstill.

Retailers are distributing their income to the extent of more than $50,000,000 a week in pay rolls and a similar amount in supplies, rent, heat, light and other operating expenses, besides millions for new goods. These millions from the active turnover of necessities are scattered far and wide. In retailing the Commerce Department believes that well-managed stores will find conditions more favorable in 1933 than they were last year.

JAPAN MOVES FORWARD.

Japan's operations at Shanhaikwan appear to be the beginning of a movement that will result in the occupation of Peiping and Tientsin, to be held as hostages when the time comes for negotiations between Japan and China. The annexation of Jehol to Manchukuo is aimed at. Japan seems to have concluded that this is a good time to strike, when the League of Nations is paralyzed, and the United States is absorbed in a change of administration, and when it is necessary to stimulate the war spirit at home in order to put through the immense military budget.

The economic tension in Japan is causing a large part of the population to oppose the military program. Intrigues aimed at the assassination of important personages are frequently detected. But the nation is in the grip of the militarists, who have pictured the advance in Manchuria as not only a national necessity, but a glorious aggrandizement of the empire.

The belief is held in some quarters that the League of Nations committee dealing with the Manchurian question is held in check by Great Britain and France for their own purposes. When the Japanese withdrew from Shanghai it was reported that one of the inducements was the assurance that the two great European powers would not interfere with Japan's plans in Manchuria. If secret understandings have been made at China's expense it will not be the first time, as witness the secret treaty during the world war which conceded Shantung to Japan.

China's renewal of friendly relations with Soviet Russia is a matter of uneasiness to Japan. A Soviet proposal for a pact of non-aggression between Russia and Japan has been declined by Japan. If there should be hostilities in Mongolia the danger of a clash between Soviet Russia and Japan would arise, unless those powers also have secretly agreed upon a program of action—at China's expense, of course.

The Hoover policy of nonrecognition of the situation created in Manchuria will soon call for the attention of the new President. Whatever the European powers or Russia may do or say, the United States faces a situation in which two treaties to which it is a party have been violated. The violation affects American rights, and may result in gross discriminations against American commerce. Events in Asia are full of portent, all of them gradually but surely increasing friction between the United States and Japan. American public sentiment recoils from the idea of war between the two countries, but it by no means acquiesces in the brushing aside of American rights as an incident to Japanese imperial expansion.

LEANING ON UNCLE SAM.

Gov. Lehman's inaugural address at Albany must have been a disappointment to President-elect Roosevelt. As governor Mr. Roosevelt followed a policy of relying upon the State's resources for unemployment relief. He did not demand aid from Washington. But the dominant note in the inaugural address of the new chief executive of New York was a plea for Federal help in caring for destitute people.

The effect of the address was to put the President-elect on notice that his burden of national problems will be augmented by demands for financial assistance from his successor at Albany. Mr. Roosevelt's most urgent problem when he enters the White House, according to present indications, will be to balance the Federal budget. He will find the inflow to the Treasury extremely low in spite of drastic new taxes. He will find heavy demands upon the Federal Government for expenditures. Yet he is notified by the man he helped to elect as governor that the wealthiest State in the Union is anxious to lean on Uncle Sam in this period of emergency.

"It is absolutely essential," Gov. Lehman says, for New York to ask financial help from Washington. He wants the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act modified "to make it easier for us to benefit from this Federal source in meeting the needs of our unemployed." This demand upon the Government is almost comparable to the pleadings of Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, and it is even more unwarranted. New York has an excellent credit standing. It can borrow all the money that is needed for relief of its own people. There is not the slightest excuse for the government at Albany to appeal for Federal help.

Loans from the R. F. C. were intended for States in desperate circumstances that have no resources upon which to draw for relief of their people. If the Government should undertake to furnish money to States that have not exhausted their taxing power and States that can borrow on their own account, the credit of the Government would be strained by the accumulation of debt.

A demand upon Congress for financial aid from the wealthiest State in the Union is a confession of the failure of State government. Washington has no magic source of funds. If Congress should levy higher taxes for the purpose of relieving the unemployed, New Yorkers would pay a large percentage of the taxes and obtain a small portion of the relief. That State is in a far better position to increase taxes than is the Federal Government.

If Gov. Lehman's new policy is a sample of the "cooperation" which Mr. Roosevelt suggested he will doubtless wish that he had laid more stress upon the self-reliance of the States.

CANADA AIDS SHIPPING.

While British interests are accusing the United States of "dumping shipping services on the world market," Canadian railroads are allowing special rates to induce American tourists to use Canadian ships for travel to Europe. John Bull would have the world believe that the United States is the only Nation that subsidizes its merchant marine. As a matter of fact, other nations support their merchant fleets by concealed benefits and various forms of discrimination in their favor.

Canadian railroads, one of which is operated by the government, are offering preferential rates to American travelers taking passage on ships leaving Canadian ports. The result is to handicap both the railroads and the merchant marine of the United States. The Interstate Commerce Commission does not allow American railroads to retaliate by similar rate cutting. As a result, a considerable number of Americans, especially from the Middle West, have been induced to sail from Canadian rather than United States ports.

Another handicap of transportation agencies of the United States is the depreciated currencies of Canada and Great Britain. American dollars will buy more service in Canada and Great Britain because they can be exchanged for an abnormal amount of Canadian dollars and English pounds. These advantages put a serious handicap upon American shipping concerns. Yet British interests complain because Congress allows ships flying the American flag liberal compensation for the hauling of mail.

When it comes to abolishing Federal jobs, Congress Democrats prefer to leave the matter to Frank Roosevelt, in the hope that his conscience and Jim Farley will be his guide.

What we'd like to see is a list of Democrats who have been offered Cabinet jobs and declined them, not a list of those who decline jobs that have not been offered.

Peace reigns throughout the world as 1933 begins. The wars in South America and Asia are entirely unofficial.

Only one-fourth of the Federal revenue goes to the veterans. The lobby faces dazzling possibilities for 1933.

Representative Beck is ready to prove that 3.2 per cent beer is good for the Constitution.

If Congress doesn't hurry up there will be nothing for President Hoover to veto.

Cheer up! Americans are no longer lending money to foreign countries.

STIFLING FILIPINO PUBLIC OPINION

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

The Hawes-Cutting bill, creating a new Philippine government, redefining Philippine-American relations and saving American agriculture in the imagination from a horrendous cataclysm, is now on the desk of the President of the United States for his veto or signature.

The Philippine legislative mission in Washington, which worked for the measure, has asked the independence commission in Manila, a body composed of the members of the Philippine Legislature, to join it in an appeal to President Hoover to sign the bill. But it did not receive much satisfaction on that score.

The Manila commission, after hearing its leading members assail the bill as imperialistic, destructive, anti-Filipino and un-American, contented itself with passing a resolution making it clear that it did not indorse the bill but that it would be "willing" to have the President sign it so it could be sent to the Philippine Legislature for acceptance or rejection.

In these circumstances and in view of the general opposition to the bill in the islands, it is a moral certainty that the insular legislature would reject it, thereby nullifying the law. The bill, by its concluding provision, has to be accepted or rejected in its entirety, and no self-respecting Philippine Legislature could or should be expected to swallow the many oppressive provisions of the bill.

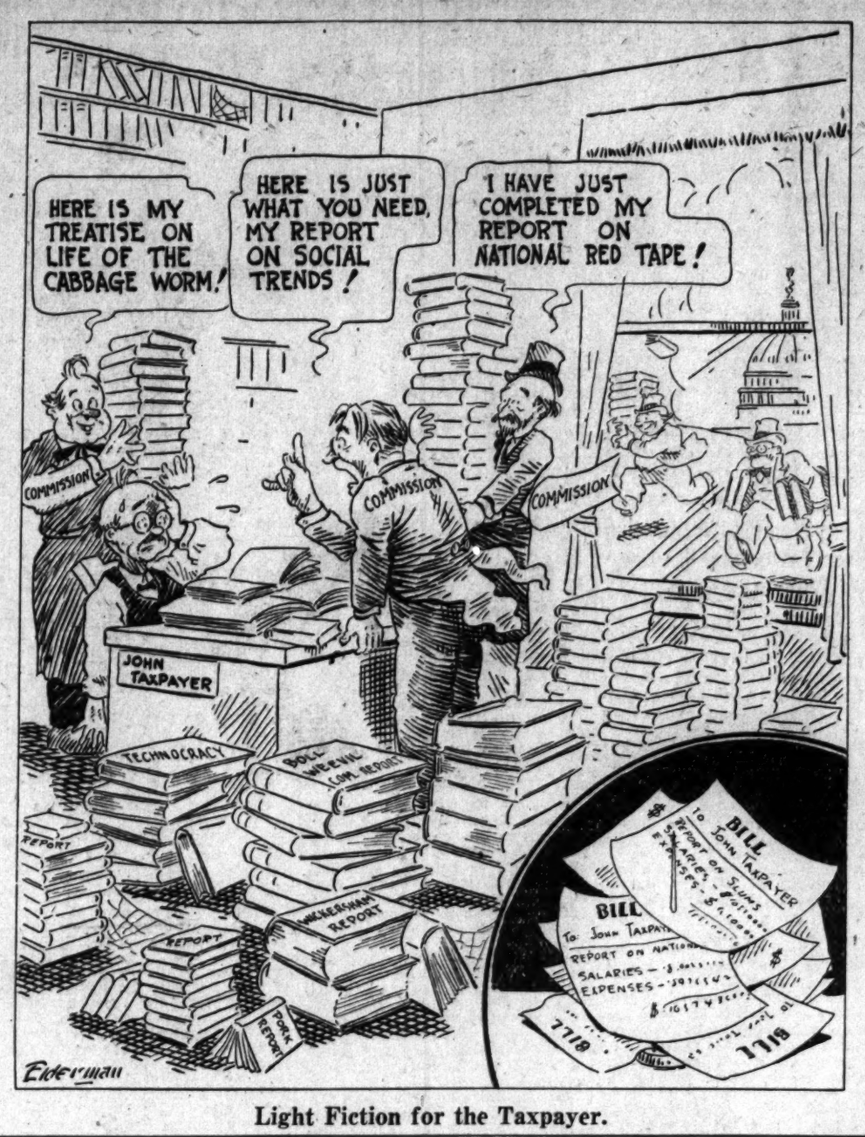

Thus the President of the United States, in approving a bill passed by Congress, which makes it a duly enacted Federal statute, would present the extraordinary spectacle of lending his aid in the nullification of the law through the operation of the Philippine Legislature, which is but a political agent or instrumentality of the American Government in the Philippines.

If, on the contrary, the Manila independence commission had come out flatfootedly and unreservedly for the Hawes-Cutting bill and President Hoover should sign it, taking into account the commission's appeal, it would also be a moral certainty that the Philippine Legislature would accept the measure.

But this action would amount to anticipating and stifling Filipino public opinion. For, if the Filipino people should develop antagonism against the bill, which already they are doing, the legislature would have to fight them and refuse to reflect their wishes if it is to keep faith with the President of the United States.

Thus the concluding section of the bill extending to the Filipino people, not to a group of political leaders, the opportunity to register their opinion upon the organic law under which they will live, will be defeated and rendered a solemn superfluity.

This provision, in spite of its being the epitome of legislative graciousness itself, may yet be declared by the courts as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative powers by Congress, in which event the registration of Filipino public opinion will have to be made by another mode and through a more logical route.

OUT SHOPPING.

When mother goes out shopping she
Much rather wouldn't go with me,
Because I drag along.
I want to stop and see the toys
That run and dance and make a noise,
And that is very wrong.
She says she loves me much, but I'm
A dreadful waster of her time.

So filled with pretty things are stores
That when I get beyond their doors
It seems like fairyland,
But mother's in a hurry, so
She says: "We've simply got to go,"
And drags me by the hand,
And I don't feel so very proud
When I'm being tugged before a crowd.

If you were nine and in a store
Where everything you hungered for
Was out for you to see,
Would you like being rushed away
To where the gloves were on display,
As mother does with me?
Or would you wish that you were grown
So you might shopping go alone?

Men Don't Lie About an Oversize Neighbor Who Has a Nasty Temper

By ROBERT QUILLEN

We have too many laws designed to regulate and control the conduct of a "free" people, but there is urgent need of one other.

There is need of a law to prevent the writing or speaking of untruth.

That may seem a ridiculous and unwarranted invasion of rights guaranteed by the Constitution, but there is ample precedent to justify it and sound logic to support it.

The law now asserts and exercises society's right to prevent harmful and untruthful speech.

It sends men to jail for speaking untruth on the witness stand; it punishes those who speak slanderous untruth concerning their neighbors; it deals harshly with those who circulate damaging statements concerning the condition of a bank.

If the law has the right to forbid untruth in one instance, why not in every instance?

If the law can punish a man for lying on the witness stand, can it not with equal justice punish him for lying on the steps of the courthouse an hour later?

And if the law has the power and the right to prevent untruth, what remains to be determined except the necessity?

Does any one doubt that man's mind is of greater importance than his body?

We have a pure food and drug law to protect the public from those who would poison bodies. Hasn't the law equal right to suppress those who would poison minds?

The inalienable right of liberty is for those who can enjoy it without injuring others.

What right has any man to poison the public mind with untruth?

Truth is no easier to define now than it was in Pilate's time, but common sense can recognize falsehood.

It is falsehood, often unintentional, that persuades the people to favor evil and oppose good. They are tricked by deceitful propaganda and thus persuaded to support causes that could not survive an hour in the white light of truth.

Censorship would avail nothing, for all experience has shown that censors suppress more truth than falsehood.

But it would be possible to discourage untruth, whether deliberate or irresponsible, by holding every man accountable for the damage his falsehood does to the community or the Nation.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Prospects for Repeal.
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The close margin by which the Garner resolution for repeal of the eighteenth amendment failed of passage gives rise to the hope that another test will be successful. Such a test is brewing in the Senate, where several repeal resolutions are being considered in committee. If the Senate passes one of them, the Democratic leaders in the House should be able to put pressure on some of those 30 Democratic representatives who, despite being elected on a repeal platform, voted dry on the Garner resolution.

Quick action by Congress would catch in session the 42 Legislatures meeting this winter, and it would be possible to have repeal within the year. If these Legislatures are permitted to adjourn without having a repeal resolution submitted to them, two years will elapse before a similar opportunity presents itself, unless the expensive expedient of special sessions is resorted to. That means that a mandate of the people, clearly delivered in November, 1932, will not be carried out until 1935 or 1936.

European Trip for Roosevelt.
Topeka Capital.

President-elect Roosevelt, it is rumored, has under consideration a trip to European capitals before his inauguration, enlarging on the example set by Mr. Hoover between his election and inauguration of visiting the capitals of South America. The Hoover journey is believed to have had valuable results in bracing good will toward the United States and improving trade relations. At that time relations were considerably strained with several South American countries. Now the situation is strained with Europe.

Sales Tax May Be Necessary.
Kansas City Times.

Gov. Roosevelt has expressed a preference for other means of meeting the Treasury demands leaving the sales tax to the States. Theoretically this may be sound. Several States already have made use of this form of taxation with much satisfaction. But when an acute emergency exists, fundamental theory may have to yield to temporary policy. The sales tax, as tentatively proposed, would not be burdensome. It would exempt foods, cheaper clothing and perhaps some other necessities. It would be productive. It would be simple and inexpensive in operation. It would be a dependable source of Federal income.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Trespasses by Hunters Are Restricting Hunting Area in Virginia—Rights of Farmers Ignored.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: During the past two years I have made my home on a plantation in my native county of Loudoun (northern Virginia). My affiliation here has the better enabled me to understand and appreciate the attitude of farmers in reference to hunting over their lands, especially by strangers and non-local residents. It appears there are sportsmen who enjoy an outing and the many thrills experienced afield with gun and dog, who disregard the rights of land owners. The hunting laws of Virginia are drastic. They were carefully drawn for the purpose of protecting farms and other land against objectionable trespassers and hunters. The person caught hunting without a license and a written permit from the tenant or owner is not only subject to a fine, but his dog and gun can be confiscated; yet, with such extreme penalties in reserve, many hunters take a chance and if caught presume upon the generosity of the offended not to prosecute.

I regret to make the charge that often a sportsman is indiscreet, shooting dangerously near dwellings, live stock and public highways. There are instances when teams of horses were frightened, properties injured, and even instances of men at work receiving a load of shot all because of a hunter's overanxiety to bag a bird.

Each year a larger number of farms are publicly posted. Each year the privilege to hunt is more restricted. As a devotee of the sport, I appeal to the farmer and sportsman to do unto the other as he would be done by, and show under all circumstances a proper consideration which combines the courtesies due each other.

Speculation in New Breweries May Not Be Very Profitable, Says Observer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Although money is scarce these days, the old saying that "a fool and his money are soon parted" still applies. The latest stock promotions are based on the theory that immense profits will be made out of beer-making.

At first it was thought that the Federal revenue from beer would run as high as $1,000,000,000 a year. Then it was said the revenue would be $300,000,000. Secretary Mills estimated the beer revenue at $150,000,000 a year. This is quite a drop from $1,000,000,000. However, it is all a matter of guesswork. Those who are told that they can get rich quick by buying stock in breweries "to be" should bear in mind that many old breweries can be pressed into operation as soon as beer is legalized. That does not leave a great deal of room for a flood of new breweries.

The Magazine of Wall Street, in a recent number, said: "Too emphatic warning can not be given to the public to beware of the present flood of stock promotions based on the speculative possibilities of brewing companies. Only a tiny minority of the scores of beer enterprises now being touted will ever make money."

France Can Lend Money for Politics, but Can't Spare Any to Pay Debts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The $14,000,000 loan to Austria by France clearly shows the hand of the French Parliament. France could not see her way clear to pay $19,000,000 to her associate in war, the United States, which was a just and honorable debt, but could see her way clear to lend money to her former foe, Austria.

The Austrian loan was a proposal of the cabinet which was approved by the Parliament. On the other hand, the default on the war debt payment to the United States was brought about by the vote of the Parliament alone, which in turn was opposed by the Herriot government.

The whole transaction in a nutshell amounts to the fact that France willingly parted with millions of dollars for politics, but refused to give one cent in order to uphold her honor and integrity in the eyes of the nations of the world.

Tax on Hidden Currency Would Force It Into Circulation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Why not put a tax on currency that is not in circulation? That would put it in circulation in a hurry. The Government could print new money in the same amount that is now outstanding and in the same denominations as now, but have it different in appearance, and then the Government could set a date on and after which the old currency would be exchanged for the new at a discount of about 30 per cent. This would be all the money the Government would need to operate and nobody would want to take the discount, and they would spend it for everything they needed and good securities before the date of exchange. That would put our factories in operation again.

Give People a Chance to Save Themselves, Says Correspondent.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is my belief that if the pseudo economists, statesmen and calamity howlers will just keep quiet for a short while and also cease their futile efforts to aid the forgotten man, and give the people a chance to find the road back to good times through their own efforts, the worst of our economic troubles will vanish. That is my plan. If the pseudo economists and demagogic statesmen can think up one better I would like to hear of it. So far they have intensified and prolonged this depression by creating confusion in the minds of the people.

THE PARADINE CASE

By ROBERT HICHENS

SYNOPSIS.

Sir Malcolm Keane, one of England's most celebrated advocates, has been briefed by Sir Simon Flaquer, solicitor, to defend his client, Mrs. Paradine, against a charge of murdering her husband, Col. Paradine.

While Mrs. Paradine is in Halloway jail awaiting trial, Lord Horfield is appointed judge of the case.

Sir Malcolm and his pretty wife, Gay, who bears a subtle resemblance to Mrs. Paradine, have been happily married for ten years, but the husband's obsession with the Paradine case is beginning to cast a dark shadow over their happiness. Sir Malcolm finds himself fascinated by the mysterious blonde, whom he passionately desires to save. Subconsciously he is not wholly convinced of her innocence, but he declares emphatically to Sir Simon that he believes her innocent. Sir Simon is skeptical about the defense Sir Malcolm has prepared, which is to suggest that the colonel's servant, William Marsh, who had been Paradine's batman in the war, might have had a hand in the murder. Sir Malcolm is afraid of Lord Horfield, who seems to have a streak of cruelty that manifests itself toward women who come up for trial before him.

Lady Horfield, in confidence to Sir Malcolm, expresses her fears for Mrs. Paradine.

Col. Paradine had been blinded in the war and had never seen his beautiful wife, who had been a servant before her marriage. She is a Dane, who had been rescued from a life of degradation by a philanthropic American. After a short period in the United States, she had settled in London to earn her living, and had married the rich Col. Paradine after the war.

Sir Malcolm goes alone to the north of England to look over the Paradine home at Hindley. On his return he invites the Horfields to dinner and the theater, against Gay's wishes. The dinner passes off in a friendly enough spirit. Leaving for the theater Keane takes Lady Horfield in his car and Gay accompanies Lord Horfield, who makes love to her, much to her disgust.

When the Paradine trial opens, Gay goes to it with Judith Flaquer, unknown to Malcolm.

WHEN Keane came home late that afternoon Baker met him in the hall to help him off with his overcoat and told him of the arrival of her ladyship.

"My wife's come up!" Keane said, astonished.

"Yes, sir."

"When did she arrive?"

"Late this afternoon, sir."

"Where is she?"

"Up in her bedroom I believe, sir."

Keane stood for a moment as if in hesitation and then went up to his wife's room to welcome her. Yes, he must welcome her, but he wished that she had not returned. Now he would have to smile, to seem pleased, natural, would have to talk, would have to hide the tumult within him.

He knocked on her door, then opened it. She was there lying on a sofa. He saw at once that she had a tired and furtive look, but she greeted him with a sort of brisk cheerfulness that was unlike her usual manner.

"I had to come up. I couldn't leave you alone in the midst of all this."

"All what?" he asked in a dull voice.

"This great case. How did it go today?"

"Oh, it was only the opening. It went all right. One can't tell at such an early stage. What was it like in Surrey?"

"Very cold, too wintry. It's better to be in town."

After a little more uneasy conversation Keane got away and went to his bedroom, saying that he would take a bath before dinner. He sent away his valet. Just as he had begun to undress he heard a faint scratching at his door, opened it and found Sausage outside with a wagging tail, eager to greet him. He let the little dog in and locked the door behind him, then went to run the bath. He had taken off the black braided jacket he had been wearing in court and thrown it down on the bed. When he came back from the bathroom he found Sausage standing on his hind legs, with his large forepaws on the bed, sniffing, almost greedily, at the jacket.

"Sausage!" he said sternly. "At it again! And that's not even a cushion!"

Sausage took his paws from the coverlet and touched the carpet with his stomach, lowering his head and showing a pair of guilty yellow eyes.

Keane bent down and shook him very gently from side to side, let him go, went to a cupboard in the room, took from a hanger in it a jacket similar to the one that lay on the bed, turned it inside out and, bending down, gave it to Sausage to play with.

"Go for it, Sausage!" whispered Keane, and he pulled at the jacket.

Sausage began eagerly to worry it, but not violently.

Keane directed the dog's attention to the side pockets which were capacious under their flaps. Sausage caught at the lining in one with his teeth, holding the jacket with his forepaws, and pulled, making a rent. Then Keane took the jacket away and examined it. Yes, there was a ragged rent in the lining.

"H'm!"

He stood staring at the rent in the jacket for a couple of minutes, then put the jacket back on its hanger and began to dress for dinner.

With Gay he passed an uneasy evening. Before they sat down to dinner he told her that directly after dinner he would have to leave her, as he must prepare a very stiff cross-examination for the following day.

When dinner was over they separated and Keane went to his work room and shut himself in there.

He didn't see Gay again that night. It was 2 in the morning when he went to bed. For hours he had been brooding over the thought of the morrow. Suspecting what he did, knowing it even as a man sometimes knows a thing he could assert, but couldn't prove, how was he to deal with William Marsh in cross-examination without putting Mrs. Paradine in imminent danger? Marsh would lie of course. But would he lie well enough to deceive Horfield and the jury, would he lie well enough to prevent them from suspecting what Keane now believed to be the truth. For if that truth was suspected, still more if it was discovered, what a terribly strong motive for Col. Paradine's murder would be unveiled. And if Marsh realized—and of course he must—the implication of the defense might he not be capable of blurting out the fact that he had had relations with his master's wife, with Mrs. Paradine? It would be a damnable thing to say of himself, but if he found himself in danger mightn't he say it? Mrs. Paradine had flatly denied to Keane that she had ever had anything illicit to do with Marsh. She had gone farther. She had, when Keane had accused her, asserted that Marsh hated her because she had refused his love. But Keane didn't believe her. He wanted to, but his brain refused him utterly the gift of that belief.

When he left next morning for the Old Bailey he looked ghastly and perplexed, and Gay's heart was wrung with pity for him. For a moment, forgetting herself entirely, she saw him as a victim, and believed she was able to enter partially into the blackness of his obsession.

She met Judith Flaquer at the flat in Hallam street. On the way to the Old Bailey Judith said:

"Did it go all right last evening?"

"If you mean about my being at the trial yesterday—yes. Malcolm doesn't know."

As on the day before they got in to the back of the gallery, conveyed by Sir Simon's friend.

The gallery was packed. Gay and Judith squeezed in and sat at the back.

A doctor was giving evidence about arsenic. In spite of cross-examination the effect of his evidence was to leave the jury, and, no doubt every one in court, convinced that certainly one attempt, and probably two, had been made at Hindley Hall to poison Col. Paradine by the administration of arsenic, or rather perhaps to begin poisoning him. The intention, it seemed, must have been to start an attempt upon his life which was meant to be cumulative but was interrupted, never carried to its conclusion. The words "unfinished murder" were heard in the court. Lord Horfield's comment on them was:

"A contradiction in terms. Murder can not be unfinished. The proper expression is 'interrupted attempt at murder.' An attempt can be interrupted; a murder can not."

Cross-examination, which was short, was directed to the point that a man, who was ignorant of the exact effect of arsenic and who wanted to take his own life, might easily have made a mistake in the amount necessary to cause death and have been turned from his purpose by the suffering caused to him by a frustrated attempt at suicide. This was, of course, allowed by the doctor. On this Lord Horfield made the dry comment:

"It is difficult to see how a man who was blind could measure out poison."

"If necessary I will deal with that presently, my lord," said Keane coldly.

"You see the defense is going to be suicide!" Judith whispered to Gay.

"But a blind man!" she murmured back.

"Depend upon it they've got something up their sleeves," said Judith as the doctor quitted the box.

"William Marsh!" called a voice.

Judith leaned forward. Gay took off her veil and quickly put on her spectacles. Through them she at first looked at the dock.

The woman was there in the brown dress. And she, too, like Judith, like many others in the crowded court, was leaning forward. And her long beautiful hands were holding the ledge of the dock. The attitude showed her to Gay for the first time as a woman expectant alive in her mind, instead of as a passive, silent, usually motionless figure, inexpressive, detached, around whom, and because of whom, all this machinery of the law was revolving.

Then Gay looked at the green benches and saw Malcolm, his face haggard in its framework of wig.

Her voice, the harsh voice of yesterday, was saying:

"Your name?"

"William Allen Marsh."

"Your age?"

"Thirty-seven."

"Your means of livelihood?"

"I'm living just now on some money that was left me, sir, and doing occasional jobs at Hindley Hall."

"You served in the Scots Guard during the late war?"

"Yes, sir."

"You were batman, were you not, to the late Col. Paradine?"

"Yes, sir."

"And later on his personal servant at Hindley Hall and elsewhere?"

"Yes, sir."

He gave his evidence well. Nothing shaky or indefinite about him. He stood up to counsel, to judge and jury, to the packed crowd in the court.

And so his story emerged, a story that undoubtedly did him credit, a story of simple bravery and devotion to duty, and, later, of devotion to the colonel of his regiment, of good conduct in the army and devout attention to duty in private life.

An excellent record.

Three medals were his—the Mons Star, the General Service Medal and the Medal of the Allies. He stood before the crowd as a brave man, an excellent soldier, a faithful servant, wholly devoted to a stricken master.

Then, as question and answer went on, Mrs. Paradine came into the story. They were out of the army, Marsh and his colonel. The blind man was married. The life of retirement had begun at Hindley Hall. And with the coming of that life into the trial the interest of the crowd became intensified.

Gay and the crowd gathered that Marsh was glad that his master took a wife. He would have some one to look after him, to see to his house, to console him in his affliction, to bear him company. When his master married he (Marsh) was prepared to like Mrs. Paradine and do everything to please her. The court learned that he was more than willing to have a lady in the house. But as the examination proceeded it appeared that this rosy state of things did not endure for very long. Mrs. Paradine was nice to Marsh at first, but presently he became aware that he was no favorite of hers. She did not treat him badly. But she was less cordial to him and seemed often to resent his intimacy with the colonel. She would show it by seeming surprised, on coming to the colonel's sitting room, she found them together. Such remarks as "O, Marsh is with you!" or "I'll come back later when you're alone!" indicated her dislike of Marsh's presence. Counsel drew from the witness this impression. Not that Marsh was jealous of his master's wife, but that she was jealous of him and handed it on to the jury. To be sure, it seemed to be dragged out of Marsh, but eventually there it was—a woman's jealousy of a trusted servant, who, because of his master's affliction, was forced to be on very special terms with him.

"Precisely," said counsel. "But did you ever on any occasion give cause for that jealousy by interfering between her and her husband, or otherwise presuming on your position of confidence in the household?"

"Never, sir, to my knowledge. I was most anxious to please the lady. But it seemed I couldn't."

"We decided after due consideration of economic conditions, that this is an opportune times to retire from business," Fraser said.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Several degrees of formality are expressed in this black crepe frock, with white velvet sleeves on a guimpe, removable. The kerchief collar is held down by a heavy gold buckle, but may be worn without it, when the waistline jacket with the puffed sleeves is worn with the dress. (A Dah-ray design.)

JUST as long as American merchants are satisfied to make a small profit on a large volume of sales, and the French merchant prefers to make a good profit on limited articles of the best quality, Paris will be the style center of the world, and women who can afford to do so will cross the ocean to have a few gowns made to order on their figures—and theirs alone.

But heaven help the style industry if France gets a little more volume-minded, and America little less so! When I think of the bare possibility of no more ready to wear clothes in this country, and Haute Coutures and Couturieres in the same proportion to the population as they are in France—well!

If France ever went in for mass production, then the world would no longer go to her doors for style inspiration. Say what you will, it will always be from this country of generations of couturieres and modistes that the rest of the world will seek—whether approving or improving upon what they find. Just as skyscrapers will ever furnish the world with the courage of gigantic structures, whether skyscrapers are improved upon artistically or labelled atrocities.

Italian modes for Italian women was a good idea, but a sorry one for the sartorial taste of the country. It seems to have died a quiet and natural death. American modes for the American woman has its enthusiastic supporters—who go to Paree twice a year for inspiration, labelled vacation. American made modes for American women is quite another matter, and a most praiseworthy one. Why not admit it? The pupil can not be teacher, though he may far out-distance the teacher in achievement and the practical or more modern application of the teacher's wisdom. Something which he could never have done without the teacher!

White velvet sleeves with a black crepe frock! They are on a guimpe, and one can be short sleeved entirely, or have the formality of the long, and certainly decorative sleeves. What with the simple kerchief collar, and the heavy gold buckle through which the kerchief slips, and then the black crepe jacket with its puffed sleeves ending as it does at the natural waistline, one is properly attired for almost any affair after the noon rendezvous. Personally, I like it—because I have one in my own wardrobe—not just because it is a Dah-ray design!

A little tea apron will make him propose tonight! Or make that already-too-married mister sit up and take notice, of his wife. Because it is a known fact that men adore little aprons. How about making some for yourself. This week's leaflet is full of designs and as for adorable tea aprons, which you can make in your spare finger time—from rag bag scraps. Send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for it, if you would be all in the mode with the latest domestic whimsey!

Goin' Culinary.

Well, next we put all the onions in a large frying pan, or a stew pot if the frying pan isn't large enough, and put the least little bit of water in the bottom, light the gas, and put on a tight cover. This steams the onions a bit and makes them fry golden later, without burning. When all the water is boiled back into the onions, and they are beginning to stick a bit to the pan despite careful stirring and scraping from the bottom, then it's time to . . (continued Friday).

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TREATMENT OF A COLD.

A CERTAIN loud-mouthed fellow long in the restaurant business is fond of saying: "Doctors don't know nothing. They don't know how to cure a cold." He may be right, at that. Nature cures about 99.9 per cent of the colds, and until we know there is a better way we had better let Old Doc Nature handle the case.

It is pretty well established that some of the methods used in the treatment of colds do more harm than good. This is reasonably well proved as to douching and washing the nose with sprays and washes sucked up into the nose. The nose secretion is a very good germicide. The bacteria washed by it are quickly killed and then dissolved. This is especially true of the clear, watery and thin mucous discharges of the earlier stages. If these secretions are washed away the germs have a good chance to do their dirty work, and no washing can possibly remove all the virus that is causing the trouble. There is also evidence that washing with oily sprays and mists and anointing the lower surfaces with grease or ointment of any kind interferes with nature's way and does more harm than good.

This does not hold true of greasing the skin of the outside of the nose and upper lip below the nose as a measure for protection against chafing caused by the nasal discharge.

Dr. A. L. Yates thinks there is at least one service we can render a man with a cold accompanied by considerable fever. He advocates giving him several doses of bicarbonate of soda. The urine is tested with litmus paper before and during this treatment. As soon as it becomes alkaline in reaction the soda is stopped, though a light diet of fruit juices, vegetables and vegetable soups is continued.

When the urine becomes alkaline the fever disappears and the temperature becomes normal at once.

When pain around the head develops in the course of an acute cold that means that the infection has spread to some sinus. The pain of an acute sinus infection is always felt above the eye. In the case of a frontal sinus trouble this is the only location of the pain. If some sinus other than the frontal is involved in addition to the over-the-eye pain there are pains in other locations.

For instance, if it is in the maxillary sinus, the pain is in the cheek bone as well as over the eye. If in the anterior ethmoidal sinus, it will be felt at the inner corner of the eye and also above. If in the posterior ethmoid sinus, at the top of the head and over the eye. If in the sphenoid, it will be at the back of the head and over the eye. If it is the mastoid that is involved, no pain is felt until the infection has reached certain areas that can register the pain.

If a cold spreads to a sinus, it will be well to try to bring about drainage. Sometimes steaming the face, washing it in hot water, or exposing it to radiant heat will do this. Sometimes, but rarely, it is advisable to paint the inside of the nose with a solution of a combination containing adrenalin or to spray it with such a solution. This sometimes shrinks the swollen membranes enough to let the discharge flow out of the sinus.

What Today Means to You

"CAPRICORN."

IF January 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 4:15 p. m. to 5:45 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:50 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Influences operating on this January 4 will tend to make this a period of meditated activity; thoughts and acts will not be spontaneous nor will they be inspirational.

The child born on this January 4 will probably be very sensitively attuned to life. He will react instantaneously to incidents that would not be noticed by the average person. He will seem to be influenced greatly by the thoughts of others.

Born on January 4, you are a thinker. You believe firmly that thought is probably the greatest power in the world today, and you are constantly analyzing both your own thoughts and the thoughts of others. You are a constructive thinker, and you live to create.

If January 4 is the date of your birth, yours is probably a restless nature. You have set your goal in life high and you are ever on the alert, striving hard to gain it. You will succeed, and as you progress you will possibly attract to yourself many fine friends who in turn will make it possible for you to carry on further in your good work. Money will come your way and you will never lack those things which it can buy.

THE WELL-KNOWN COUP.

THE Grand Coup is one of the best-known and most spectacular of the advanced plays at the Bridge table. The Simple Coup, although not as spectacular, is just as effective. The Simple Coup requires that the Declarer shorten himself in trumps one or more times, without ruffing good tricks in Dummy. In other words, he merly ruffs losing tricks, and it is just as successful a line of play for trapping an opponent's trump honor as the Grand Coup. Let me reveal a secret. Most Grand Coups are played at someone's desk in his office, the morning after. They are quite rare at the Bridge table.

It was my good fortune to witness a very spectacular Simple Coup the other day, which had a slight additional variation to it. The hand:

North—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

The Bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	2♣	Pass
2♡	Pass	4♣	Pass
5♡	Pass	6♣	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding needs no particular comment. Freak hands of this sort may be bid in slightly different manners by different players. But, at any rate, the final declaration of six clubs is the logical contract for the hand.

The Opening lead was the fourth-best diamond by West, and Declarer took it with the King in his own hand. Two rounds of clubs disclosed the trump situation, and at first glance it appeared that Declarer must lose two trump tricks, and thus meet defeat. However, there was one ray of hope. Declarer briskly went about the task of stripping his trumps down to the level of East. He went over to Dummy with a heart, cashed both the Ace and the King, and then ruffed the third round of the suit, East discarding a diamond. Declarer now returned to Dummy with a spade, and after taking the Ace and King of spades, ruffed the third round of spades. He now had three trumps left in his hand, the same as East. He returned to Dummy for the last time with a diamond. Now it was immaterial which one of the three small cards in Dummy he led. He led one of them, and East made his best play—that is, he split his equals in clubs, playing the Ten-spot. Declarer now made one of the rarest plays in Bridge—undertrumping. He played the 7 of clubs from his hand, allowing East's Ten to hold the trick, and East was forced to lead from the Knave-8 to Declarer's tenace.

A well-played and well-managed hand, which was rewarded by the premium for a Small Slam.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

I'M in a story telling mood today, and will tell you something that has a little moral that can be applied to beauty as well as other things.

Not long ago a young cousin of mine whose family had been tremendously wealthy suddenly realized that depression had hit home hard, and that she would have to work for her living. She was offered a secretarial position with rather complicated and detailed duties. These were introduced to her in the form of a typewritten outline and when she read them she exclaimed, "But it seems so involved, so difficult. I know I shall never get the hang of it." Her employer, an old friend of the family, persuaded her to try it. When she actually set to work the details became suddenly clarified.

So it is with caring for the complexion, or with beauty rites in general. Women read an outline of the details. The skin needs cleansing, toning, nourishing, and then a final touch of make-up. It sounds like a lot to do. They visualize the home treatments taking a great deal of time. They don't even try to see for themselves.

If you haven't set aside a few minutes every night and every morning to a quick facial, you've missed a treat. I wish you'd try it at once. The average skin does not need complicated treatment. A roll of cotton or a box of the ready cut cotton pads which are so handy and inexpensive. A jar of cold cream, liquefying cleanser or the heavier type of cleansing cream which dry skins often find beneficial, a bottle of skin tonic—a reliable brand. That much every woman needs.

Night Treatment

At night, wring a pad of cotton out of cold, clear water. Then dip the cotton in the cleansing cream. Apply it to the neck, starting at shoulders, work upward on neck, up on face up to and over the forehead. Leave the cream on for a few minutes then remove thoroughly with tissue. Take another pad of cotton a little heavier this time, or two of the cotton squares. Wring out of cold water. Run over a piece of ice. Dip into skin tonic. Pat with quick, staccato, slapping movements up and out over face and neck. Do this for several minutes until circulation is up and skin tingles. If the skin is at all dry, follow with a good skinfood or nourishing cream patting it over face and neck and leave on as long as convenient, overnight, if possible, but only a thin film. Some skins—those inclined to oiliness are better off without this cream. For this type the cleansing cream and tonic are sufficient.

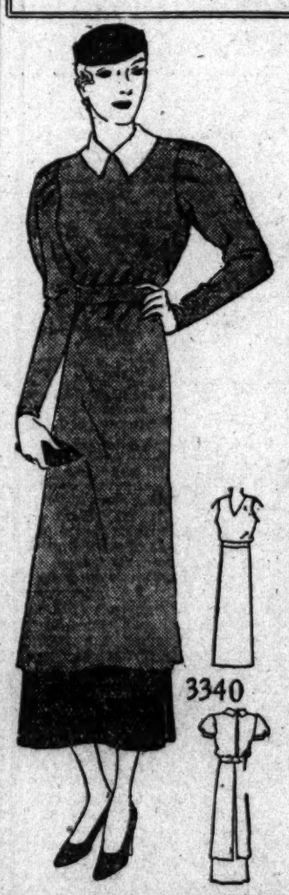

Morning Regime.

In the morning merely repeat the cleansing and tonic patting. If the skin is very dry, pat a little Finishing Cream of the oily variety over it. Otherwise, you are ready for your make-up. Now isn't that simple? If you actually follow this through it will become a lovely habit; quick, easy, efficient and so youthifying.

Of course, blackheads, wrinkles, acne, sagging muscles and similar skin irregularities need further treatment. Write me for advice on these subjects.

JACK PICKFORD, 36, SUCCUMBS IN PARIS

Expires in Same Hospital Where Olive Thomas, His First Wife, Died.

Paris, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Jack Pickford, brother of the famous Mary and an actor in his own right, died this afternoon after a lengthy illness, death coming in the same hospital where his first wife, Olive Thomas, died of accidental poisoning in 1920.

The body probably will be sent to California, but final word is being awaited from Mary Pickford.

Two doctors, two nurses and his secretary were with him when he died. He had been semiconscious the last three days and lapsed into coma three hours before his death.

Extremely Emaciated.

Pickford, who was 36 years old, was ill when he arrived in Paris last September. He had become extremely emaciated during his long illness and friends said that movie fans throughout the United States who had known him in the films would not have recognized him.

Dr. Edmund L. Gros, who attended him in the American Hospital, said death resulted from "multiple neuritis which finally affected the brain center."

Ill for Two Years.

Miss Grace Moore, who has been Pickford's secretary for eleven years and who was with him when he died today, called Mrs. Fairbanks by telephone, but atmospheric conditions were too poor for conversation. She said she would accompany the body back to America, probably sailing on the Europa, if the family approved.

Pickford, who had been ill for the last two years, was ordered abroad by his doctors for his health, sailing from California last July by way of the Panama Canal.

Jack Pickford first attracted attention in "Tom Sawyer," a silent film, and others in which he appeared were "Seventeen," "Great Expectations," and "The Varmint." His last picture was "Gang War," made five years ago.

Was Born in Canada.

He was born in Toronto, Canada, August 18, 1896. His real name was John Carl Smith. In 1904 the family moved to New York and Jack was educated at the St. Francis Military Academy. Before that he had appeared with his sisters, Mary and Lottie, in a theatrical road company.

Mary was the first to use the name Pickford, which she took from a relative. In July, 1920, when Jack became a naturalized American, he adopted the name John Carl Pickford.

He was married three time. After his first wife, Olive Thomas, died in 1920, he married Marilyn Miller, and they were divorced in 1927. In August, 1930, he married Mary Mulhern at Del Monte, Calif.

Musicale Is Given At Georgetown University.

One of the most delightful informal musicales of the winter was given yesterday afternoon at Georgetown University by Mme. Skalicky, the wife of the Counselor of the Czechoslovakian Legation, and Miss Dai Buell, of Boston, both of whom are well known to music lovers in Washington.

Dr. W. Coleman Nevils, president of Georgetown University, was the host on this occasion, which was given for a limited number of his friends in the Diplomatic Corps and in residential society. A reception preceded the musicale, at which Dr. Nevils presented the two artists, his personal friends, to the guests who had assembled in the Copley lounge of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Mme. Skalicky, whose rendition of her native songs have endeared her to many in Washington, will leave Washington in February with her husband, Dr. Jan Skalicky, who is to become charge d'affaires in Lithuania. Her concert yesterday, in which he appeared in native dress, was perhaps the last time her friends will have the privilege of hearing her before her departure. Mme. Skalicky sang two groups of songs, Thomas' "Connais-tu le Pays" and "There's Not a Swain, on the Plain," and two of Dvorak's favorite selections, "God Is My Shepherd" and "Kdyz Mne Stara Matka." She was accompanied on the piano by Dr. Edward P. Donovan, professor of music at Georgetown College.

Foot of Mountain Slide Is Nearing Animas River.

Durango, Calif., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The movement of Carbon Mountain has increased to a marked degree in the last two days, with the result that hundreds of thousands of tons of material have been piled into gulch at the southwest approach to the moving phenomenon. A huge mass of rubble, 75 feet deep, is seamed with deep crevices and the trembling can be felt in the slide area continuously. The foot of the slide now is about 250 yards from the Animas River.

New deep crevices are opening on the slope of the mountain and avalanches continue. Explosions have been heard and are believed to have been caused by gas.

Georgia Citizens Ask Prison Cruelty Probe

The request was made by mail to incoming legislators. Photographs of alleged torture of prisoners accompanied the requests. The General Assembly meets next week.

The committee requesting the investigation says charges against the State's prison camps have been given national publicity and are "serious enough to justify and demand an investigation so vigorous and impartial as to leave no doubt regarding the facts and to provide an intelligent basis for such reforms as may be found necessary."

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

BARON MUNCHAUSEN could hardly improve on this story, which is vouched for by Frank Wisner, of the Federal Radio Commission:

Martin Codel, editor of Broadcasting, and Wisner went hunting on Maj. E. Brooke Lee's property in Montgomery County, in the neighborhood of the Indian Spring Golf Club.

When Codel fired at a mark in trying out Wisner's new gun a rabbit sitting nearby started across a field at a terrific pace. Codel took aim and rolled him over like a veteran. It was a beautiful shot. Yes, siree, as Ben Bernie would say. But strange to relate the shot raised a large covey of quail roosting nearby and Codel cut loose with both barrels at the fleeing birds, and, simultaneously another hunter fired two shots some distance up the meadow. Quail fell like leaves in the late fall during a heavy gale.

As Codel rushed in to gather up his spoils he was met by another hunter who began to gather up dead birds, which he claimed were killed by him. To prevent an ugly dispute it was decided to divide the birds on a 50-50 basis, but when Codel got home it was found he had 67 birds. The extra seventeen represents the fine work of Jerry, Codel's prize cocker spaniel, a breed noted for their ability as retrievers. Jerry was busy carrying off the birds to a secluded spot while the two huntsmen were dividing the bag under the supervision of Wisner.

SEASONED sportsmen question the reports about Codel's remarkable shot, but he has submitted the following proof: He says he gave nine birds to his partner, Sol Taishoff; eight to John M. Littlepage, eight to John W. Guider, seven to Philip G. Loucks, six to Horace Lohnes, five to Howard Vesey, five to Louis G. Caldwell, five to Lynne Lamm, five to Wisner and took nine home. At any rate he is good at arithmetic.

But here is the most remarkable feature of the report: When the birds were picked it was found they were free from shot, apparently having died from broken necks. Wisner, a veteran sportsman, explains the phenomenon this way: Just as Codel flushed his covey and fired, another hunter, some distance up the meadow, flushed another covey. The birds flew in opposite directions toward each other. Just as the hunters fired the birds clashed in a head-on collision. Flying as they do at the rate of 60 miles an hour it meant death and disaster. The shooting merely confused them and prevented them from giving each other the right of way.

WE thought we had another likely nominee for a membership in the "tall story club" in a well-known local newspaperman, who related how he had set his receiver on the proper dial marking for a Los Angeles radio station at 11 o'clock the other night—and tuned it in distinctly on the first attempt. The music originating in the Los Angeles studios came in clearly for fifteen minutes, when the blase newspaperman decided he much preferred the music of Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians over a Cleveland station. After he had explained that his set was a new eleven-tube superhetereodyne we were muchness skeptical. We became convinced, however, when he reported he had received it again on Saturday night just as clearly and distinctly.

THE Shadow's ghostly voice will be heard on the air half an hour later than formerly, when that mysterious being's tales of the weird and supernatural are broadcast over WRC at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The present series will continue uninterrupted at the new hour.

Ken Murray, vaudeville comedian, will head the new Royal Vagabonds program over WRC at 8 o'clock.

Alice Duer Miller, novelist and playwright, will be heard over WMAL, following the dramatization of her story, "Mother Announcing," during the Five Star Theater program at 7:30 o'clock.

For years Dean Fossler, of Chicago, who plays the theme song for Amos 'n' Andy and "The Goldbergs," was an Amos 'n' Andy fan. Even in the days when the boys were known as Sam 'n' Henry the organist always managed to be at the radio when they were on the air.

Then he learned that he was to play the theme song for the pair. He would really become a part of his favorite radio act. He would see the boys work and hear the program first hand.

His first program showed him just how far wrong he was. He played the organ in a studio overlooking the city from the top of the Opera Building, while the boys were in a little studio in the Merchandise Mart—half a mile down river.

But the saddest blow is that he doesn't even get to hear Amos 'n' Andy any more. He gets his signal to begin the theme from the flash of a little signal light.

WJZ Program Notes: D. W. Griffith, dean of motion picture directors, will begin a new series at 10 o'clock tonight. • • • Morton Downey and Donald Novis, tenors, will be costarred on a new program at 9:30 p. m. • • • The "Crime Club" will present the second installment of "Ear Witness" at 8 o'clock.

Issay Debrowen, who has been guest conductor for the Philadelphia and New York Philharmonic Orchestras, will wield the baton during the broadcast of the N. B. C. Symphony at 9 o'clock tonight over WRC.

Sir Josiah Stamp and J. Maynard Keynes, leading economists of Great Britain, will be heard in a debate on the subject of "Spending versus Saving" in a broadcast over WJSV at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon. The speakers will face the microphone in London.

Bing Crosby will make his first appearance on the Chesterfield program, accompanied by Leonard Hayton's Orchestra, at 9 o'clock tonight.

SINGIN' SAM, on WJSV at 8:30 o'clock, relates the origin of his radio name as follows: Sam, then plain Harry Frankel, was journeying from his home in Richmond, Ind., to New York for his first radio engagement and spent hours tossing about in his berth trying to coin a suitable name. Finally the click of the wheels suddenly resolved themselves into "Sing-in' Sam, Sing-in' Sam," so Frankel turned over and went to sleep with his name picked for him.

HARRINGTON NAMED MARYLAND SPEAKER

His Election Today Insured; Ritchie to Give Message to Joint Session.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 3.—War clouds which seemed to hover over the speakership of the Maryland House of Delegates faded away tonight as the State organization threw its weight behind T. Barton Harrington, chosen this afternoon by the Baltimore City delegation as Democratic candidate for the speakership.

Mr. Harrington will replace Francis Michel in the speaker's chair, it was assured when the Democratic caucus which met in the State House tonight chose Mr. Harrington for the post and indorsed the choice of the Baltimore delegates. With a Democratic House, selection by the caucus insures election tomorrow when the House organizes.

The new session will see no change in the presidency of the Senate as Senator Walter Mitchell was chosen without question as the Democratic candidate for leadership in the upper chamber. All clerks and attendants in office at the last session also were chosen for reappointment on the Senate side

In the House, however, three new attendants were appointed, one of them from Montgomery County. Richard L. Waters, of Montgomery, was agreed upon for appointment as sergeant-at-arms. Other newcomers will be Francis M. Burke, assistant sergeant-at-arms, and Charles Cohen, chief page.

The fight on Mr. Michel was not brought to the floor of the caucus, Mr. Harrington being the only nominee for the post. After the caucus, Mr. Michel said he did not know whether he would continue his activities for a reduction of the number of aids of the legislators. These activities are blamed by some for the move to unseat him.

Action of the caucuses insure the following appointments tomorrow, after the House has organized and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie has delivered his message to the joint session:

Senate—Emerson C. Crothers, secretary; B. Raymond Sutton, assistant secretary; Walter Addison, of Prince Georges County, journal clerk; Lawrence Lutz, assistant journal clerk; Francis J. Taylor, reading clerk; sergeants-at-arms, R. Oscar Roe and Charles W. Hackett, and chief page, John Wagner.

House—Albert J. Almony, of Montgomery County, chief clerk; Louis Abell, of St. Marys County, assistant chief clerk; Thomas J. Murray, journal clerk; David C. Kirby, assistant journal clerk; Robert J. Batterden, reading clerk; sergeant-at-arms, Fred Kemper; assistant sergeants-at-arms, Richard L. Waters, and Francis M. Burke; chief page, Charles Cohen; assistant page, Michael May.

Rezoning Approved In Prince Georges

Lots in Columbia Park and Brentwood Changed to Commercial.

Two zoning petitions, asking that lots in Columbia Park and Brentwood be changed from residential to commercial zoning were approved by the Prince Georges County Commissioners yesterday after no opposition to the change had developed at a public hearing.

One of the petitions, filed by George Hansen, asked that lots 13, 14, 15 and 16 in block 32, Brentwood, be changed. The other made a similar request for lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 in block 4 of Columbia Park. Both proposals had the approval of the Park and Planning Commission.

An application from Tyler M. Birch, asking that he be appointed constable in Bladensburg District was received by the county commissioners yesterday and filed. A complaint about the condition of Eastern avenue in Takoma Park, from Second street to Sligo Mill road, was referred to the district road committee.

Patriotism Moves Geishas.

Osaka, Japan, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The Geishas of Osaka, the gay industrial metropolis of Japan, have felt the urge of patriotism. Five hundred of the picturesque little professional entertainers applied for membership in the Women's National Defense Association. They were admitted, but asked to wear as unpretentious dress as possible to meetings.

Action Is Delayed On Hanger Naming

Board Mediation Member to Be Heard Today by Senate Group.

(Associated Press.)

Action on the nomination of G. W. W. Hanger for reappointment to the board of mediation—first and only nomination which Senate Democrats have permitted to be referred to committee—was postponed yesterday by the Senate interstate commerce committee.

Chairman Couzens (Republican), Michigan, said the group wanted to hear Hanger, who would appear today.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader, told newspapermen he would press for confirmation as soon as the committee reports. Hanger was born near Staunton, Va., but has lived in Washington 48 years. He completed a term on the board of mediation at midnight Saturday. The board deals largely with railway wage disputes.

CONGRESS BARS U. S. MERGERS DESPITE ATTACK BY HOOVER

is "sensibly carried out," it will embrace the very orders he has issued, he said.

"Either Congress must keep its hands off now or they must give to my successor much larger powers of independent action than given to any President, if there is ever to be reorganization," he concluded.

Rivers and Harbors Work.

"And that authority to be effective should be free of the limitations in the law passed last year, which gives Congress the veto power, which prevents the abolition of functions, which prevents the rearrangement of major departments. Otherwise it will, as is now being demonstrated in the present law, again be merely make believe."

The President charged that outside groups, congressional committees and members of Congress fear a reduction of influence in the administration of functions he has proposed for regrouping.

Defending at length a number of his proposals, notably his plan for consolidation of public works activities, and inclusion of rivers and harbors work in that consolidation, he added that "no good government" would tolearte merchant marine activities separated over seven departments. The same, he said, is true of public health, education and land utilization.

Others to Be Consolidated.

"There are still others to be consolidated," he told reporters.

"Many regulatory functions now in the departments should be transferred to the Federal Trade and other regulating commissions. The financial and economic functions relating to agriculture should be consolidated. The major departments should be changed."

House Expenditures Chairman Cochran issued a statement immediately in reply. Cochran said he was as anxious as Mr. Hoover to see a complete reorganization of Government functions, and even more anxious for elimination of useless bureaus. He said he agreed with the President that every reorganization plan would have its opponents.

"I do feel, however, that it is unjust and most unfair to the incoming President to practically revolutionize the administration of 58 activities two weeks before he assumes command of the Government," he said.

The expenditures chairman said he dislikes to delegate to the Chief Executive power to completely reorganize the Government, but is willing to vest that authority in the incoming President "provided both Houses of Congress must act to nullify."

No Estimate of Economies.

"I think the President will be compelled to admit that the information he advanced in his Executive orders was little more than the names of the numerous activities he proposed to change," Cochran stated. He detailed his objections to some of the President's specific proposals.

Representative Byrns said:

"The President has had more than three years to prepare a reorganization program. The main object of such a program, as I conceive it, is to accomplish economies and effect efficiencies. The plan he submitted made no estimate of economies and pointed to no efficiencies. Until he has done this, I see no reason why the House should agree to his recommendations."

Senate Democratic Leader Robinson's only comment on the Hoover reorganization statement was:

"It may be necessary to give the President very broad and unusual authority."

O'NEILL'S NEUROTIC NINA

Norma Shearer, who has seldom appeared so lovely as in the role of the habitually harassed Nina Leeds in "Strange Interlude," the first of Eugene O'Neill's oversize dramas, the screen version of which is now being shown at Loew's Palace for the first time locally at popular prices.

About The Showshops

With NELSON B. BELL

SOME foretaste of what the screen may be expected to reveal in the not-too-distant future is afforded by the announcement that in the month of November nine producers concluded negotiations for motion picture rights to 26 books and plays. Story buys during November were slightly lower than in the preceding month of October, when 28 were recorded. Since March 1, which marked the beginning of the story-buying season for the current production year, independents and major producers combined have bought 184 books and plays for adaptation to the needs of the cinema.

The November purchases are attributed six each to Paramount and Fox; four to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; three each to RKO-Radio and Warner Brothers and one each to Columbia, Fanchon-Royer, Reliance and Universal.

In case you are interested in the identities of the works purchased by the companies having fixed outlets in the National Capital, they may be catalogued as follows:

Fox, "Warrior's Husband," a play by Julian Thompson; "Dangerously Yours," by Eric Noel; "Mommer," by Jerry Horwin; "Peking Picnic," prize novel by Ann Bridge; "I Loved You Wednesday," stage play; "Pilgrimage," by I. A. R. Wylie.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, "Men Must Fight," a play by Reginald and S. K. Lawrence; "Excess Baggage," play by John McGowan; "Another Language," by Rose Franken, presented in Washington last spring by Arthur J. Beckhard; "He Who Gets Slapped," a play by Leonid Andreyev.

Paramount, "The Queen Was in the Parlor," romantic comedy by Noel Coward; "Shoe the Wild Mare," by Gene Fowler; "Jennie Gerhardt," by Theodore Dreiser; "The Great Magoo," the recent stage failure by Ben Hecht and Gene Fowler; "Chrysalis," a play by Rose Albert Porter; "Under the Tonto Rim," by Zane Grey.

RKO-Radio, "Romance of a Spahi," by Pierre Loti; "Green Mansions," a South American jungle story by W. H. Hudson; "Greta, the Great," by Louis Heifetz and Neil Brandt.

Universal, "Terror Trail," by Grant Taylor.

Warner Brothers, "Red Meat," by David Karsner; "Junior Republic," by Islin Auster; "Ex-Lady," by Carl Erickson and David Boehm.

Columbia, "Murder of the Circus Queen," a Thatcher Colt detective story by Anthony Abbott, in which Adolphe Menjou again will appear as the famous sleuth.

Concerning the screen adaptability of Dreiser's "Jennie Gerhardt," this department already has expressed a mild skepticism which might be extended to embrace "The Great Magoo," both being works in which the element of sex may not be said to be especially suppressed.

Our earlier trepidation, at the moment, is in process of at least partial revision—and for a particularly good reason.

Since having viewed the screen version of Mr. Philip Barry's "The Animal Kingdom," in which Leslie Howard, Ann Harding, Myrna Loy and William Gargan are captivating audiences at RKO-Keith's, the conviction has grown that, treated with sufficient deftness, the sinister implications of sex may be rendered wholly and delightfully innocuous.

"The Great Magoo," perhaps, will prove a little difficult to bring within the purviews of modest and uplifting drama, but there would seem to be no reason why the producers of "Jennie Gerhardt" may not convert that most unconventional of the early Dreiser fictions into a disarming but utterly engrossing study of a feminine viewpoint to which the bothersome trifle of marriage was only an annoying and incomprehensible hindrance to the untrammeled ecstasy of perfect love.

Since her admirable performance in "Madame Butterfly," Sylvia Sidney's assumption of the title role in "Jennie Garhardt" will be the more eagerly awaited.

And from Joe E. Brown, the amply apertured comedian, residing at 707 Walden Drive, Beverly Hills, California, comes a capacious flagon with Joe's cavernous maw laughing right at you from between the inscription, "You Said a Mouthful" and his personal signature, this decoration of a sore temptation to break into the stein song being executed in black, white and gold on a groundwork of what I am told is powder blue. Or, maybe, Cobalt.

Now, if you gentlemen down on The Hill will just hurry up and get busy with that beer bill——

Such insistent crowds are still fighting their way into the Rialto Theater to shiver and shake with "The Mummy," which opened on Christmas Day, that Manager Rodney Collier has decided not to try to inaugurate the run of "They Just Had to Get Married," featuring "Slim" Summerville and ZaSu Pitts, on the regular Friday morning schedule. Thus it comes about that "They Just Had to Get Married" will be introduced to the Capital at a special Friday midnight showing, with the regular daily screenings to begin Saturday morning.

Mr. Collier reports that this new laughmaker is an ideal subject for a gay midnight premiere, being one of the funniest comedies upon which he has ever cast an eye. Which only goes to show that there is a little of the press agent left over in almost every manager!

If you care to go back to the paragraph where mention was made of Leslie Howard and Ann Harding in "The Animal Kingdom," you might write into the record that this adroit film rendering of the Philip Barry stage play shattered all attendance and money records, under the straight motion picture policy, with its unprecedented volume of business on the Monday New Year's holiday at RKO-Keith's. Not only were the records set by "Amos 'n' Andy," "Cimarron" and others of the big money-getters broken, but the day's receipts came within a round $100 of the house record under the old combination vaudeville-picture policy, at a higher scale of prices.

There is nothing extraordinary about this. "The Animal Kingdom" is that kind of picture—especially for the upper levels of fandom, to which there is such a thing as psychological as well as physical drama.

And have you noticed the box-office queues composed of those eager to secure seats for Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner's week of Dramatic Sequences and Character Sketches at the National?

The Capital seems to be intent upon preserving its reputation for providing the most discriminating audiences to be found anywhere in these more or less United States!

Word that comes hot off the wire from Cleveland, where the play opened on Monday night to S. R. O. business and the enthusiastic acclaim of a capacity audience indicates that in "Design for Living," the new comedy to be seen at the National the week of January 16, Noel Coward has delivered himself of another hit.

This vehicle for the distinguished talents of the author and his close friends and no less distinguished artists, Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt, may be said to have been a decade in the writing, since it has been about that long since the idea was first broached that it would be a fine thing if Mr. Coward should do precisely what he now has done—write a play in which all three might appear.

The message which I have before me states in part as follows:

"The play, which opens on a Parisian scene, then moves to London and ends in New York, was revealed as a 'dramatic' comedy in which Coward, Lunt and Miss Fontanne portrayed three unusual persons brought together by circumstance, only to find that they had come to love each other very much.

"Each of the men, in turn, paired with the girl, and in each case the characters discovered their love for each other was stronger than the love of either couple. As Coward wrote it, and as it was played, it emerged by subtle means from the stereotyped 'triangle' situation."

For further information, as far as we are concerned, it will be necessary to wait until the morning of January 17.

And, by the way, just how much longer are you going to keep lighting up that Christmas tree anyhow?

GOODMAN WINS DULL BOUT WITH STETZ ON POINTS

Colonial Five Is Host to N. C. State

Short Passes to Feature Game Tonight on G. W. Floor.

Noonan Gets Chance as Substitute for Burgess.

THE short-pass system of basket ball will reach a high expression tonight at George Washington University's form-fitting gymnasium when the lanky and somewhat lackadaisical Colonials lope around the court in unison with North Carolina State's team. This is the first note of an active week-end of basket ball for District teams. Tonight's game starts at 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow night Catholic University takes on what is left of North Carolina and at the same time Georgetown plays Canisius in Buffalo. Georgetown continues its trip northward with games against Colgate and N. Y. U. on Friday and Saturday.

American U., Old Liners on Trip.

American University plays Virginia Medical Friday night at Richmond and Maryland takes on an ancient rival in V. P. I. at Lexington on Saturday night. Gallaudet plays Lynchburg at Tech High on Saturday night.

All that is known of North Carolina State's team is that it plays about the same kind of basket ball G. W. plays. Its boys are not as big, but the Colonials knew after the Missouri game that stature hadn't much to do with caliber in basket ball.

Big Bill Noonan, former all-high center while with Eastern High, gets a break tonight when he is injected into the starting G. W. line-up in place of Forrest Burgess, regular forward, who has been benched for the game in respect to certain Southern Conference rules concerning the eligibility of transfer students. Noonan has been pining away on the bench most of the season to date and if anxiety has anything to do with basket ball greatness he should startle the cramped burghers tonight at G. W.'s unpalatial basket ball foundry.

Names do not mean particularly much in the case of visiting college basket ball teams, but N. C. State is manned by a quintet composed of Jimmy Brown and Ralph Johnson, forwards; Gilbert Clark and Allen Nelms, guards, and George Beaghen, center. Subs are Bob McQuage, guard; Woodrow Lambeth and Frank Partel, forwards; LeRoy Jay, center, and Ray Rex and Don Dixon, a couple of alliterative auxiliaries.

G. W. will present, besides Noonan, the customary line-up of Parrack, forward; Hertzler, center, and Capt. Zahn and Chambers, guards.

Stagg Progressing Against Pneumonia

Dr. Rohde, His Former Pupil, Says Veteran Coach Shows Impatience.

New York, Jan 3 (A.P.).—Seventy-one years old, but as impatient with his illness as a youngster, Amos Alonzo Stagg, retiring football coach at the University of Chicago, tonight was progressing satisfactorily with his campaign against influenza and bronchial pneumonia.

The congestion in Stagg's chest is clearing up, his physician, former football pupil, Dr. Max Rohde, reported and if he continues to improve he should be out of danger in two or three days.

Dr. Rhode chuckled as he reported that the "Old Man of the Midway" was not a very patient patient and had become quite provoked with the nurses who intercepted his telephone calls and stopped visitors short of his door.

"He doesn't seem to realize," Dr Rohde said, "that he is a very sick man, and instructed his nurse that they were to put through all telephone calls directly to his bedside.

"Of course we can't do that, nor have I allowed any visitors, although Fred Nichols, who played football and baseball for Stagg back in 1900, did manage to get in to see him for a few minutes."

Crowder Envisions Pennant For Nats in 1933 Campaign

Mound Ace Asserts Remodeled Club Can Beat Yanks.

ALVIN CROWDER.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—After throwing in a couple of "ifs" and a few other qualifying statements, Alvin Crowder has arrived at the conclusion that the Washington club will probably be the next champion of the American League.

Crowder, "General" to the big league baseball fans, is the right-handed pitching ace of the Nats and claims to speak with authority.

"I haven't passed an opinion on the prospects for Washington winning the pennant, for I don't know," he began, as he stretched himself out in a chair in his cafe here and began to consider the situation.

The more he thought, however, the better things began to look.

Hitting and Pitching Strengthened.

"The new men are all good ball players," he allowed, "but I don't know what they'll do next summer.

"But," and here he broke into a broad smile, "if they all reach top form and show what they have shown in the past there won't be much to the race, as we'll win.

"Sure, the hitting and the pitching both have been strengthened by recent trades. Schulte, who is slated to play center field, is not the fielder West is, but he is a longer hitter and has more power. Goslin is as good a fielder as Reynolds, whom he will replace in right, and should drive in 25 more runs than Reynolds during a season.

"New York is the club the Nats will have to beat to win the pennant.

"I don't see how Philadelphia can do much without Simmons, Dykes and Haas. The loss of these men can not be filled by replacements quickly.

"Neither do I look to Chicago for big things and I think they'll have a hard fight to head the second division. Simmons won't be the ball player at Chicago with a losing club he was with Philadelphia.

"Washington, if things work out right, has the club to go places in the American League race."

The General, a native of Winston Salem, has been here all winter, hunting and resting. He and Mrs. Crowder live at their home a few miles from the city and he comes to town daily to look after his cafe interests.

He has not yet received his contract from Washington but says he is 'not worrying" about that. He will remain here until spring training starts.

Crowley Due To Coach at Fordham

Asks Release From Michigan State to Accept New Post.

Succeeds Cavanaugh by Signing for 3 Years at $11,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Fordham University tonight announced the engagement of James H. Crowley, of Michigan State, as head football coach.

Jack Coffey, graduate manager of athletics at Fordham, who made the announcement, said Crowley had signed a three-year contract. His first assistant will be Glen Carberry, captain of the Notre Dame team of 1922.

Coffey's statement follows:

"The authorities in charge of athletics at Fordham University announce the signing of James H. Crowley as head football coach. The contract specifies a period of three years. Crowley's first assistant will be Glen Carberry, captain of the Notre Dame team of 1922. Announcement of other assistant coaches will be made by Crowley later."

Release From Michigan State Asked.

East Lansing, Mich., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Fordham University, whose football team fell before Michigan State College in one of last fall's major upsets, is going to get the services of James H. Crowley, who coached that Spartan team—if "Smiling Jim's" contract here can be adjusted.

Dr. Robert S. Shaw, president of Michigan State College, announced tonight that Crowley had asked to be released from his contract. He said Crowley had informed Fordham officials he would accept their offer if released here.

Crowley's contract at Michigan State, calling for a salary of $8,000 a year, has a year to run. Dr. Shaw was communicating today and tonight with members of the State board of agriculture, governing board of the college. He expected to have a further announcement tomorrow.

Fordham Offers Increase.

Dr. Shaw said Fordham had offered Crowley a "large increase" over his present salary at State, and that Michigan would make no effort to meet the difference in pay.

While the offer to Crowley was not made public, it was understood to be in excess of $11,000 a year.

It was the second successive year in which Michigan State faced the possibility of losing the man who is credited with rejuvenation of football here. Last year he was given a tempting offer from the University of Iowa, but eventually rejected it after weeks of negotiation.

Although the subject of material has not been publicly mentioned, it is known that Crowley would be pleased with the type and quantity of football players that Fordham will offer next season. New York fans have insisted that a potential national championship awaits Fordham's next coach.

Reports that Crowley was being considered for the Fordham job were spread soon after Michigan State defeated the Rams, 19 to 13, last fall.

Came to Michigan State 3 Years Ago.

Crowley came to Michigan State three years ago from the University of Georgia where he had coached since his graduation from Notre Dame. At Notre Dame he was a member of the "four horsemen" back field of the late Knute Rockne.

Crowley's playing success followed him to the coaching ranks. In his first year at State his team played Michigan to a scoreless tie and upset the powerful Colgate team. In 1931 his so-called "iron men" of the gridiron played Michigan to another scoreless tie. State went through its greatest season in seventeen years last fall, losing only to Michigan and defeating Syracuse, Fordham and Detroit.

Yost's Visit Here Stirs Grid Rumors

George Washington Seeking 1934 Contest With Michigan Eleven.

Fielding H. Yost, coach of the University of Michigan's football team, every time the team has a good year, stirred up the rumor barrel of Washington collegiate football yesterday during a sightseeing trip in the neighborhood. He conversed with Tommy Mills, deposed chieftain of Georgetown football, and also contacted Len Walsh, assistant coach of George Washington University, with a view to a Michigan-George Washington game here in 1934.

Interviewed after the interview, Tommy Mills scouted the notion that he will go to Michigan next season as coach, or one of the coaches, of football. The dynamic Mills and the courtly Yost have been close friends for years and yesterday's call was a reopening of friendly relations and nothing more, according to Mills.

The possibility of a 1934 game between George Washington and the present "national champions" (Dickinson system) appeared somewhat more tangible. Head Coach Jimmy Pixlee, ill for three or four days, said last night that he had discussed the situation with Yost at the New York meeting of football coaches a week ago. Pixlee assigned Len Walsh to speak with Yost with a full power of attorney.

Ruth Admits Probability Of "Cut"

Shouts Denial That $25,000 Is Size of Slash.

Willing to Listen to Reason; Subject Not Yet Broached.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Babe Ruth is likely to take another cut in salary this year, but on the word of the Babe himself as well as his boss, Col. Jacob Ruppert, any suggestion that it amount to as much as $25,000 is entirely unfounded and the purest kind of speculation.

"Hey, what's that? Twenty-five thousand off? That's away, away too much!" shouted Ruth over a telephone from a nearby golf course when the Associated Press informed him a copyrighted afternoon newspaper story had suggested the Yankees were preparing to cut the slugger's salary from $75,000 to $50,000 for the new year.

Will Listen to Reason, Says Babe.

"Have you and the colonel talked figures at all?" he was asked.

"No, but I don't think we will have any trouble about coming to terms again. I won't feel so good about taking a cut at all, but I'll listen to reason. I had a pretty good year, so did the Yankees and the colonel has always been fair enough."

Ruth was joined by Col. Ruppert in saying neither had made any plans so far to discuss the 1933 salary matter. The Babe pointed out that the Yankees never sent him a contract by mail, along with the rest of the documents to the players, but preferred to settle affairs with him independently and, he might have added, with due ceremony.

"I have no idea what the figures will be in Ruth's contract or when they will be decided," Col. Ruppert said. "Furthermore I have not seen Ruth, talked with him or heard from him since the last game of the world series in Chicago."

$60,000 Reckoned As Minimum.

Along baseball row, where the World-Telegram's special story served to touch off the annual Ruthian salary ballyhoo, the consensus was that the Babe will not sign for less than $60,000 or $65,000 for the 1933 season. The Babe may accept a lower figure if given a longer term contract, but Ruppert last winter established a policy of not signing Ruth now for more than one season at a time. He plans to stick to this policy.

The Yankees offered Ruth $70,000 last year, but finally compromised with him at $75,000. This was a cut of $5,000 from the Babe's salary peak of $80,000 for the seasons of 1930-31.

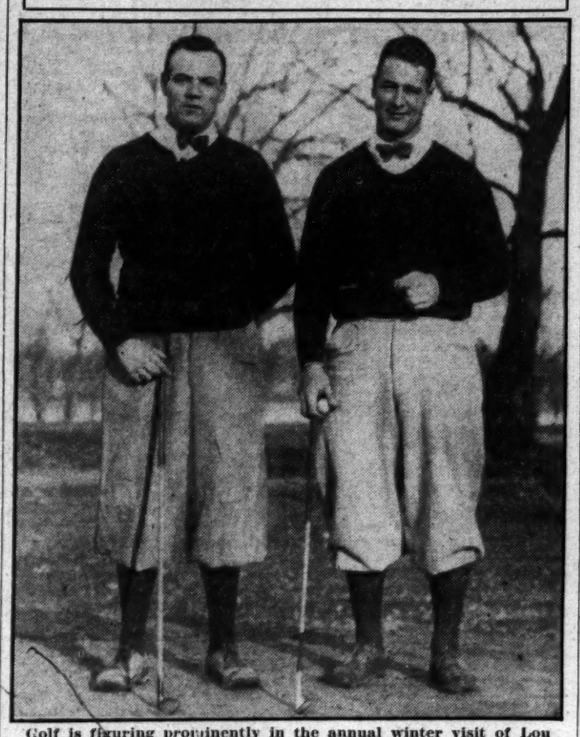

In thirteen consecutive seasons with the Yankees, Ruth has collected exactly $757,500 in salary checks. His first year's pay of $20,000, for the 1920 season, was quadruped in a decade of sensational hitting exploits.

Nationals Sell Catcher Phelps to Atlanta Club

Ernest Gordon Phelps, utility Nat catcher whose gastronomical feats all but paralleled those established by Irving Hadley, finally ate himself out of the American League, Clark Griffith announced yesterday by selling the personable young Marylander down the river to Atlanta.

Phelps is an Odentown, Md., boy, 25 years old, who was corralled by Griffith as a free agent. He was optioned ot Hagerstown, then Chattanooga, and released to Youngstown, the Nats' ranking No. 2 proving grounds. He had been alternating between first and the catcher's box. At Youngstown he stuck to first base, played 134 games and batted .373, a mark which included 25 home runs.

Lou Gehrig on Capital Links

Golf is figuring prominently in the annual winter visit of Lou Gehrig (right) to the Capital. He is pictured with Fred Buchholz on the East Potomac Park public links yesterday. The Yankee slugger each year visits Buchholz for several weeks of golf and duck shooting at nearby hunting grounds.

PLANS AFOOT FOR D. C. ICE HOCKEY

Clark Griffith Asked to Build Rink and Pack Team.

THE possibility that Washington would enter a team in the Tri-State Ice Hockey League, which is made up of teams from Baltimore, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, loomed yesterday when Clark Griffith, owner of the Nationals, admitted that he had been approached by Baltimore interests with a view to his backing a District team.

The entrance of a Washington team would necessitate the building of an ice rink, and Griffith has promised to consider the matter of erecting a suitable building in the vicinity of the ball park with a seating capacity of 5,000. It would be open to the public for skating between games. However, Griffith assured last night that no definite steps had been taken, nor would be taken for some time to come.

Tri-State League Amateur.

The Tri-State Ice Hockey League is an amateur concern, made up largely of former college hockey players. The matches draw as many as 5,000 spectators in Baltimore and sometimes more in Philadelphia and Atlantic City. The public ice skating is not being overlooked either, for there are reported to be several hundred Washingtonians who regularly patronize Baltimore rinks in quest of their favorite sport.

Griffith is believed to have considered erecting a rink on the ball park field, but gave up the notion.

Washington has not had an ice skating rink in 37 years. The last one covered the huge area of the second floor of Convention Hall, now given over to bowling alleys. The ice, at that time, was frozen by means of the ice house that was next door (later an armory and now a storehouse), but the rink went the way of all flesh after a year's operation because concessionaires of market stalls on the ground floor would no longer tolerate working in zero temperatures.

GUN CLUB MEETS.

The Washington Gun Club will hold its annual meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the offices of President Parker Cook, in the International Building, 1319 F street northwest. The principal business of the meeting will be election of club officers for the ensuing year.

CENTRAL 75-11 VICTOR OVER ST. JOHN'S

Cadets No Match for Foes, Who Win 12th Game in Row.

CENTRAL scored one of the most decisive scholastic basket ball victories ever recorded here when it swamped St. John's beneath an avalanche of field goals to win by a score of 75 to 11 in a weird game played at Central.

The powerful Blue warriors looked a trifle stale in the first half, despite the fact that the period ended with the Cadets on the short side of a 35-to-5 count.

Second Team Good, Too.

Coggins sent the second team into action midway in the third quarter but there was no appreciable decline in Central scoring.

The victory represents Central's twelfth in a row, and the score sends the team's total for the season to 611 a record.

It was the final appearance of the Mount Pleasant aggregation until its debut in the public high school series Friday, when it meets Eastern.

Mount Rainier 115-pounders beat the Roamers last night, 36 to 30.

Threat to Halt Fight Spurs Boxers

Virginia Lightweight Gains Split Verdict by Fast Finish.

Bashara Wins From Manley; Lowry Beats Raspi.

TAKING heed of Referee Charlie Short's threat to stop the fight and call it "no contest" in the sixth round, Joey Goodman, Richmond lightweight, unloosed a closing attack that carried him to victory over Tony Stetz, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., last night at Portner's Arena, Alexandria, before 1,500 witnesses to the comparatively dull eight-round match.

The verdict was booed. Referee Short and Judge Denny Hughes gave the Virginian the decision, while George King, another of the judges, called the bout a draw.

Goodman finished strong. In the last two rounds, he piled up points with whipping rights and lefts to Stetz's jaw and face. Midway of the seventh he pumped three lefts and a right to Stetz's body, hurting the Pennsylvania coal miner.

Staggers Stetz in Last Round.

Goodman, however, waited until the eighth to show his best form. Here he came out fast, and after tying up Stetz, broke away and milled at a furious pace. He was all over the southpaw. A well-timed left found its mark on Stez's jaw and the Pennsylvanian almost dropped for a count. Before the round was over Goodman smeared Stez's face with rights and lefts, cutting his left eye, which puffed rapidly.

Spectators who had witnessed three slam bang bouts before the feature battle booed the fighters throughout. Referee Short broke Goodman and Stetz apart in the sixth and announced that if the two did not show a willingness to mix it better he would stop the fight.

Scrapping for the first time since he returned from the Pacific Coast a few months ago, Goodman appeared to be in good shape. Stetz was the aggressor and was ahead going into the fourth. He started after Goodman in the first round and pummeled him time and again on the body Goodman was cool throughout and showed good footwork and ring form, but was sadly off in his timing and missed repeatedly with his right.

Bashara Hammers Manley.

Tootsie Bashara stole the show. The 133-pounder from Norfolk, Va., substituted for Buster Dundee, almost murdered Roy Kid Manley, of Arkansas, who was 6 pounds heavier, in the eight-round semiwind-up. Bashara's powerful right-hand wallops almost had Manley out in the sixth and eighth, but the southpaw puncher hung on gamely. Bashara carried the fight from the start. He won the decision unanimously.

Bob Lowry, 134-pounder, maintained his winning streak with a unanimous six-round verdict over Young Raspi, of Baltimore, in a bruising encounter. Barefoot Green, Fred-

RING FINALE SEEN FOR SHARKEY

To Fight Once More, Retire With Title, Is Belief.

NEW YORK, Jan 3 (U.P.).—Dwellers in Cauliflower alley believe Jack Sharkey will retire with his heavyweight crown after one easy title defense this summer.

The big Lith planned to quit the ring after one defense even before he won the championship. He admitted that to this writer and others at Orangeburg before wresting the belt from Max Schmeling. Now, the Madison Square Garden-Schmeling feud has paved the road for a graceful fade-away.

Jack has plenty of money. Admittedly about $700,000. Strangely enough he detests the fighter's life; he is smart enough to know it's about time to quit, and because of his personal pride and his respect for wife and family. He'd like the permanent title, "retired undefeated heavyweight champion."

Never Was Choosy About Foes.

Sharkey would have fought Schmeling this June if the German slugger hadn't balked at the Garden's terms and gone in with Jack Dempsey for a bout with Max Baer. It can be said to the champion's credit that he's never been choosy about his opponents. The Harry Wills affair was a case in point.

Although he won the title fairly from Schmeling, Jack admitted today at St. Nicholas gymnasium, while watching Ernie Schaaf train for Stanley Poreda, that the German slugger had an excellent chance "to polish me off last year when I had that bad eye." But he didn't do it.

Most boxing experts believe Schmeling would have beaten the gob, possibly by a knockout, if he had made a slugging match of their last bout instead of playing into Sharkey's hands by trying to outbox him.

Other Challengers Are "Set-ups."

Fight followers believe Sharkey also knows this very well and that he is greatly relieved that Schmeling will not be his opponent this year. Either Stanley Poreda, Ernie Schaaf or Primo Carnera, the three remaining probable opponents, should be a comparative "set-up" for the champion.

Sharkey will carry out his contract with the Garden for a fight before the end of June; will keep his word about giving some challenger a crack at the title, and then will retire with flying colors.

WEST TEAM LAUDED BY KERR

Eastern All-Stars Entrain for Home After Defeat.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Football stars who hit the touchdown trail for charity here yesterday were headed homeward today, leaving behind the memories of one of the most thrilling games ever played for the benefit fund of the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital.

West defeated East, 21-13, to make it five victories for the forces from the Western half of the continent in the eight games played since 1925.

Forty-five thousand fans acclaimed the gridiron brilliance of three Western ball carriers, Hank Schaldach, of California, and the two University of Texas boys, Harry Stafford and Buck Koy.

Schaldach's Play Outstanding.

Schaldach's contribution was all three touchdowns and the extra points by place kick. In addition, the speedy California halfback turned in the most spectacular runs of the game.

Stafford's great defensive play in knocking down Eastern passes checked many threats from the air. The Texan intercepted three passes made by Harry Newman, Michigan quarter back, who starred for the East. In each case Stafford bobbed up to snag the ball just when the Eastern receiver apparently was in position for a clear run to the goal. Koy's line smashing in the second half was a big factor in the yardage drive of the West.

Andy Kerr, Colgate coach, who with Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, coached the Eastern squad, said today: "Our hats are doffed to the West. They had it. We had six scoring chances and capitalized only two. But it was the West's magnificent defense that stopped us. West had three scoring chances and made all of them good.

Western Line Has Edge On East's.

"We had the better of it in the first half. In the second half the tables were reversed. The Western line, as a unit, was superior to East's, something we had openly conceded from the start."

Newman and Paul Moss, Purdue end, two of the all-Americans listed in the Eastern line-up, turned in stellar games, while Pug Rentner, Northwestern half back, also stood out. Newman's broken field running and passing were high lights of the first half.

Catholic Colleges' Prowess On Grid Decried by Jurist

Special to The Washington Post.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 3.—A plea for recognition of Catholic institutions on the basis of their intellectual and religious achievements rather than for their prowess on the gridiron was launched here by Judge Thomas J. Collins, of Springfield District Court.

Judge Collins was the recipient of a confusing mixture of praise and criticism today, following his outspoken arraignment of football overemphasis at Catholic colleges.

His charges fell like bombshells on the ears of a large group of enthusiastic lay and clerical alumni of Catholic University, gathered here last night in their first joint western Massachusetts reunion.

Following are some excerpts from the Massachusetts jurist's address:

"The best service done Catholic education in this country recently can be credited to Coaches Howard Jones, of Southern California, and Jock Sutherland, of Pittsburgh, whose football teams beat the supposedly invincible Notre Dame eleven.

"Without intending any offense to Coach Arthur Bergman (Catholic University mentor and speaker last night), I hope Catholic University never becomes dominant on the football field, and I have been a football fan 24 years."

In the same vein, Judge Collins urged his listeners to remember that the Pope in Rome wants Catholic University to produce intellectuals who can carve out careers that will be a source of credit to their church, their country and their college. He decried what he believes to be a tendency at Catholic institutions to neglect religion for football.

"Notre Dame's gridiron success," he continued, "has caused people to associate football proficiency with Catholic colleges and to lose sight of the fact that our institutions are valuable seats of learning. Jones and Sutherland proved they have mighty football machines elsewhere than at Catholic colleges."

Others who spoke besides Judge Collins and Coach "Dutch" Bergman were the Rev. Dr. Maurice Sheehy, assistant to the Catholic University rector, and the Rev. Thomas A. McGovern.

Jockeys Lewis and Beck Each Ride Two Winners.

JEFFERSON PARK, New Orleans, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Jockey Melvin Lewis was in rare form here today. After taking the third purse astride Donate, the boy gave Shandon Farm's heavily played Grand Prince a strong ride to account for the featured Country Club purse in handy fashion. Flying Don was a like distance before Indicative for the place award. Grand Prince, paying $3.40, ran the 6 furlongs in 1:12 3-5.

The weather was quite warm and another good-sized crowd visited the Shrewsbury course to enjoy some keenly contested sport.

Grand Prince lacked the early foot to race with the leaders. The lightly regarded most wise cut out the running, closely attended by Ante Bellum. Indicative got out of close quarters and was in a contending position.

Grand Prince in Command At Finish.

Ante Bellum assumed command, straightening out for the stretch run and Flying Don moved into second place, but neither was a match for Grand Prince when that veteran answered Lewis' call, the Baby Grand gelding taking charge in the final furlong to win going away.

Good-thing players started the day right when King Pin, backed down to $4.60 for $2, led for the entire mile distance to take the first purse by a length and a half in handy style. Blue Darter, Wrench and Blue Damsel followed the winner across the wire noses apart as named. Wrench vainly tried to catch the leader, but King Pin was in rare form and under smooth handling held his field safe. Blue Damsel finished fastest of all.

Valley, the elderly mare, making her first local start, showed that she retains her former dash by taking a large field of sprinters into camp in the second event. Well handled by Monte Park, the veteran registered by a length and a half to return $8.80.

Red Vest Beats Letalone For Place.

Red Vest nosed Letalone out of the place, while the favorite, Vladimir, finished fourth after experiencing bad racing luck. Valley assumed command entering the stretch and was in hand the remainder of the trip.

Donate, paying $9, had all the foot of the field in the third event and was ridden out to score by a length and a half over Memphis Lass. The latter was a nose before Anne Arundel. Jockey Lewis sent Donate to the front right after a bad start, and the gelding never was in serious danger, although asked to give his best at the end to assure victory. Memphis Lass always was close up, but barely lasted to stave off the belated bid of Anne Arundel. Sally Irene stopped early.

Kilmore turned in a game effort to win the fourth race, a jaunt of a mile and 70 yards for 3-year-olds. The Pillory colt drove home by a length, while Volwood saved the place from Grimace by a length and a half. The winner, an even money shot, kept within striking distance of the leaders to the head of the stretch where Apprentice Calvert shot his mount through on the inside. Volwood, which had overtaken Palatine, was unable to cope with the winner's challenge.

Wrigley Field justified a heavy play in the sixth contest, scoring a handy length and a half victory over Happy Lad, returning $4.60. Pacheco lost the place by a neck. Took the track soon after the start and under snug handling held his field safe for speed the remainder of the mile and a furlong journey. Happy Lad was the chief contender all the way but was being hard pressed by Pacheco at the end for place honors.

The Break, paying $4.40, won the last race by three lengths, to give Apprentice Al Beck a double. Peace Lady took the place by the same margin from Boyish Bob.

West's Teams Predominate In Rose Bowl Grid Games

Trojans' Landslide Win Over Pittsburgh Is Eighth for Western Team Out of Thirteen Decisions, With Three Ties.

By STUART CAMERON.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3 (U.P.).—Tournament of Roses football glory belongs to the West.

The more one studies yesterday's 35-to-0 landslide of Southern California over Pittsburgh, along with the records of earlier Rose Bowl competition, the greater the margin of superiority appears.

Standing out are the figures which show that Far Western representatives have won eight games, teams from other sections five, and three games have been ties.

Never has a team from another section scored a smashing triumph to be compared with those stacked up by Southern California in the 1933 renewal or in the 1930 play when Pitt was the victim by a score of 47 to 14.

Alabama in Most Emphatic "Outside" Victory.

The most emphatic victory scored by an "outsider" was the 24-to-0 margin of Alabama over Washington State in 1931.

In all, teams from the "Old South" have won three of the five "outside" victories, and the others went to Harvard, which topped Oregon, 7-6, in 1920, and to Notre Dame, with a 27-10 victory over Stanford in 1925.

The 1933 game has become a large and outstanding headache for the folks from Pittsburgh. While U. S. C. was pregame favorite by 5-2 odds or on a margin of 12 points, Pitt was given more than an outside chance, and not even the most faint-hearted Pitt adherent contemplated the sporting slaughter that was accomplished by the men coached by Howard Harding Jones.

Today's big aftermath argument was over the score. There were those who insisted U. S. C. put on the brakes to save Pitt from additional humiliation. Thousands believed the score represented the true difference between the teams.

Pitt Not as Bad as Score Indicates.

This, however, seemed unlikely, for Pitt wasn't nearly as bad as the 35-0 figure implies. U. S. C. fully deserved to win and to win by three touchdowns. But once the fourth-period snowball started rolling down hill there was no stopping it.

A break that ordinarily would have been tough luck became a touchdown for U. S. C., and a bad pass from center paved the way for Southern California's well-oiled machine to rush through the Pitt line for another score.

Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt coach, refused to alibi for himself or for his men. His only contention was that the score was not a true indication of team difference.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: JEFFERSON PARK, JANUARY 3.

Last March I let him have a couple of bucks. Yes, sir, he was going to clean up at Bowie and pay off. The meeting was almost over when I met him again. I'll be in the money when they get to the Graw, was his line. At Havre de Grace, it was wait for Pimlico. After that, it was wait for Marlboro. Came across him down there at the water barrel, wiping the dust and perspiration off his brow. He was just getting a line on them then and waiting for the Graw. Then it was wait for Laurel, wait for Pimlico and wait for Bowie. I haven't seen him lately. Maybe he's waiting for a street car or a seven-day meeting at the Glen Echo merry-go-round. All of which gives me a chance to alibi by saying I'M WAITING FOR MIAMI. And aren't we all? BILL.

FIRST RACE—We might do worse in this than go to WINNIE C. She packs a certain amount of finishing ability that seems to fit in well with this field. WATCH GIRL gets in light and may cause trouble. RICCIARDO appears best of the others.

SECOND RACE—DONNY JOHNNY gets the Bennings stamp of approval in this sprint. This fellow has worked well, and his recent racing has been encouraging. BEGUILE may come out of the also eligibles to extend the top one. DEDICATE for the show.

THIRD RACE—BESS CLOI gets my call here. In well with 106 pounds and should make no mistakes from that inside post. Has shown her ability on previous occasions. K. RUSSELL and OVERBROOK to wage war for the place award.

FOURTH RACE—AUREBON seems to have an edge on this group of brand-new 3-year-olds. Carries light weight and may surprise at the longer route. IL TROVATORE for the place and LADY MORRIS to show.

FIFTH RACE—WHIPPERCRACKER seems well placed here and will have LA SALLE to beat, in my opinion. DURVA would move up to the top in mud.

SIXTH RACE—Here's my old pal, DROMBO, all rigged out with 115 pounds and a bug, indicating that an apprentice will do the riding. If he can jockey at all, DROMBO should ring up another victory. LERACK and CHAT EAGLE for the rest.

SEVENTH RACE—HARUM SCARUM drops back and will like this 1¼ miles. BARITONE finished strongly the other day and should be second ahead of PRINCE RENO.

Boxing Bits Hereabouts

HEAVYWEIGHTS will be coming into their own along the local fistic horizon soon.

A promise has come from Promoter Frankie Mann that Les Kennedy, Montana giant who clubbed Bob Godwin into defeat recently, will be brought back this month for a shot at Donald Red Barry, Washington's young heavyweight star. Famed for his right, Kennedy convinced Portner fight fans that he knew also how to flourish his left effectively. Fast afoot and greatly improved, Barry would make Kennedy step lively.

Another big boy who hopes to bound back into winning stride is Bob Tow, 190-pound Birmingham, Ala., heavyweight, who recently placed himself under Jimmy Erwin's wing. Due to an injured ear received in a bout a few months ago with Joe Knight at Twin City, Tow was forced to lay off the ring. Tow kept in condition by working ten hours a day in a Clarendon garage.

Tow holds victories over Marty Gallagher, George Neron, Tommy Davenport, Tommy Ryan, Wid Mathews, Dewey Kimrey, Ray Swanson, Bob Lawson and Kayo Brown. Fast and shifty and a good puncher, the Southerner has unusually fine ring form.

Erwin reports that Tow, who is 6 feet 3 inches, is working out daily and is ready for a return match with Marty Gallagher, who lost to him last summer at Twin City. Gallagher, whose match with Carnera fell through, is anxious to show before local boxing fans.

There is a possibility that W. L. (Young) Stribling, a cousin of Bob Godwin, may appear in this section in the near future. Stribling soon will be back from his triumphant tour of Australia and, no doubt, will be glad to pick up the extra change.

Frankie Fullam, former Catholic University ring star, unbeaten in his thirteen professional fights, writes from New York that he is down to 163 and is ready for any middleweight.

Fullam has been working hard to develop a strong punch. When he can do that, he will find his services very much in demand, for he possesses splendid ring generalship and is one of the most scientific boxers Washington has seen in recent years.

Friends of Eric Lawson, Virginia middleweight, will be glad to learn that he has piled up an impressive string of victories in a tour of the Southland. Lawson will be drifting up this way before long and, naturally, will want work.

The depression has hit the boxing game. Even the big shots of the game are hard up for work in the ring and are taking a percentage chance on gates in small cities. Maxie Rosenbloom is an example of a champion who loves to keep fighting. He goes from one city to another, realizing that big matches in New York and Chicago are scarce. Rosenbloom showed three times around this section. Pete Sanstol, second ranking bantamweight, picked up a few hundred fighting Benny Schwartz. Sanstol is coming back, this time against Jimmy Mack.

Frankie Genaro, former world's flyweight champion, whose trip to Paris last year was a disastrous one, will make his bow at Portner's this month against Joe Fino, Mexican bantamweight champion. Genaro has been active since 1920, and still has a punch and color. Yet a boxer can not live on his riches of the past, if he has none. Therefore, he must accept the little gates as well as big ones.

JUDSON SEEN MAT VICTOR TOMORROW

Dusek Likely Victim in Build-Up of New District Hero.

WASHINGTON goes back on the leer standard tomorrow night at the Washington Auditorium when rough Rudy Dusek offers his chassis to the good of the cause of Frank Judson, new darling of Washington's mat audiences. Four other bouts will complete the show, the first growl of which will be audible at 8:30 o'clock.

Rudy has not been wrestling very often of late. He will work only three or four times this week before meeting Judson, barely enough to keep himself free of dust clouds before his great match with Judson tomorrow night.

Dusek Builder of Game Here.

If any bouquets must be thrown to the person who built wrestling up to a high level of entertainment and prosperity in Washington, most of the blame, or the glory, belongs to Rudy Dusek. The tough Bohemian is the hardest worker of the whole bunch of bruisers. He musses up his own hair with the most venomous leer outside of Edward G. Robinson's and wades into his opponents with the most sincerity you can find in rassling.

He'll probably lose.

Judson was given a decision over Dusek some weeks ago in a 30-minute bout in which Rudy played the part of the villain and Frank the virtuous hero.

Other bouts: Ray Steele vs. Son Jennings, Herman Hickman vs. Joe Cox, Tiger Nelson vs. Johnny Hurley and Tiny Ruff vs. John Maxos.

Olympic Diving Champ To Award Meet Medals

COURT TESTS TODAY FOR EASTERN

Plays Emerson This Afternoon, Boys Club Tonight.

EASTERN goes into action today for the last time before the opening of the championship series Friday with a double-header listed for the Lincoln Parkers. Emerson tackles the Light Blue at Eastern at 3:30 o'clock and at 8:15 Eastern visits the Boys Club for a return battle with Harry Child's improved quintet.

Coach Mike Kelley intends to try a new combination today, seeking the most capable quintet to send against Central's highly touted courtmen Friday. The Boys' Club battle should be a sizzler. Eastern won the first engagement by a comfortable margin. Since then the Clubmen have copped seven straight and seem to be hitting their best clip at this time.

Emerson Should Test Eastern.

An accurate line on the true caliber of the Lincoln Parkers should be obtained against Emerson, which is just swinging into its full stride. Mike Scanlon and Fred Scheele will be the forwards for Coach Sanborn's team. "Horse" Brown will be at the tap-off position, with Swift and Willison attending to the guarding.

Coach Lynn Woodworth is optimistic about Roosevelt's chances against Western in the first half of the twin bill which will inaugurate the series. The Bears have not played up to par in any game thus far, but there are hopeful signs that the boys may find themselves in time to win a couple of games.

Union Printers Bow To Bolling Five, 32-20

Rallying in the final period, after trailing its opponent three-quarters of the distance, Bolling Field defeated the Union Printers, 32 to 20, in the opening game of the Government league last night. The Investigation-Crop Production tilt was postponed until tonight.

With Tuck Dalglish in the driver's seat, the Printers ran up a 17-to-10 lead on the Airmen in the first half. This lead was erased in the last period when Bolling Field, headed by Echert, came from behind with a bombardment on the hoops.

K. C. TEAMS BUSY.

The Knights of Columbus 115-pound quintet will meet the Petworth Pennants Thursday night at 7 o'clock on the Casey's floor. An hour later the K. C. 145-pounders play the Eagles. A game is wanted for the same evening at 7 o'clock by the 85-pound team. Call Manager Reynolds at Metropolitan 9619, or Potomac 4464.

EAGLES VS. RENAISSANCE.

A lightning fast court melee is promised tonight at the New Masonic Temple auditorium, Tenth and U streets northwest, when the French Eagles, headed by Joe Sweeney, with whom will be associated "Bozie" Berger, Ralph Bennie and "Moon" Evans, will take on the Renaissance Five, of New York, for many years of championship caliber.

On the colored team will be "Fats" Jenkins, Eddie Saitch, Harold Meyers, Bill Slocum and "Tarzan" Cooper, and it is definitely promised that "Pappy" Ricks will also be seen in action.

ALOHA LITES SEEK GAMES.

Aloha Lites, 130-pounders, want a game for Saturday afternoon. Call Andy Mack, Lincoln 2450.

Community League Upset By Rhode Island Ave. Five

Atlas Bows, 28 to 25, as Enlarged Circuit Swings Into Action; D. & H., Investigation, Sholls, Clovers Also Score.

ONE upset, Rhode Island Avenue's 28-25 triumph over Atlas, was recorded as the enlarged Community Center League inaugurated its 1933 campaign before large audiences at two gymnasiums last night.

Delaware & Hudson, defending champion, was obliged to travel at top speed until the final whistle to stave off a determined Olmsted Grill team and win a 35-25 decision. Don Garber's 16 points and clever guarding by Heine Gubisch featured the game.

The only team which won without the aid of a brilliant individual performance was Investigation, which flattened the Drakes with its methodical work by a 37-15 score.

Bob Lucas, Bernie Jones and Johnny Sherman showed the way as Sholl's, A. A. U. unlimited champions massacred Swann's, scoring almost at will in a game that saw the score read 48-10 at the end.

Clover A. C. assumed a comfortable lead in the first half to trim the Millers, 48-30, in a thrill-picked tilt. Izzy Esenstadt was outstanding for the victors, while "Milly" Reigleman's work at center was best for the losers.

The presence of Bill Payne, Fred Scheele and Mike Sinclair failed to save Atlas from a drubbing. Trailing by a 17-13 count at the half, Rhode Island staged a whirlwind finish and forged ahead to victory.

GRIDRANKING SYSTEM IS EXPLAINED

Prof. Dickinson Says Postseason Games Not Considered.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Prof. Frank G. Dickinson, of the University of Illinois, whose system of picking the national football champion has aroused a storm of controversy on the Pacific Coast because the University of Southern California was not chosen title holder, today explained why he could not change his decision giving the undefeated, untied Michigan eleven the 1932 championship.

Prof. Dickinson declared that postseason games never are figured in his ratings.

"If I lived on the Pacific Coast, it would be difficult for any one to convince me that the 1932 gridiron season ended several weeks ago, even before Thanksgiving for some colleges.

"Being a football fan, I would enjoy a good football game, no matter when or where it was played. Because postseason competition is denied most colleges by tradition and climate, it is obviously unfair to allow colleges in mild weather areas to win national honors. A Michigan-Colgate-Purdue series would have been interesting.

January Football Is Different.

"Having witnessed the 1929 and the 1932 Rose Bowl games, I am convinced that teams do not play November football in January.

"Although it is somewhat paradoxical for me to exclude postseason games and in the same paragraph give my ideas regarding the effect of yesterday's splendid and surprisingly decisive victory upon the Trojans' national rating, I will answer it. Howard Jones knew on December 14 that victory in yesterday's game would add enough 'points' to place U. S. C. at the top rating if I would include postseason games.

"Also, Washington State would have become one of the first eleven teams.

Reds Sell Richbourg To Rochester Team

Cincinnati, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Lance Richbourg, an outfielder, and Al Eckert, a southpaw pitcher, were sold outright by the Cincinnati Reds of the National League today to Rochester of the International League. The amount involved was not revealed.

Richbourg came to the Reds a few weeks ago in the trade that sent Babe Herman to the Chicago Cubs. At that time, Cincinnati officials admitted there was every possibility that he would be traded to another club.

Eckert has been Red property for years, but has been farmed out to Columbus and Rochester during most of his service. He came to Cincinnati from Peoria.

Hitting the Headpin

YOUNG duckpin stars of the District and Maryland will have their innings Saturday when the junior and boys' titles of each territory will be decided.

Future greats will match skill at Rendezvous in the junior title match, which will start at 2:30 o'clock. Bob Fookes, winner of the preliminary trials at Lucky Strike, is favored to cop the highest award on the strength of his scores in the trials when he rolled two sets aggregating 720 pins. Fookes appears to have the natural skill and temperament that makes for champions.

But the people's choice and favorite will be "Ouncie" Harrison, who has outgrown his nickname by several pounds. Young Harrison is the third of a well-known trio of bowling brothers, and though he has his task cut out for him, the lad may shine more brilliantly in the bowling firmament than the older members of the family. "Ouncie" represents Arcadia.

There are others who must be reckoned with in the championship competition, all good boys who battled through a host of other youngsters to gain a place in the finals. Abe Singer, Al Baer, Nick Rinaldi and Morris Niedorf round out the list of qualifiers.

Only four are entered in the boys' championship, which starts promptly at 2:30 o'clock at Arcadia, but they are the best in their class. Bob Chalfonte, who probably will go to the post a favorite, representing Columbia; Earl Cowan, of Arcadia; Bob Howard, Rendezvous, and Julian Kramer, Convention Hall, are entered.

Recreation Alleys, Baltimore, will be the scene of both the junior and boy championship matches of Maryland. Competition will start at 2:30 o'clock. Rodman Harrison and Carroll Hohman are the only entrants for the boy crown, while there are four contenders for junior honors. Orlando Price, William Banes, Lawrence Pugh and Paul Lehman comprise the junior contingent.

Individual honors in Washington Post League at Lucky Strike were accorded Hill, who turned in a 139 game and 362 set. Agates finished with a 1,480 set, while Ionics took game honors on the strength of their 526 effort.

Charley Walson is back at his old tricks again. He led the Columbia Heights League with a 157 game and 407 set last night at Arcadia. Ford Electric bagged team honors with 642 and 1,806.

Results of the Lutheran Men's League tournament show Robert Thompson, of Incarnation, the winner with a 360 total. Two pins behind is Gilbert Hazell, of St. John's, with 358. Tom Scrivener's 356 enabled him to place third for Incarnation, while Frank Heimrich, of Nativity, was fourth with 353.

Harry Frankhauser rolled 349 and Walter Maholm turned in a 133 game to lead the Postoffice Department League last night at Columbia. The Whites won team honors with 563 and 1,579.

Betty Dugan's 136 and Anita Matthews' 348 were high in the Washington Ladies' League at Columbia. Columbians rolled a 1,508 set, while the Bee Ques pounded out a 535 game.

Al Keller's 141 game and "Dutch" Dennie's 336 set copped the prizes in Section C, Holy Name League, at Petworth. Holy Trinity won team laurels with its 543 and 1,498.

Chocolate to Risk Title With British Feather

New York, Jan. 3 (U.P.).—Three bouts, one of which will involve a world's championship, were announced today by Madison Square Garden.

The title tilt will come on January 15, when Kid Chocolate, of Cuba, featherweight titleholder, will risk his crown against Seaman Watson, of England.

On January 13 Ben Jeby, of New York, and Frank Battaglia, of Winnipeg, middleweights, will mix in a 15-round engagement. Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden head, said he would ask the New York State Boxing Commission to recognize the winner of this battle as the world's champion.

D. & H. Seeks Game.

Due to a cancellation by Sholl's, Delaware & Hudson is without a game for tonight. The team has a gym. Teams interested should call manager Buckley at Potomac 1931-J.

POLISH FIVE WOULD PLAY.

Dixie Polish courtmen trounced the Grace Church five, 33 to 24, in a fast game last night. For games with the winners, call Manager Bob McCormack at Lincoln 2394.

FANS MOURN GLEASON'S DEATH

Coach of A's One of Last of Baseball's "Old School."

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The death of William (Kid) Gleason, one of baseball's well-known figures, was mourned today by hundreds of fans, his comrades of the Athletics, and his life-long friend, Connie Mack.

From many States came telegrams of condolence and regret over the passing of the diamond's "Happy Warrior," who for 21 years had been a major league ball player and formerly was manager of the Chicago White Sox.

One of the last survivors of the "old school" of baseball, Gleason died yesterday at the home of his only child, Mrs. Mamie Robb. He had lived with Mrs. Robb since his wife, Mrs. Annie Gleason, died in 1928. He was 67 years old.

First Stricken Last Spring.

Coach of the Athletics since 1926, he was stricken with heart disease shortly before the team went to Florida for spring training last February.

When the Athletics returned here to open the season "The Kid" attempted to resume his work, but his physician refused to permit him to put on a uniform. Thereafter he was seen at Shibe Park only occasionally. Since October he had been confined to his bed most of the time.

Gleason acquired the nickname "Kid" when he first joined the old Phillies. He wore his cap cocked at an angle, and was ever ready to exchange banter with players, umpires or fans.

Funeral arrangements will be announced, friends said, when his five surviving brothers and sister arrive here.

Bachman Definitely Out as Florida Coach

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Charles Bachman, head football coach at the University of Florida for five seasons, passed definitely out of the Gator coaching picture today when the State board of control accepted his resignation and directed President John J. Tigert to recommend a new coaching staff.

The decision was made in executive session. In accepting Bachman's resignation, which was tendered December 19, the board of control adopted a resolution declaring "it is the opinion of the board that the best interests of the University of Florida and the State would be served by the employment of an entirely new football coaching staff."

A movement had been under way by a group of alumni and supporters to have Bachman retained and given a new contract.

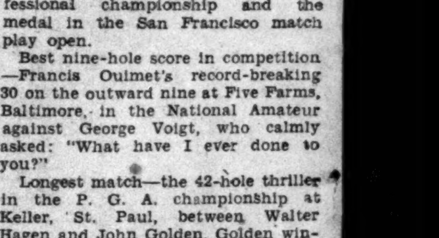

No mention was made by members of the board of a probable successor.

GOODMAN OUTPOINTS STETZ IN DULL FIGHT

ereicksburg light-heavyweight, crossing his legs as he sat down in his corner after entering the ring, won a technical knockout over Bob Hollingsworth, Alexandria athelete, in the first round. Green, in a heated exchange, butted his opponent in the right eye, inflicting a wound a half an inch deep. Refereee Short stopped the fight after 40 seconds had ticked by.

Leroy Dougan, of Arkansas, opened the card with a unanimous four-round decision over Joe Schwartz, 125-pounder of Baltimore. Schwartz took the count of eight twice in the second round.

SUPERLATIVES of 1932 golf:

The greatest finish to win a major championship — Gene Sarazen's 66 in the national open at Fresh Meadow.

The smartest 18-hole round for women—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare's 69 over the 6,100-yard, men's-par-70 Huntington Valley Country Club course in the Berthellyn Cup tournament final. The score was only two over the course record.

The greatest sustained attack on par—Olin Dutra's record of 516 holes in 39 shots under par in a competitive tournament match that gave him the Metropolitan and Chicago North Shore open titles, the national professional championship and the medal in the San Francisco match play open.

Best nine-hole score in competition —Francis Ouimet's record-breaking 30 on the outward nine at Five Farms, Baltimore, in the National Amateur against George Voigt, who calmly asked: "What have I ever done to you?"

Longest match—the 42-hole thriller in the P. G. A. championship at Keller, St. Paul, between Walter Hagen and John Golden, Golden winning with a 10-foot putt on the final green. The match broke the former record for long distance match play scheduled for 36 holes, established in 1920 at Roslyn, Long Island, where Chick Evans beat Reggie Lewis in 40.

Most conscientious caddy—Johnny Bozi, of St. Paul, caddy for Al Collins, Kansas City "dark horse," in the P. G. A. championship. Familiar with every blade of grass on the championship Keller layout, Johnny directed virtually every shot for Collins, running to and fro to study the latest whims of the wind and studying every putt.

When Collins finally lost in a semi-final overtime match, Johnny sobbed unashamed and blamed himself for missing the fatal putt.

Stocks Begin 1933 Trading With Dullness and Losses

Drops Average Half Point as Sales Dwindle to 489,810 Shares.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Financial markets extended a lukewarm greeting to the new year today.

On the stock exchange shares edged downward in very dull trading. Net losses averaged into a fraction, compared with a drop of more than 2 points in the first session of last year. Trading on January 2, 1932, was much more active, sales for the Saturday aggregating 772,440 shares, against today's five-hour volume of 489,710, the smallest since October 31.

Formal announcement of cigarette price cuts by leading manufacturers found shorts in the tobacco shares ready to cover and that group finished higher. Other major divisions, however, suffered from the absence of speculative interest which was the market's chief feature and with professionals unwilling to assume much of a position the general list eased, especially toward the close when the lowest prices were reached.

Some Heavier Declines.

In some instances, specifically New York Central, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe and Case, net declines amounted to a point or so, but for U. S. Steel common, American Can, Du Pont, National Biscuit, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, General Electric, Southern Pacific and International Harvester the dip from Saturday's close approximated half a point.

American Tobacco B was up 1⅜ net, while Liggett & Myers B firmed a large fraction.

Wall street had many year-end reviews and statements to peruse, but found forecasts scarce. Commentators couple their notations of slackened deflation in 1932 with reminders that tough problems remained to make the 1933 outlook somewhat obscure, mentioning prominently in this connection such national uncertainties as congressional programs and the extent to which debt readjustments might have to go.

Real Progress Seen.

The consensus seemed to be, however, that real progress toward stability had been made last year, even though interruptions were experienced.

Price cutting was announced in the oil as well as the tobacco industry, both reflecting competitive situations through the old specter, over production, had to be reckoned with in considering reductions by petroleum companies. However, measures now in force for control of oil output are regarded by many observers as promising a way out.

December average of steel production, said one trade review "was distinctly above the low of last August." This publication, American Metal Market, added that the trade was now convinced "it rounded the turn last summer" and that with the period of seasonal gain at hand "it is expected general business improvement will make such progress as to take up the slack of usual seasonal decrease in tonnage after April 1."

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading in South African gold mining shares was active on Cape Town, continental and local buying and prices in these issues advanced early but later turned irregular. The trading otherwise was moderate, transatlantic shares, oils and Argentina rails being slightly dearer. The closing was steady.

Paris—The bourse opened strong but suffered a serious setback on profit taking causing irregularity. During the later trading prices again developed strength under the lead of oil shares and the closing was well sustained.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse were irregular and weaker on Far Eastern and internal political apprehensions. The closing showed very slight recovery.

BOND MARKET SAGS IN SPIRITLESS SALES

Some Activity Developed in Foreigns; Dealing Cut to $8,504,000.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Contrary trends today gave the inaugural 1933 bond market a rather ragged appearance while trading, except in a few issues, was markedly different.

Although most of the foreign section, notably the Germans and Austrians, moved forward at a spirited gait, and highest grade domestic loans held around their best levels for the past year or more, the secondary groups of all categories were highly irregular.

Sales totaled $8,504,000, par value, against $10,290,000 last Tuesday, and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds declined two-tenths of a point.

Trading in Germans.

The day's heaviest trading was in German International 5½s, which were up more than a point at 60⅜, compared with a low last year of 24¼. Virtually all of the other German government, municipal and corporate loans advanced over a range of 1 to 6 or more points.

Both Austrian government 7s were up 3⅜ to 8⅛ points following announcemtnt of the Bank for International Settlements that foreign funds would be provided for January 1 interest payments.

Other foreign gainers of 1 to 2 or more points included loans of Argentina, Antwerp City, Australia, Belgium, Bulgaria, Helsingfors, Hungary, Norway, Milan City, Japan, Czechoslovakia and Sweden. French 7s were up 2 point and the 7½s gained ⅞ of a point.

Quiet Strength Displayed.

In the domestic utilities and industrial divisions quiet strength was displayed by bonds of American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Detroit Edison, Duquesne Light, Hudson Coal, International Paper, Kansas City Power, Kresge Foundation, Metropolitan Edison, New York Edison, North American Edison and Union Electric Light.

Pressure was exerted against loans of American & Foreign Power, Amour & Co., Goodrich, International Telephone, Lehigh Valley Coal, Montana Power, Shell Union O", Skelly Oil, Texas Corporation, United Drug, and Utilities Power & Light. New Jersey Power 4½s gained 2 points in the most active trading of the domestic department.

The majority of the rails were heavy, despite the relatively favorable showing of freight car loadings for the week ended December 24. Losses of 1 to 2 or more points were suffered by some issues of Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Louisville & Nashville, Nickel Plate, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Southern, Wabash and Western Pacific.

Bonds of Chesapeake & Ohio, Canadian National, Atlantic Coast Line, International Great Northern, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico, Norfolk & Western and Union Pacific were firm.

The New York Stock Exchange announced interest defaults on Schulco 6½s, Hungarian Municipal 7½s, Wisconsin Central 4s, three of the Central of Georgia 5s and Frisco 4s and 5s of 1950. Lehigh Valley Coal 4s and 5s defaulted on principal but not interest, while Pressed Steel Car convertible 5s defaulted on both interest and principal.

Alaska Returns to Piling Up Nation's Gold Reserves

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The northern lights are seeing a "depression gold rush" which is piling up Alaska's production of the yellow metal to new heights.

Hundreds of prospectors revived placer and quartz mining, boosting production of gold for the year 1932 to $9,539,000.

The Nome nugget says gold pro-

The Nome Nugget says gold production in 1933 is expected to exceed last year by approximately a quarter of a million dollars. The Alaskan branch of the Geological Survey tentatively estimated gold production for 1932 would exceed the previous year by about $32,000. Small prospectors, rushing in where capitalists feared to spend, are believed to have much to do with it.

While production of every other mineral lagged, prospectors swarmed to work gold claims with the old-time pan and crude rockers as well as more modern dredges.

Placer mining was delayed for a time by heavy snowfall, but in the summer smelting snows sent a plentiful supply of water shooting down the flumes to help wash out the heavy gold sands.

The eological Survey for last year indicated active prospecting, and development of some properties to the point where "they may enter the list of producers shortly."

Railroads Granted $48,324,919 Loans

Credit Corporation Gets Applications From 57 Railway Lines.

(Associated Press.)

The Railroad Credit Corporation yesterday reported to the Interstate Commerce Commission that it has approved loans totaling $48,324,919 to railroads needing assistance in meeting their interest payments. The report showed that the corporation has outstanding $46,931,732 in loans and has on hand $182,900, subject to payment to borrowers.

Since the corporation was formed and began making loans out of pooled moneys derived from freight rate increases borrowers have repaid $1,210,287. The rate increases which became effective last January resulted in $52,201,092 of funds for the pool during the first ten months of 1932. The amount derived in October was $5,981,462.

E. G. Buckland, president of the corporation, writing to the chief executives of participating railroads, said:

"Fifty-seven railroads have applied for loans in the aggregate sum of $105,990,446, of which $55,364,408 was removed from the docket as being receivable from other sources or denied and $48,324,919 has been approved. Pending applications total $2,301,119."

CURB PRICES HIGHER IN QUIETER TRADING

General List Closes Firm; Sales Volume Is Cut to 90,000 Shares.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Dullness was the outstanding characteristic of the curb market in the first session of the new year. Transactions totaled 90,000 shares, compared with 200,000 on Friday, and the smallest since October 31.

With the turnover so light, many stocks had decidedly thin markets, accounting for some rather wide price swings. The general list was firm, with small gains predominating at the close.

Utility leaders moved within small limits, but some of the inactives recorded sharp gains. Advances of 1 to 3 points were scored by Edison Electric Illuminating, Florida Power preferred and Georgia Power preferred. Electric Bond & Share senior issues dropped from 2 to 3 points, while American Gas & Electric gave up a point.

Industrials and specialties showed diverse trends, Great Atlantic & Pacific dropping about 3, while Neisner Bros. preferred and Midvale Co. rose 2 and 6 points, respectively. The last-named company is controlled by Baldwin Locomotive Works and the stock makes infrequent appearances on the tape.

Newmont was a firm feature of the mining group, improving a major fraction. Oils were irregular and dull.

Reynolds Predicts Saner Prosperity

Chicago Banker Declares America Will Be More Careful in Spending.

Chicago, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—George M. Reynolds predicted today the return of America to "a better and more sane prosperity," with the aid of a more economical Government and a readjusted business world. The veteran of more than 50 years in banking who retired last week as chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., said there would be "more joy and less riotous spending in the new prosperity."

"I am not so sure but that we shall be better off as a result of getting on a lower plane of living and expense," Mr. Reynolds said. "The last three years have been a little discouraging. All have been hard hit. The army of unemployed has resulted as the most serious problem.

"But I am an optimist. The ingenuity of American business is going to reestablish the country."

The 68-year-old banker said he would leave soon to spend the winter in California.

Freight Loadings Drop To Lowest in History

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Loadings of revenue freight on the railways of the country in 1932 are estimated at 28,100,000 cars, the lowest for any year since the tabulation of such reports, started in 1918, according to R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway Association.

This is a reduction of 9,053,100 cars, or 24.4 per cent from the total for 1931. Preliminary reports show that class 1 railroads had aggregate net operating income in 1932 of $324,000,000, or a return of 1.21 per cent on property investment, compared with net operating income of $531,000,000, or a return of 1.98 per cent in 1931.

WHEAT GAINS YIELD UNDER PROFIT SALES

Early Rally Loses Victory in Later Trading; Corn Closes Higher.

Chicago, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Advances in grain values today distinguished the first business dealings in 1933, but the shine wore off at the last under sales to realize profits.

Helping to make wheat prices average higher was a substantial decrease of the United States wheat visible supply today. Another stimulus was authoritative word that 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels of United States Government-financed wheat future deliveries would not be pressed for sale, despite the fact that an agreement to hold the line of the market had expired January 1.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜ cent off; corn, unchanged to ⅛ to ¼ higher; oats, ⅛ down, and provisions 2 to 5 cents up.

Strength at Liverpool.

Decided strength shown by the Liverpool wheat market did much to give an early upward impulse to all grains in Chicago. Cables said world shipments of wheat were too small, and had decreased 1,500,000 bushels, compared with a week ago, with less directed toward Europe. Furthermore, Argentine reports were at hand that yields of wheat in Buenos Aires and South Cordoba provinces appeared disappointing, and that farmers in some sections were not harvesting, as prices would not cover costs.

Prospects of near-zero temperatures in domestic winter wheat territory without snow protection were also an incentive to buyers. Meanwhile, drought conditions Southwest and West remained unabated, with irreparable damage already evident, and railroad reports suggesting likelihood that 33 per cent of Kansas wheat acreage would be abandoned. A fact especially noticed was that Liverpool wheat quotations today closed 3⅝ cents a bushel over Chicago, the largest premium in more than two months.

Corn and oats largely duplicated the action of wheat. Rural offerings of corn were somewhat larger.

POTOMAC ELECTRIC TO BEGIN NEW PLANT

Building Permit Sought for Power Station at First and Water Streets.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Officials of Potomac Electric Power Co. applied at the office of District Building Inspector Oehmann yesterday for a permit to begin that company's large construction project in the Southwest section of the city. Yesterday's application is for permission to erect an electric power station at First, V and Water streets southwest, the estimated cost of which is $731,000. Foundation work has been in progress for some time.

The building, of steel and concrete, will be 85 feet high and its cubical content will be 2,950,000 feet. Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation of Boston, Mass., are listed as the builders. Provision has been made for the future extension of this structure which will be started on the south of property assembled for the company in squares 665 and 667.

Beginning approximately 59 feet west of First street, the power plant, with depths ranging from 124 to 141 feet, will extend east 265 feet to points 62 and 44 feet over Water street. Two electric elevators will be provided for the structure.

Firemen's Insurance Meets.

Directors of Firemen's Insurance Co. of Washington and Georgetown held their meeting of organization yesterday and reelected all of the company's officers. They are William M. Hoffman, president; Albert W. Howard, vice president and secretary; Edward C. Baltz, vice president; James N. Fitzpatrick, jr., assistant secretary.

At their annual meeting Monday the stockholders reelected all directors as follows: Edward C. Baltz, Millard T. Dixon, Leroy Gaddis, jr., Parke A. Galleher, William A. Hettinger, William M. Hoffman, J. Logan Hopkins, Albert W. Howard, Charles H. Kindle, John H. Snyder, Schuyler S. Symons, Albert W. Walker, James M. Woodward.

This company is one of the oldest in Washington, its charter being dated 1837. President Hoffman of the company completed 40 years of service with it last June, having entered its employ on June 12, 1892.

Insurance Men Guests.

Members of the local agency of the National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont met at the Hamilton Hotel yesterday for luncheon as guests of General Agent Karl S. Hoffman, chartered life underwriter.

After the luncheon, Mr. Hoffman spoke of the splendid progress of the agency during the past year and anticipated even better results for the coming year. Mention was made of the fact that the business of the agency in 1932 greatly surpassed the business in 1931 and that the monthly improvement in the business culminated with the largest volume of paid for business in December that the agency has had for several years.

Vernon E. Brown, jr., was the largest producer for the month of December and Joseph F. P. Newhall was the largest producer for the year of 1932. C. T. Day had the best attendance record. Every one is now working hard to qualify for the company convention in Chicago early in September at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Those present at the luncheon as guests of General Agent and Mrs. Hoffman were W. John Basehore, Philip Blake, Robert Brown, Vernon E. Brown, jr., Edna M. Clyburn, Clifford T. Day, Carl S. Engel, Arthur W. Greer, William Harmon, J. Leo Kolb, jr., Eva V. Lunsford, William H. P. McKinley, Joseph F. P. Newhall, Georgia K. Walker and Elnora V. Zimmerman.

DIVIDEND IS VOTED BY TITLE INSURANCE

Adams Express Net Income Is $565,012; Some Stock Retired.

The Maryland Home Title Insurance Co. of Upper Marlboro, Md., has declared its regular annual dividend of 6 per cent.

The regular annual dividend of 6 per cent has been declared by the Upper Marlboro (Md.) Real Estate Co.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The Adams Express Co., an investment trust, today reported 1932 net income of $565,012. After payment of preferred dividends $233,327 was carried to surplus from income.

Among additions to the trust's portfolio in 1932 were 2,500 shares of Santa Fe stock, 1,000 shares of Dupont, 1,800 American Locomotive preferred, 1,000 Drug, Inc.; 2,200 Sterling Securities preferred, and lesser amounts of American Sugar Refining, International Business Machine, Texas Gulf Sulphur and General Foods.

The company reported total assets of $64,728,448, including investments at cost of $64,347,939. Excess of cost of investments over market value was $47,417,864. The preferred stock had an asset value of $103.37 and the common stock an asset value of 13 cents a share.

Hop Prices Quiet.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Hops, quiet; Pacific Coast, 1932, prime to choice, 34@35; medium to prime, 32+34; 1931, prime to choice, 30@32; medium to prime, 28@30.

Crude Oil Averages.

Oil City, Pa., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Credit balance, $1.67; runs, 51,586; average runs, 25,793; shipments, 61,929; average shipments, 20,643.

Most Foreign Exchanges Firmest in Many Years

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Most foreign exchanges were steady to firm today, thereby, for the first time in several years, reversing their usual movements on the beginning of January trading.

The British pound sterling rallied ⅞ of a cent to $3.33¾ for cables, and smaller gains were shown by the Scandinavians, Canadian dollars, Italian lire, Japanese yen and Shanghai taels. The European gold currencies were quiet, but managed to hold to their previous levels. Mexican pesos sagged fractionally. German marks were easier at one time, but recovered later.

COTTON PRICES CUT, EXCEPTING JANUARY

March Closes at 5.99, as General Market Drops 1 to 4 Points.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—Cotton showed little change today, fluctuating narrowly in response to small orders either way. Demand from trade sources was sufficient to absorb limited offerings and give the market a steady undertone. March contracts, which had sold up from 5.97 to 6.06, closed at 5.99 with the general market closing barely steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points, except January which was nominally 2 points higher.

The opening was 1 point higher to 3 points lower reflecting relatively higher Liverpool cables and foreign trade demand in the late positions.

Southern selling was a little more in evidence in the early trading and this pressure combined with selling by brokers who are usually credited with acting for the cooperatives may have brought in a little local selling.

Causes of Selling.

A return of rather more favorable weather over the cotton belt as well as an accumulation of hedging over the three-day recess helped to account for the greater part of the selling, but it was promptly absorbed by trade interests.

Afternoon advances extended to net gains of about 5 to 6 points in the more active positions, but reactions of about 7 to 9 points from the best occurred in the late trading when hedge pressure again increased.

Reports that the farm relief bill was due for early introduction in the House caused traders to adopt a waiting attitude pending more definite information on the progress of this legislation.

The New York Cotton Exchange service estimated world's consumption of all kinds at 2,027,000 bales, as against the revised October figure of 2,065,000 and 1,981,000 in November, 1931.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling on a steady Egyptian market and fair sales of Russian cotton, while Manchester reported cloth inquiry from India. Exports today, 53,705, making 4,264,985 so far this season. Port receipts, 17,355. U. S. Port stocks, 4,759,636.

CURBING OF IMPORTS RENEWED BY FRANCE

U. S. Exporters Find Few Changes in Quotas of Last Year.

Paris, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The ministry of commerce today renewed practically all imports restrictions instituted more than a year ago, but apparently no new quotas were introduced.

The United States exporters find the quota on paper products about the same as in the last three months of 1932. There are no changes on radio sets and equipment, including tubes.

The patent leather quota for the first three months of 1933 is exhausted. No quota is provided for steel sheets, automobile bodies, forks and hooks. Regulations concerning imports of machine tools are unchanged for the most part, except for certain special types.

The allocations for the United States in the total quota on apples and pears for the first three months has not been determined, but the total for all countries from which those fruits are imported has been reduced from 31,000 tons to 16,400 tons.

Visible Supply of Grain.

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: Wheat decreased 2,081,000; corn increased 726,000; oats increased 35,000; rye increased 36,000; barley increased 49,000.

Raw sugar was unchanged today, but the tone was steady. It was thought that refiners were willing to pay last prices, or 2.75, for sugars in nearby positions, but these were generally held at from 2.77 to 2.80 and no sales were reported.

Although quiet, futures were steady, influenced by the firm tone of the spot market, with final prices 1 to 2 points net higher. The opening was 1 to 2 points higher on covering and a little buying by houses with Cuban connections with offerings comparatively light.

After reacting about a point from the initial upturn, prices firmed up on continued support by leading Cuban interests, with finals at the best of the session. Sales were 6,600 tons. January closed .68, March .73, May .78, July .82, September .87 and December .91.

Bank in Illinois Closes; Governor Is President

Mount Vernon, Ill., Jan. 3 (A.P.).—The Third National Bank of Mount Vernon, of which Gov. Louis L. Emmerson was president, was closed today by the board of directors. It was the only bank in the city.

Cashier E. A. Vonarb said the action was taken to protect depositors after a heavy run Saturday as a result of the closing of the Ridgely-Farmers State Bank of Springfield, of which Gov. Emmerson was a director. The cashier said the bank had more than $250,000 in cash on hand, but that the directors, to protect depositors, had decided not to stand any further withdrawals. The bank had deposits of $2,279,409.49 and resources of $2,781,000 at the close of business Saturday. It was capitalized at $150,000 and had a surplus of $145,000.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

IN a field of five runners at the Newmarket Houghton Meeting, four of the horses, Overreach, The Unexpected, Gamester and Lady Golightly, reached the finish line at the same moment.

• • • •

In the time of James Madison a gentleman's trousers were more than an article of clothing—they signified political sympathies, depending on whether they were long, as favored by the French revolutionists; or short, showing a royalist leaning.

Long pants were adopted in France in 1789 by the supporters of the revolution. Many Americans followed this custom to indicate their friendship for the revolution. Washington, the elder Adams and Jefferson wore knee breeches during their administrations.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELECTRIC MONEY.

SUGGESTIONS for "the new order" are becoming louder and funnier. A speaker at the American Association for the Advancement of Science proposes that our present money be scrapped and that we have a currency based on electrical energy. He would switch us from the gold to the kilowatt standard.

* * * *

Imagine getting your weekly salary in short circuits!

* * * *

And fancy coming home and telling the best friend and severest critic that your boss was so delighted with your work last month that he raised you eight kilowatts a week!

* * * *

"Buddy, could you spare me a couple of amperes until next Saturday?"

"What for?"

"I'm behind in my rent and the landlord says he'll have to have a little electricity on account or out I go."

* * * *

Substituting electricity for gold would do away with cash registers. The corner grocer would keep his receipts in a dry battery.

* * * *

And when a man wished to start a bank account he would go down to the power house and see the superintendent of generators.

* * * *

Any time you couldn't balance your account you would call in an electrician.

* * * *

There would be no gold, silver or copper money. Our money would consist of paper bills entitling us to so many kilowatt hours or something. Lincoln, Washington, Jefferson and all those birds would come right off the bills and in their places there would be the reassuring faces of Owen Young, Gerard Swope and the late Mr. Edison.

* * * *

We'd have to get used to reading that Octavius P. Hookworm, the noted philanthropist, had just died leaving 300,000 kilowatt hours to his son Luke and the residue to Yale, Cornell and a Follies girl.

* * * *

But it would be good fun getting an income tax blank and sending the Government 300 volts.

A scientist at the Atlantic City convention has found evidence that a comet collided with the United States thousands of years ago. Most of us are positive it happened much more recently than that.

GENIUS IN ROMPERS.

Precocious kids are very strange,
In fact they get upon our nerves.
We fail to feel for them the praise
Opinion says their wit deserves.
All infant mathematic sharks,
All long-haired children playing flutes,
All ten-year college graduates,
Or poets still in sailor suits—
In papers and upon the screen
Preserve us from the like of these.
There ought to be a law, say we,
Against all baby prodigies.

Idle Woman Loses By Equality Ruling

Is Deprived of Chance at Job by Law Designed to Benefit Sex.

One woman was deprived of a chance at a job yesterday because of the new civil service rule designed to give women equality with men. The anomaly arose because the new regulation removes from the employing agency the right to specify sex in filling a vacancy. When a request was received yesterday from Fort Omaha, Nebr., for a woman stenographer, the Civil Service Commission, unable to certify women only, selected the first five names from the register.

The list was headed by a man with veteran disability preference. It contained also, in order, two women, a man and a woman. Under the former practice, the woman who was No. 5 would have been No. 3 on the woman's register and could have been selected for the position, the employer still having the option to choose any one of the first three eligibles.

Under the new regulation, the fifth woman is removed from consideration unless others ahead of her decline, the fourth and fifth names being certified only for such a contingency. One of the women who stands second or third is expected to get the post. It pays $1,200.

Woman Believes Purse Stolen From Moving Car

In reporting the loss of her purse containing $90 and personal effects, Mrs. India Rule, 3320 Thirteenth street northwest, yesterday told police she was convinced it was stolen from her car while she was driving it. She said she placed the purse behind the seat in her coupe after making a purchase at a garage.

After driving a few blocks she said she heard the back curtain flapping, but thought nothing of it. When she stopped to make another purchase, the purse was gone and the curtain unbuttoned. She believes some one hid on the rear of the car and stealthily unbuttoned the curtain and removed the purse.

Two Men Are Arrested In Numbers Game Raid

Raiding an establishment at 3023 Fourteenth street northwest, police seized alleged numbers game equipment yesterday afternoon and arrested Ernest Sowers, 28, and Henry Strother, 26, colored, on charges of permitting gaming. When arrested, Sowers is said to have told police he had taken charge of the place about 15 minutes prior to the raid.

The raiding group was headed by Capt. N. O. Holmes, and included Policemen Guy Rone, J. Offenberg, C. D. Schamp and C. B. Blick.

NINE ESCAPE INJURY AS BLAST OF BOILER SHAKES THEIR HOME

Basement Is Wrecked and Explosion Is Felt for Entire Block.

Nine persons, including two small children, narrowly escaped injury or possible death last night when an exploding steam boiler rocked buildings in the 900 block of Massachusetts avenue northwest, and wrecked the downstairs interior of one dwelling.

A crippled father and four members of his family were trapped on the first floor of their home at 910 Massachusetts avenue, and when billows of steam filled the house after the basement explosion, screamed in terror, vainly attempting to summon aid.

Passersby in front of the house, stunned by the terrific concussion, fled to one end of the block fearing a recurrence of the explosion, and paid no attention to the cries of those trapped inside.

Tossed Across Room.

In a front room of their home sat Frank Pfeifer, 38; his wife, Mrs. Frances Pfeifer, and their two small children, Frank, jr., 6, and Dona, 4. Mr. Pfeifer, unable to walk because of a fractured ankle, had moved his family from their former home at 703 Mount Vernon place northwest, only a few hours before.

Suddenly a terrific blast shook the building. The room was plunged into darkness. Mr. Pfeifer, seated in a chair in the center of the room, was thrown to the floor, which in turn buckled and hurled him against the wall. His wife and children, sitting on the edge of a bed, were tossed across the room.

The youngsters screamed in terror. Mrs. Pfeifer attempted to reach her husband's side, but was forced to lie flat on the floor when the room became flooded with hot steam.

Crutches Blown Away.

Mr. Pfeifer's crutches were blown from beside his chair, and he was forced to lie helplessly huddled in a corner.

Meanwhile, other persons in the house—roomers who occupied upper floors—scrambled madly to escape. Through the thick steam Mrs. Pfeifer, after vainly calling for aid, succeeded in reaching the front door with her children. The door, however, had slammed shut, and a catch-lock held it fast, blocking their escape.

Upstairs two roomers E. C. Pickford and J. T. Donohough, rushed to windows in an effort to escape. By this time fire engines, summoned by Roy Frederick, 18, also a resident of the house, arrived and firemen assisted the residents to safety Hurled to Pavement.

Young Frederick was standing on the front porch when the explosion occurred. He was hurled to the pavement and with only a backward glance rushed to call the Fire Department.

A few minutes before the blast M. E. Fowler, another roomer, had been in the basement to look after the fire. He was on his way up the cellar stairs when the explosion knocked him from his feet. Miss Jean Simpson, a roomer, escaped through a rear door.

Windows throughout the house were smashed and the roar was heard blocks away. The concussion shook virtually every house in the block.

Lack of Water Blamed.

Firemen expressed the belief that lack of water in a steam boiler caused the explosion. The furnace was going full blast, and as the boiler exploded both were torn from their moorings. The basement was wrecked. One entire wall was torn out and an iron pipe ripped through a partition into the Pfeifer apartment.

Every person in the house moved in late yesterday from the Mount Vernon street address. Mrs. Grace Merry, of 1776 Massachusetts avenue northwest, landlady, told her roomers the furnace would be started before their arrival. Before the fire was started, however, the boiler apparently had not been filled with water.

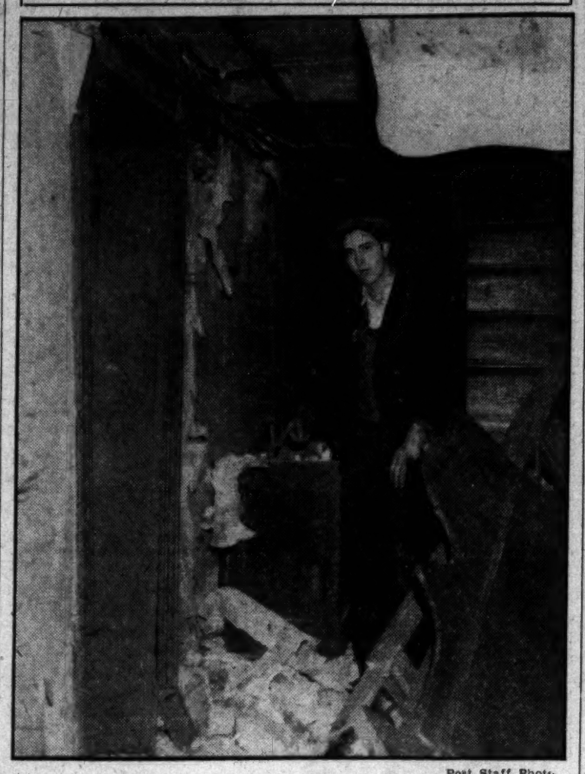

"I thought we would all be killed," Mr. Pfeifer said. "The floor of our front room buckled as though it was going to burst through."

A small fire which followed the explosion was quickly extinguished by firemen.

Man Bonded in Attack on Police.

Joseph A. Pessagno, 40, was held under a $200 bond for trial in Police Court next week on charges of assaulting two policemen, when he was arraigned yesterday in that court. Policemen C. R. Burr and Robert J. Tompkins claimed Pessagno struck them when they went to his home to quell a disturbance.

BODY OF WOMAN, 42, IS FOUND IN CHANNEL

Autopsy Set for Today, but Police Are Certain She Committed Suicide.

The continued search of harbor police for the body of a young woman who is believed to have stepped off the Washington Channel docks last Thursday in an attempt at suicide was abruptly interrupted yesterday by the recovery of a middle-aged woman's body.

The body was identified as that of Mrs. Pauline Howard, 42, of 205 C street northwest. Although an autopsy was planned by the District coroner today, police were certain it was a case of suicide.

Mrs. Howard was identified by her husband, Clarence T. Howard, 43, a lunch-room employe. Detective Sergt. W. S. Beck, of the homicide squad, was confident that no violence was involved. It was ascertained that Mrs. Howard, who had no children, had been a mental patient on several occasions at Gallinger Hospital. On December 1 she left home with the intention of taking her life, her husband said, but he did not report the occurrence until two days later.

Homicide squad detectives summoned the taxicab driver who reported the intention of a young woman fare to commit suicide last Thursday. This man said the drowned woman was not his passenger. Other information has been secured, the detectives said, to substantiate the fact that the young woman is still living.

Hardware Store Blaze Causes Loss of $5,000

A stubborn blaze, originating in the basement of a hardware store owned by Edward Cooper, at 1502 Fourteenth street northwest, was overcome last night after firemen, summoned by two alarms, had combated the flames for more than an hour. Damage was estimated by Mr. Cooper at $5,000, partly covered by insurance.

No cause could be ascertained for the fire last night. Smoke was first noticed emanating from a cellar window by an unidentified passerby, who turned in the alarm. The flames ate up through the flooring, damaging shelves and merchandise on the street floor.

Show Managers Forfeit Collateral.

Forfeitures amounting to $300 were recorded in Police Court yesterday when the managers of eleven theaters and the manager of the dance marathon failed to answer the call of their names for violating the Sunday closing laws. Each had put up $25 collateral when police notified them New Year's Eve midnight shows violated the law.

MARATHON DANCERS WALTZ TO NEW SITE

Quit Washington Auditorium After Temporary Court Restraining Order.

Justice Oscar R. Luhring in District Supreme Court yesterday signed a temporary restraining order stopping the holding of a dance marathon in Washington Auditorium. The order related only to the Auditorium, and managers of the marathon made plans to move to another address.

A $15,000 cash bond was posted by the complainants, the All States Hotel and some 34 of its tenants and stockholders, to cover any possible damages sustained by the dance corporation in the event the temporary order was set aside when a hearing to make it permanent is held.

Fifteen $1,000 bills were taken to the courthouse and posted with the clerk of the District Supreme Court, and shortly afterward Assistant Chief Deputy Marshal John J. Clarkson started for the Auditorium to serve the restraining order.

Later in the evening the dancers waltzed twelve blocks across town in a five-ton truck, given a change of venue to a room at No. 1 Thomas circle. A nine-piece band accompanied them in the truck.

At the Thomas circle address the six couples and three solo dancers, who are said to have been dancing for 961 hours, were removed to the second floor and the "revelry" continued under the surveillance of doctors, nurses, policemen and firemen. Although the scheduled evening broadcast continued, the performance was closed to the public, due to lack of gallery space. No further arrangements for public entertainment had been made last night.

Woman and Boy Hurt In Collision of Autos

Wesley Perkins, 16, of 506 B street northwest, received cuts about his face and a possible fracture of his right ear drum and Mrs. Catherine M. Simms, 32, of 1830 California street northwest, was slightly hurt yesterday afternoon when the cars of Clyde M. Simms, 36, husband of the woman, and Addison Smith, 18, of 1866 California street northwest, collided at Eighteenth and California streets northwest.

Perkins was riding in the Smith car. He was treated at Emergency Hospital.

Woman Burned Nov. 24 Succumbs to Injuries

Severely burned when her clothes caught fire on November 24 as she was fixing the furnace at her home, Mrs. Emma Burrows, 30, of 711 Tuckerman street northwest, died yesterday at Gallinger Hospital.

Seen to run from her home with her dress in flames by a neighbor, she was taken to Garfield Hospital and later removed to Gallinger.

MRS. NORTON SEES SPEEDY HOUSE VOTE ON TROLLEY MERGER

District Committee to Pave Way Today for Action, She Predicts.

The House District committee today will pave the way for speedy House approval of the District street railway merger bill, Chairman Mary T. Norton predicted last night.

Mrs. Norton will ask her committee to accept Senate amendments to the bill so the matter may be disposed of without the appointment of House and Senate conferees. If the bill is sent to conference, she believes it will cause unnecessary delay.

"I think it is a pretty good bill," she said last night. "I am anxious for two things primarily. First, I want the companies and the public to get the benefits that naurally come from consolidation.

Three-Cent School Fare.

"Second, I have contended right along for a 3-cent fare provision for school children, with adequate safeguards. The bill as amended will accomplish both, and I am for it."

Chairman Loring M. Black, jr., of the House District utilities subcommittee also forecast favorable action on the Senate amendments. He said he saw no reason why the House should oppose them, inasmuch as they represented a compromise agreeable alike to local civic interests and the street railway companies.

Revised in Senate.

The bill now pending before the House was extensively revised in the Senate after a threatened filibuster by Senator John J. Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, who sought to amend the measure, brought the promerger forces to terms.

At conferences of contending factions with the citizens' joint transportation committee provisions were agreed to giving the Public Utilities Commission 100 per cent control over street railway power, denying the new Capital Transit Co. the right to operate subsidiaries in the District or to make contracts for power in the District and guaranteeing continuance of the 3-cent school child street railway rate.

Found Dead From Gas, Man Identified by Son

Found dead from illuminating gas in an untenanted house at 820 Underwood street northwest Monday, a gray-haired man was identified yesterday as Henry F. Smith, 62, by his son.

He had been taken to the morgue and attendants there recognized him as a former resident of the Southwest section. They informed his son, Aubrey Smith, of 502 Rittenhouse street northwest, who identified the man. Smith had been living with his daughter at 230-A Q street northwest.

Two Cousins Overcome By Gas at Candy Store

Working beside each other on a candy machine at the Dixie Candy Co. at 1258 Water street southwest, two cousins were overcome yesterday by gas fumes escaping from a faulty pipe.

William Dungan, 32, and Elmer Dungan, 31, were discovered in an unconscious condition by fellow workers. They were revived by members of the fire rescue squad and taken to Emergency Hospital.

Policeman Is Cleared Of Blame in Killing

Policeman Homer L. Pearson, of the Eleventh Precinct, was absolved of blame in the shooting of Howard Simms, colored, 23, by a coroner's jury yesterday. Simms died New Year's Day several hours after confessing to the slaying of Mary Baker. Police proved his confession false.

Testifying before the jury, Pearson said he shot the man when he attacked him. Simms, he said, was choking him and he fired his gun only when he began to lose consciousness. Simms died at Casualty Hospital.

5 Fined on License Counts.

Judge Isaac R. Hitt, in Police Court, yesterday fined five persons $1 each after they had been arraigned before him on charges of not having 1933 licenses plates on their automobiles.

Each of the defendants claimed to have received the application for tags late.

Odd Robbery

Sick Benefit Agent Reports Bedridden Man Took $50 at Gun Point.

All kinds of robberies occur, and it is seldom that a bedridden man is the robber, but police received a report of such a robbery yesterday, and it proved a difficult case to handle.

Earl V. Kilber, of Wheaton, Md., an insurance man, reported that when he went to pay Robert Bushrod, colored, of 1010 Columbia road, a weekly sick benefit of $10, Bushrod robbed him. He said the man claimed $20 was due him, charging that he had not received payment for the previous week; then he suddenly pulled a revolver from under the pillow and said, "Hand over all you got." Kilber said he gave the man between $50 and $60.

When police went to arrest Bushrod, they found him bedridden. They also discovered that he could not be taken from his home without the permission of his physician. But the required permission was finally obtained, and the man was removed in an ambulance to Gallinger Hospital. But even that did not end it, for a police guard had to be assigned.

HOUSE COMMITTEE TODAY WILL ACT ON DISTRICT BEER BILL

Measure Probably Will Be Referred to Judiciary Unit for Hearings.

A District beer-for-revenue bill, introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Loring M. Black, jr., (Democrat), New York, will be called up before the House District committee at 10:30 o'clock this morning and probably will be referred to the judiciary subcommittee for study and hearings.

The local measure, drafted in conference with Rufus S. Lusk, of the Crusaders, would give the District 3.2 per cent beer, ale or porter by weight in the event national beer legislation is enacted. It provides a $2.50 tax on every 31-gallon barrel and a form of control. The Sheppard act would be repealed, except regulation of drinking in public.

Chairman Mary T. Norton, of the House District committee, said last night she will support the bill. Representative Vincent L. Palmisano (Democrat), Maryland, chairman of the subcommittee to which it probably will be referred, is an ardent wet, and Representative Black is a member of his subcommittee.

Two Kinds of Licenses.

The bill provides for two kinds of licenses—"on sale" licenses costing $25 which would permit sale for consumption at tables on the premises only, and "off sale" licenses costing $100 permitting sale in original packages for consumption off the premises only.

"On sale" licenses would be granted only to bona fide restaurants, clubs, eating places or hotels, which would be permitted to market the beverage only between 11 a. m. and 1 a. m. to persons 18 years old or over. No wholesale liquor dealer would be permitted to have any direct interest in places where beer is on sale.

"The simple regulations provided in this draft are not our idea of the liquor control act that will be needed for this city when the eighteenth amendment is repealed," Lusk said in a letter to Representative Black.

"We are working on such a law and it will be ready for presentation to Congress when the extra session meets in the spring. It should be understood that any liquor control plan which we shall present will provide for the regulation and control of the sale of beer as well as all other liquors."

Progress Toward Repeal.

Lusk said the progress toward repeal of the eighteenth amendment is now in its second phase. The first, he said, was the arousing of public opinion. The second task, he said, is to translate this into legislative action, and the third, the setting up of liquor-control plans that will fit the needs of the people.

"We fully realize many of the provisions of this bill will be the subject of considerable difference of opinion," he wrote Black. "The amount of tax, the method of its imposition, license fees, &c., are matters concerning which we do not wish to be understood as setting down any hard and fast rules, but we will urge with whatever influence we may possess, the adoption of all provisions of this bill, or any others which may be suggested, that have for their purpose the prevention of the return of the saloon or the saloon system."

Representative John J. O'Connor (Democrat), of New York, original exponent of beer for the District, announced he will support the Black measure.

Loffler's $400,000 Estate to Family

Two Children and Widow Named Executors in Merchant's Will.

Mrs. Elsa Loffler, widow of Andrew D. Loffler, retired merchant who died December 21, is named as the sole beneficiary of his $400,000 estate, it was disclosed yesterday when his will was filed for probate in District Supreme Court.

Mr. Loffler's will said he did not make bequests to his children, Helene L. Baur and Andrew D. Loffler, jr., because he was satisfied that his wife would conserve the estate for their benefit. The children and Mrs. Loffler were named executors and Attorney L. A. Speiss handled the petition.

Real estate assessed at $335,000 and personal property valued at $75,000 were left by Mr. Loffler.

Miss Elsa Hottenger, an American singer whose contract was broken by France in order to make place for unemployed French artists, has been invited by Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, to sing at the board meeting of the federation January 12.

Commenting upon France's effort to protect employment of its artists, Mrs. Poole said: "France did just the right thing. She has set us an excellent example which I hope our managers will heed."

Mrs. Poole's opinion was approved by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, president of the District Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Albert N. Bagga, chairman of the American home committee.

SENATE PASSES BILL TO CURB BONDSMEN

District Measure Is Sent to House; Has Approval of Commissioners.

The King bill for regulating the business of executing bonds in criminal cases in the District, reported out of the Senate District committee at the last session of Congress, was passed yesterday by the Senate and sent to the House.

The measure is designed to give the local courts power to weed out undesirable persons practicing as bondsmen. It would punish unethical collusion between bondsmen, attorneys and the police.

"Under existing conditions, bondsmen conduct their business with virtually no restraint by the courts and are responsible for their conduct to no responsible public official," Senator William King (Democrat), Utah, charged in his report to the Senate.

"Abuses of the latitude enjoyed by bondsmen have led to public recognition of the need for regulation."

The measure, which has the support of the Commissioners, would make it unlawful for any bondsman to give anything of value to an attorney or to a policeman, and unlawful for any attorney to give anything of value to a bondsman or to a policeman. It would require every police precinct to post a complete list of all persons engaged in the bonding business, for use of persons detained. Bondsmen could not visit police precincts unless called by someone under arrest.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS CITIZENS REFUSE TO CENSOR REALTY MEN

Decide to Await Outcome of Rent Inquiry After Talk by Brinkman.

Attacks on Washington real estate men mingled with strong defense at a meeting of the Columbia Heights Citizens Association last night after Oscar L. Brinkman, special investigator for the subcommittee on rent investigation of the Senate District committee, told the association that 40,000 families were evicted in the city last year and that there is a combination maintaining high rents that "must be broken up."

When Mr. Brinkman had completed his talk a resolution was offered commending his work and that of Senators Capper, King and Copeland. This action precipitated a heated debate, in which several members asserted that no reflection should be cast on the real estate men of Washington before the situation had been thoroughly investigated.

Committee Thanked.

After discussion lasting an hour, the association adopted a resolution thanking the committee for its interest in the District, but eliminated any reference to the rent situation.

Those who defended the real estate men included Charles T. Clayton, chairman of the legislative committee of the association; E. H. Russell and Charles J. Rush, executive secretary of the Washington Real Estate Board, who made no comment until he was called upon to speak.

Mr. Rush told the association that he appreciated the fairness with which they had discussed the investigation and announced a mass meeting to be held Friday at the United States Chamber of Commerce at which Senators Capper and Copeland will speak.

Ballou's Action Upheld.

The association adopted a resolution upholding action of Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, in refusing to grant Columbus University use of McKinley High School gymnasium for a boxing tournament. The resolution was introduced by Miss Lucy Swanton, chairman of the education committee.

Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the association, refused to attend a conference on "The Cause and Cure of War," after Mrs. W. I. Swanton suggested that she attend. Mrs. Worrell was upheld by a majority vote from the association.
